Explanations.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last ten years. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as percentage, saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The number of rainy days are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past 10 years. Each station in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Friday, the 24th of February 1888.

CALCUTTA, the 28th February 1888.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 24TH OF FEBRUARY 1888.

THE meteorological conditions which obtained over Bengal at the close of the previous week were those which mark the transition from the cold weather period to the commencement of the hot season. These conditions have also held good throughout the present week. The winds blowing at the southern stations have been very variable in direction, southerly winds prevailing on some days and on others being driven back by a northerly or north-westerly current. Westerly winds have prevailed generally at the inland stations, and in Behar these winds have decidedly increased in force. The variations in temperature have been considerable, there being great difference between the temperatures of the day and night, and on the whole there has been a steady rise of temperature during the week, and the mean temperatures of the last days were decidedly higher than those at the commencement of the week. The changes of humidity have also been remarkable, and from the 18th to the 19th in particular a very rapid decrease in humidity took place, the decrease at Saugor Island equalling no less than 53 per cent., while at Calcutta the decrease was 45 per cent. On the whole, the humidity for the week has been moderately low. For the greater part of the week the movements of the barometer have been small, though pressure has steadily risen for about five days, but on the 19th and 24th pressure increased somewhat rapidly. Over the greater part of the province therefore the meteorological conditions for the week call for no remark, beyond that fine clear weather, with increasing temperature, rather low humidity, and no rain, has generally prevailed; but, on the other hand, for the first day or two in the week conditions were slightly unsettled in East Bengal, and light rain was received, particularly in the Chittagong district.

Pressure.—The mean pressure recorded in the province for the week, taking into consideration only those stations from which observations have been received for a series of years, and which therefore yield reliable averages, has been slightly above the normal at about one-third of the stations and slightly below it at the remainder. For the whole province pressure has been in defect by 0·005 inch.

Temperature.—The mean temperature of the whole province for the week has been in excess of the normal by one degree, but the excess has been largest in Orissa, Chutia Nagpur, and South Behar. The distribution of temperature and its variation from the normal are best seen from the figures given in the following table, where the average maximum, minimum, and mean temperatures at nine typical stations in different districts of the province are compared with the normal values for the period.

Rainfall.—Except for showers in East Bengal on the 18th and 19th, the whole province has been rainless throughout the week. The rainfall in East Bengal has been mainly confined to the Chittagong district, which has received an average fall of 0·51 inch, and to the Chittagong Hill Tracts which has received an average amount of 0·64 inch.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 24th of February 1888:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Age," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans above alluded to cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorized forms of age classification.

COLMAN MACAULAY,

NOTIFICATION.

The 2nd March 1888.—It is hereby notified for general information that, in exercise of the power vested in the Local Government by section 351 of Act III (B.C.) of 1884, and on the recommendation of the Commissioners of the South Dum-Dum Municipality, made at a meeting, the Lieutenant-Governor confirms the bye-laws set forth below, which have been framed by the Commissioners of the said Municipality under section 350 of the said Act.

COLMAN MACAULAY,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

1. The ordinary meetings prescribed by section 38 of the Act shall be held on a fixed day of each month to be previously decided upon.

2. A notice of the business to be brought forward at every meeting shall be circulated, by hand or post, to each Commissioner, and shall be hung up at the office of the Commissioners not less than three days before the date of the meeting.

3. Any Commissioner desirous of submitting any motion to the meeting must forward a copy of such motion to the Chairman not less than seven days before the date of such meeting for incorporation in the notice of business. A notice-book shall be kept in the office of the Commissioners in which all notices of motions shall be entered. All such notices shall be dated and numbered as received.

4. At ordinary meetings the business shall be transacted in the following order, unless the President, with the consent of the majority of the members present, determine otherwise:—

(a). The minutes of the last ordinary meeting, and of any special meeting since held, shall be laid before the meeting and confirmed if approved as correctly entered.

(b). Any business postponed from the last ordinary meeting.

(c). The business contained in the notice of the meeting prescribed by rule 2 above in the order in which it appears in the notice paper, unless the President, with the consent of the majority of the members present, determine otherwise.

(d). Additional business brought forward by the President with the consent of the majority of the members present, provided that any decision recorded or resolution adopted in regard to such business shall be subject to confirmation at the next ordinary meeting or at a special meeting.

5. At an adjourned meeting no business, save that which the original meeting left unfinished, shall be transacted, except as provided in rule 7 below.

6. At a special meeting no business, save that for which the meeting was called, shall be transacted, except as provided in the following rule.

7. Provided, however, that any additional business may be brought forward at an adjourned or special meeting subject to the conditions of rule 4 (d) above, and also subject (in the case of an adjourned meeting) to the full quorum required by section 42 of the Act being present.

8. Every motion or amendment shall be reduced to writing and seconded before being put to the meeting or debated. The mover of any motion or amendment may withdraw the same at any period of the debate.

9. Every amendment shall be so worded as to form an intelligible sentence, either alone or in its proper place, in an original motion, as the case may be; provided that no amendment can merely negative the original motion.

10. The President may, for the reasons to be entered in the Minutes of the Proceedings—

(a) rule that a motion or amendment is illegal or out of order; and

(b) make such alterations in a motion or amendment as shall, in his opinion, render it legal and in order: and may in case (a) refuse to put the motion or amendment to the meeting, and in case (b) refuse to put the motion or amendment to the meeting unless and until the proposer and seconder accept the alterations so made: and the decision of the Chairman shall be final. Provided that any three Commissioners may ask the decision of the Magistrate of the district on any ruling of the President under this rule, and it will then be open to the Magistrate if he thinks fit to set aside such ruling for reasons to be recorded by him.

11. In discussing questions coming before the meeting, a Commissioner shall speak from his place and address the President. A Commissioner shall not be allowed to read his speech, but he may refresh his memory by referring to notes, and he may read, as part of his speech, passages from books or papers cited in support of his argument. No Commissioner shall be heard except upon business then regularly before the meeting, or by permission of the President specially obtained in explanation of what he had said in a previous debate. No Commissioner, other than the mover, shall speak more than once upon a question except by way of interpellation or by permission of the President, but the mover shall be allowed, if he have spoken to the question when making his motion, to close the debate with a reply. A Commissioner who has spoken upon a motion may speak once again upon any amendment thereof afterwards moved: and a Commissioner may explain by permission of the President what he has before spoken if it has been misunderstood. No Commissioner in debate shall name another Commissioner.

12. Votes shall be taken either by show of hands, or by poll, or by both. The votes of the Commissioners at a poll shall be taken by the President. Any three Commissioners present may demand a poll. When the show of hands has been taken, the President shall declare whether the resolution has been carried or not, and every matter shall be held to be decided and concluded on such declaration being made unless a poll be at once demanded.

13. Voting by proxy is prohibited, and no member may vote upon any motion or amendment unless he be present in person at the time when it is put to the vote.

14. When an amendment upon any motion is moved, or when two or more such amendments are moved, the President, when taking the sense of the meeting thereon, shall read the terms of the original motion and of the amendment or amendments proposed. If there be but one amendment proposed, the question shall be put as proposed to be amended; if the amendment be carried in the affirmative, the original motion falls; but if the amendment be negatived, the original question shall be put to the meeting. If more than one amendment be proposed, the President shall put that amendment first which he thinks may most conveniently be first disposed of: and so, if necessary, of all the others. If any motion, as made, involves several points, the President at his discretion may divide it, so that each point may be determined separately.

15. When any Commissioner shall have occasion to ask a question of another Commissioner relating to the business of the meeting, he shall ask the question through the President.

16. Subject to the foregoing rules, the President shall regulate the course of all business brought before any meeting of the Commissioners. He shall preserve order, and all points of order shall be decided by him. No discussion on any point of order shall be allowed, unless the President shall think fit to take the opinion of the Commissioners thereon. Any Commissioner may at any time submit a point of order for the decision of the President.

17. No subject once finally disposed of can be reconsidered within four months, except on a requisition signed by not less than two-thirds of the Commissioners.

18. For the purpose of taking into consideration any particular business, a meeting may resolve itself into a Committee of the whole of the Commissioners present; when this has been determined, the rule prohibiting any person from speaking more than once on the same question shall be deemed suspended until the meeting resumes.

19. The Commissioners in meeting may from time to time appoint such and so many Committees, either of a general or special nature, and consisting of such Commissioners as they think fit, for any purposes which, in the opinion of the meeting, can be conveniently regulated and managed by such Committees; but the business transacted by any such Committee shall be subject to the approval of the Commissioners in meeting.

20. The members of no such Committee shall hold office for more than one year, but they shall be eligible for re-appointment.

21. Any member of a Committee who, without the previous permission of the Chairman of the Commissioners, shall fail to attend three consecutive meetings of such Committee, shall thereby cease to be a member thereof, and the Committee shall apply to the Commissioners to appoint another member in his place.

22. A Committee may meet and adjourn as it thinks proper. The quorum shall consist of not less than three of its members. The President shall be the Chairman of the Commissioners, or, in his absence, the Vice-Chairman, or, in their absence, any member present elected by the meeting. The rule prohibiting any person from speaking more than once on the same question shall not apply to meetings of a Committee.

23. Except as otherwise provided by the preceding two rules, the provisions of the law and of these rules, so far as they relate to the conduct of business at meetings of the Commissioners, shall apply generally to Committee meetings.

CALCUTTA AND SUBURBAN MUNICIPALITIES AMALGAMATION BILL.

THE HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON moved that the clauses of Chapter II, Part I, of the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the municipal affairs of the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta be further considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DAS BANERJEE moved that in line 3 of section 19, after the words "year 1888-89" the words "on some day, being a public holiday" be inserted. He said:—The object of this amendment is shortly this. The Bill requires that votes at all elections shall be given personally at the polling stations. That being so, unless the elections are held on a public holiday, it will place at a disadvantage a certain large and important class of voters—I mean the educated middle classes, whose occupation is for the most part service. Voters of this class always exercise their privilege of voting with honest independence and discrimination, and they contribute in no small measure to raising the tone of the elections and to the success of the elective system. It is but right, therefore, that their case should deserve some consideration, and the difficulty would be sufficiently met by holding the elections on some public holiday. There are no less than three public holidays about the time that these elections would be held, viz., New Year's Day, Sri Panchami, and Dole Jatra, and any one of these might be selected; or a special holiday might be given for the purpose.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said:—I see no objection in substance to the motion before the Council, but I should like to know the effect of giving a special holiday. Would that necessarily mean that the Public Treasury and Banks would be closed, or merely public offices? If it is not intended to be a public holiday under the Negotiable Instruments Act, I have no objection.

The HON. MR. MACAULAY said:—The hon. member forgets that, when the elections under the Bengal Municipalities Act were held, all public offices and courts under the control of the Local Government were closed by executive order. No public holiday was, however, declared under the Negotiable Instruments Act, as the effect would have been to stop the currency of bills of exchange.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DAS BANERJEE said:—I have no objection to withdraw the amendment, as I understand that a public holiday in its more limited sense will be granted as far as the Local Government is concerned.

The motion was accordingly by leave withdrawn.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DAS BANERJEE moved that from the first paragraph of section 19 the portion beginning with the words "until such election shall take effect" to the end of the paragraph be omitted. He said:—The object I had in view when I gave notice of this amendment was to make this section of the Bill consistent with the other provisions of the Bill in the event of the first amendment, of which I gave notice, viz., that no portion of the Suburbs be amalgamated with the Town, being carried. From that point of view this amendment has no object now: but it serves another purpose, and that is this. If this portion of section 19 is left out, some other provision would have to be made for the carrying on of the work of the Corporation between the time of the passing of this Bill into law and the time when the first elections pursuant to its provisions take place. As the provision stands, it authorises the Commissioners, who are in office at the date of the passing of this Bill into law, to continue in office and to carry on municipal work until the new elections take effect. But there are inconveniences in this, one of which I shall notice. Certain portions of the Suburbs will be amalgamated with the Town. These portions have their elected Commissioners, some of whom may reside within the limits of the new Town, others may not. The section says that "this Act shall be read as if the Commissioners elected for those parts of the Suburbs of Calcutta which correspond with Wards 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24 and 25, as defined in this Act, and the Commissioners for the Suburbs of Calcutta nominated by Government and resident in Calcutta, were duly appointed and elected under this Act." So that some of the Commissioners for the Suburbs would be in office, while others would not be in office by reason of not being resident within the limits of the new Town. That is an inconvenience which would be avoided by omitting this portion of the section.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison said:—The amendment of the hon. member is one which raises a point of considerable importance, and one which deserves the best consideration of the Council, because it will closely affect the working of the new Corporation in its initial stage. When section 19 was originally drafted, the hope was entertained that the Act might come into force from the beginning of the next year; and it was deliberately intended that the old Commissioners should work for nearly a year before the new elections took place in order that the difficulties of adjusting the new arrangements might fall into experienced hands, and it was with that object the last portion of this section was framed. But in the meantime the date of the Act coming into force has been thrown back a whole year. This provision of the Bill assumes that the Act would be in force considerably before 31st March. Therefore the question is, do the Council wish to have the new Corporation elected before the Act comes into force, or the Act to come into force first and to be worked for some time by the old body of Commissioners? There are some inconveniences in both proposals: but I think the inconveniences of working with the old body predominate. I do not anticipate any great difficulty from the number of the Commissioners, but there may be considerable difficulty in working Committees, especially the Town Council This body now consists of 30 Commissioners, being one Commissioner for each ward and a due proportion of nominated Commissioners. The Commissioners who might be then members of the Town Council would naturally wish to remain in it, and it would be difficult to reduce it below that number Then again representation must be given to the Suburban Commissioners, and it would be difficult to resist the pressure of individual members to have a Town Council of something like 40 Commissioners, and that would be a very formidable Committee indeed; so that probably there would be some inconvenience in working the Corporation with the joint bodies. The inconvenience arising from the other procedure is, I think, on the whole not so serious. It is mainly this, that we should have to conduct the elections from the Town without having that control over all the registers and statistics which a certain period of working would give us I have very little doubt that the Suburban Commissioners will give us sufficient assistance as far as the owners and occupiers are concerned who are qualified to vote, and with regard to those who hold licenses we ourselves have the requisite information. But there is one class of electors who will not be able to vote at the first elections in that case, viz, those who pay Rs. 24 in the year, for the reason that the voters who will be able to obtain that qualification are chiefly the lower grades of the trades and professions tax payers who will not be in existence in the Suburbs; and therefore a certain appreciable number of residents in the Suburbs, who would have got a vote if the Act had been in force for a year, will not be able to vote at the first elections, and consequently it may be made a matter of complaint that the constituency which elects the first body of Suburban Commissioners will be somewhat smaller than if the Act had been in force for a year. It is just possible that not having the same familiarity with the Suburban as with the Town wards our machinery will not work as smoothly as regards the Suburban elections as I hope it will with regard to the Town. I beg the Council to consider which of these two alternatives they prefer. If they prefer that the Commissioners should be elected before the new Act is worked, then they should adopt the amendment. In that case nothing more will be needed than in the first section of the Bill to enact that sections 7—34 of the Bill are for the purposes of the election to come into force on a date either to be fixed in the Act or on a date to be fixed by the Local Government, and that the rest of the Act shall come into operation on some other date specified. There will be no difficulty if the Council will declare whether they prefer that the Act should be worked by the joint body as was intended when the Bill was framed, or whether they prefer that the elections shall take place before the Act comes into force. That is the point which the Council has to decide in making up its mind on this amendment.

His Honour the President said:—My own idea would be that for the convenience of working it will be better to fix by law, or to allow the Local Government to fix by notification, that from the beginning of the official year next following this the new Municipal Act is to come into force, and to go through the first elections within three months previously to that time. That would be in January or February next. I think the difficulty which the hon. mover of the amendment has pointed out is a real one, and I know not what further difficulties might crop up if the Act is to come into force now, but to be worked by the Town Corporation jointly with the Commissioners of the portions of the Suburbs which will be amalgamated, and with two separate establishments. This is merely my own idea, and I do not do more than ask the Council to consider it. The question is which of the two proposals the Council prefers. I shall be glad to accept whichever procedure is preferred.

The Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter said:—As far as my experience goes, I think it will be better to accept the suggestion of His Honour the President. It would be a better course than to have the affairs of the Municipality carried out by two separate bodies with separate establishments. It would be better for the Act to come into operation on a certain day, and to have the elections three months earlier. There would then be no difficulty in working the Act when it comes into force.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay said:—I do not think we can allow section 19 to remain only with the first clause without any reference to the nominations as well as to the elections. The second clause refers to those elected and appointed. This, however, can be settled when we come to deal with section 1 of the Act

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison pointed out that the word "election" throughout the Act included the appointment of both elected and nominated Commissioners.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison moved that for the second paragraph of section 19 the following be substituted:—

"All subsequent general elections shall be held at intervals of three years, and shall take effect from the 1st April in the calendar year in which they are so held."

He said:—The object of the amendment is simply to put in the words "general elections" for "elections." As was pointed out by the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, the word "elections" might include "bye-elections." By putting in the words "calendar year," the 1st of April must be held to mean 1st of April 11 months before the general elections (?)

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The Hon Mr. Irving moved that in the proviso of section 19, for the word "fifty" the words "two hundred" be substituted. He said:—For the offence of personation, I think a heavier penalty than Rs. 50 ought to be imposed, and therefore I move that the maximum limit of penalty under the Rules be fixed at Rs. 200. In England the offence of personation is made a misdemeanour. It is true that, when the breach of any rule constitutes a serious offence, the offence might be dealt with under the Penal Code; but I think it is desirable to make an Act complete in itself, especially such an Act as this.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison said:—I have no views one way or the other as to this amendment. The majority of offences under these rules would be of a comparatively trifling character. In the event of any body committing a criminal offence, we shall always have the criminal law to fall back upon. If, however, the Council think it better to raise the penalty to Rs. 200, I have no objection.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison moved that in the last line of section 20, for the words "an election" the words "each general election" be substituted. He said:—This is a mere verbal amendment with the object of excluding bye-elections.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The Hon. Mr. Irving in moving that at the end of section 20, and at the end of the second paragraph of section 23, respectively, the words "and such list shall be obtainable on payment of a fee not exceeding eight annas" be inserted, said:—It will be to the interest of all classes that these lists should be readily obtainable; on the other hand it may be advisable to check a too wide application for copies, by the imposition of a small fee.

The Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter said:—I do not think this amendment necessary. It will only have the effect of deterring persons from applying for these lists. It is very necessary that candidates for election should have free access to these lists, but if a fee is imposed it will deter some from applying for them. Hitherto no fee has been imposed.

His Honour the President said:—The section requires that the lists shall be published, but if a copy of the list is wanted, I understand the object of the amendment is that it should be paid for.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison said:—Hitherto the practice has been to print these lists and copies of them have been given without any charge to those who apply for them.

The Hon. Mr. Irving said:—There might be a very wide and unnecessary call for copies of these lists, and the imposition of a small fee would prevent this. The proposal is that the fee should not exceed 8 annas: it might be 1, 2, or 4 annas.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison moved that in line 8 of the proviso of section 21, for the word "show" the words "satisfy the Chairman" be substituted. He said:—The difficulty involved by the introduction of the word "show" has been pointed out in the office. The word "show" is ambiguous, and it is considered better to state more clearly what is meant What is meant is that the person shall produce some primâ facie evidence to show that he has paid occupancy rates. This is generally done by the production of rate bills. I think the substitution of the words "satisfy the Chairman" for "show" will be an improvement.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison moved that in lines 6 and 7 of section 25, for the words "not less than five days before the date of election" the words "not less than five days before the date fixed for the publication of the revised list" be substituted. He said:—This is more than a verbal amendment. It was at first intended that the application under this section should be made five days before the elections, but it has been pointed out by those experienced in working the elections that it would be a great convenience if the bulk of the objections could be got rid of before the publication of the revised list, so that the revised list may, as nearly as possible, correspond with the actual voters. The amendment which I propose will necessitate applications being sent in a good deal earlier. For these reasons I think it will be better that companies, firms and associations of persons should be bound to apply earlier, in order that the revised list may, as far as possible, be correct.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison moved that in line 8 of section 27, for the words "officers in all cases made over to them" the words "officer in all cases made over to him" be substituted. He said:—This also is a verbal amendment, and the reason for it is that it is more probable that the duty referred to will be entrusted to a single officer, and at any rate the singular will include the plural.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison moved that in line 1 of section 31, for the words "the election" the words "general elections" be substituted. He said:—This also is a verbal amendment, similar to one which has already been made on my motion.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The Hon. Mr. Irving moved that for the second paragraph of clause (c) of section 32 the following be substituted :—

"In the event of a Commissioner being absent on leave, to be granted by the Commissioners, for a period exceeding three months, and not exceeding twelve months, the Local Government may appoint a substitute to serve in his absence."

He said :—It appears to me that this amendment is a very reasonable one, while at the same time it is urgently required in the interests of Europeans The present arrangement is defective, owing to the fact that a constituency may often remain unrepresented for a considerable period during the absence of a Commissioner from the country. In such cases, where the temporary vacancies are not filled up, the continuity of representation could only be secured at the cost of a fresh election. As an illustration of the present arrangement, I may mention that in Ward No. 12 not long ago an elected member, owing to missing his steamer, was absent for six and a half months; during his absence the ward was deprived of his representation, and because he was absent a few days over the prescribed period, a fresh election had to be held entailing both trouble and expense. It is to guard against such a state of things that I propose this amendment.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison said :—I do not think that the provision contained in this section will work well. How is it to be known that a Commissioner will be absent for a period exceeding three months and not exceeding 12 months. In some cases a Commissioner may intend to be absent for only two months, but may stay away for a longer period; or he may intend to return in 12 months, but may be detained for 12½ months, and then as soon as the 12 months expire a fresh election must be made. Seeing that one-third of the Corporation will consist of nominated Commissioners, and two-thirds of elected Commissioners, I think there is some objection in principle to all vacancies caused by absence being filled up by the Local Government. There has hitherto been no serious practical inconvenience felt. Every now and then we have been working with one or two Commissioners less than the complete number, in consequence of absentee Commissioners electing not to resign because they expect to return within the six months. In such cases, if an absentee does not wish to resign, then for a period of six months one ward may be without one of its Commissioners, or there may be one less than the full number of nominated Commissioners; but I cannot say that the existing procedure has caused any practical inconvenience.

The Hon. Mr. Irving said :—Many Europeans go away for six or eight months, and they may wish to take leave of this kind. If the next general elections are near at hand the leave would very likely not be asked for, but if the Commissioners have the power of granting leave when it might easily be given, it would be a convenience, more especially for European Commissioners.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison said :—I think the amendment cannot be substituted for the clause in the Bill, which is a disqualifying clause. It may, however, be substituted for the specific clause which provides that no Commissioner shall be disqualified by reason of his being absent for a certain period.

His Honour the President said :—I see a difficulty in accepting the amendment as it stands, though I do not see much objection to its principle. The amendment gives the Commissioners power to grant leave or not as they choose. If they do not want a nominated Commissioner, they will not grant the leave, and they will have it in their power to prevent the Local Government from nominating a locum tenens. The difficulty consists in there being no alternative in cases where the Commissioners refuse to grant leave.

The Hon. Mr Irving said :—I think it desirable that the Commissioners should have power to grant or withhold leave of this kind. Suppose a Commissioner finds it necessary to go away shortly after the elections: he very probably would wish to keep his seat, and the Commissioners would surely grant the leave. If, however, the absence occurs close to the period of the elections, leave would hardly be necessary.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison said:—Then I think the period of absence without leave should be very considerably reduced—say to two months. If Commissioners can obtain leave, then I think it desirable to require them to obtain leave for all prolonged absences, at any rate for three months.

The Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter said:—I suppose the effect will be that during the time the leave extends the nominated Commissioner will be only a substitute, and when the Commissioner comes back he will take up his own place, and the nominated Commissioner will retire. So that instead of having an elected Commissioner, you would have the services of a nominated Commissioner for that time. If a Commissioner goes away for six months or twelve months, would it not be better to leave his successor to work till the end of the term, instead of only during his absence? The gentleman who may be nominated would acquire experience, and by the time his experience becomes valuable, he will be superseded by the Commissioner who comes back. I do not think the amendment to be a desirable one.

The motion was put to the vote and negatived.

The Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter moved that in clause (3) of section 36 the words "construction and" be omitted. He said:—The expenditure of funds for the construction of hospitals is a new power which it is proposed to give to the Commissioners. The power in itself is unobjectionable, but the question is whether the means at the disposal of the Commissioners will be such as to enable them to exercise it. This provision of the law may be thrown at their teeth, and it may be said that they are not performing their duty, inasmuch as they are not exercising this power. I submit that no necessity has arisen for adding this to the powers conferred by the existing law.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison said:—I entirely sympathise with the main part of the hon. member's objection, that it is very undesirable that an additional charge should be thrown on the Corporation, looking to the work they will have to do in the newly amalgamated area. But the reason why this additional power should be conferred is because it is necessary on some occasions that hospitals should be provided for the treatment of small-pox and other contagious diseases. On such occasions it may become necessary to run up temporary hospitals for isolating those affected with the disease. That certainly has been done at Bombay; but we have not the power here to construct hospitals; we have only the power of maintenance. I think this is a flaw in the present Act, though I hope very much that the Commissioners will not be involved in any heavy expenses on account of construction.

The Hon Dr. Mahendra Lal Sircar said:—For the reasons which have been mentioned by the hon. member in charge of the Bill, and to meet such occasions of emergency as have been referred to by him, I move an amendment that after the word "construction" the words "hospitals for contagious diseases which, if unchecked, might prove epidemic" be added. This will limit the power to a considerable extent.

The Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter accepted the amendment.

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay questioned if the word "maintenance" would cover the erection of additional buildings to hospitals. He did not think that the power of the Municipality should be restricted to hospitals for epidemic diseases and objected to the amendment as limiting the power of the Municipality with regard to what is very useful work.

The Hon. Sir Henry Harrison said:—I am bound to confess that if, for instance, the Medical College Hospital had not been built, and very heavy expenditure had to be incurred for the purpose of building a hospital, considerable pressure might be put upon the Commissioners to contribute to its construction; and I should be very sorry to see expenditure incurred on such an account. At the same time I think it absolutely necessary that the Commissioners should have the power to construct temporary hospitals on emergencies.

The Hon. Dr. Gooroo Das Banerjee suggested the addition after the word "construction" of the words "in cases of emergency."

The Hon. Mr. Macaulay pointed out that in the Mofussil Municipal Act, III of 1884, the words used were "establishment and maintenance of hospitals." This is a power generally used throughout the Province.

His Honour the President said:—My own view certainly is that the section as it stands in the Bill should remain, and mainly for this reason, that, apart from the present state of the finances, the construction of hospitals is certainly work which is elsewhere only generally considered as a proper duty for a Municipality to undertake. The objection to the Hon. Dr. Mahendra Lal Sircar's amendment is that the Commissioners may be called upon to prove that a particular disease, if unchecked, would prove epidemic.

The clause as it stood in the Bill with the words "construction and" was then put to the vote and carried.

The Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter moved that in clause 11) of the same section after the word "ceremony" the words "for illuminations, fireworks or the presentation of addresses" be inserted; and that the words "or entertainment in Calcutta" be omitted. He said:—My object is that the cost of "entertainments" should not be defrayed out of the Municipal Fund If it should at anytime become desirable to give a public entertainment, the Commissioners can always give it at their own expense. On some occasions, when the Commissioners were prepared to entertain certain eminent individuals at their own expense, the individuals proposed to be entertained objected If such an entertainment is desirable on any occasion, there will be no difficulty to find the ways and means But if such a provision be inserted in the Act, there will be frequent applications for such entertainments, and a good deal of money may be expended for purposes of this kind. On all public occasions, money has been contributed by the Municipality for illuminations and the like. Although there has been no distinct provision of law for that purpose, yet the Corporation, under the belief that no objection would be raised, has spent money for such purposes Therefore, as far as such purposes are concerned, there will be no objection; but to carry it further will, in my opinion, be objectionable.

The motion was put to the vote and negatived.

The Hon. Dr. Gooroo Das Banerjee moved that after clause (11) of section 36 the following new clause be inserted:—

"(12) Promotion of primary and technical education."

He said:—Section 36 specifies several purposes to which the municipal fund may be appropriated, but one most important purpose has been altogether omitted, I mean education, and the object of this amendment has been to supply that omission. I know it may be said that education is an Imperial purpose, and that the expense for education ought to come out of Imperial and not from municipal funds. Perhaps that may be true as far as high education is concerned, but whether it is so or not it is not my object to discuss. It is a proposition which may be discussed on the amendment of the Hon. Sir Alfred Croft which is on the paper. I venture to think that ignorance and poverty are the main causes of those great sanitary evils which the municipal administration has to cope with, and that the best municipal arrangements from outside will fail to secure the desired object so long as the people are immersed in the depths of ignorance and poverty. You may improve bustees and have more efficient conservancy and other arrangements, but you will fail to restore the health of the inhabitants if they themselves are ignorant of the most elementary principles of sanitation. By spending a small part of the municipal funds for the promotion of technical education, we may help the children of the poor to enable them to learn useful occupations, and thus earn their livelihood; and by spending another small portion of those funds for the promotion of primary education, we may educate them just enough to enable them to read some of those excellent sanitary primers in the vernacular languages. Such expenditure is sure to prove remunerative in the sense that you would thereby secure from the people so educated an amount of willing obedience to your sanitary regulations which may perhaps enable you to dispense with a part of the establishment for enforcing those regulations. Nor is that all. We find in the Mofussil Municipal Act, III of 1884, section 69, clause 5, that the construction and repair of school-houses, and the establishment and maintenance of schools either wholly or by means of grants-in-aid, forms one of the purposes to which municipal funds may be appropriated; and if the municipalities in the mofussil can afford to expend money on such objects, there is no reason why the Metropolitan Municipality should grudge to do the same.

There is another point of view from which the matter may be considered. The Bill proposes to amalgamate a large part of the suburban area with the town. Now the Suburbs already enjoy this advantage There are schools in the suburban area which already get grants from the suburban municipal funds, limited as they are; and now that these areas are to be amalgamated with the town, it will be disappointing expectations and disregarding vested interests if you suddenly deprive them of the aid they now receive.

I may also point out that in other countries, which we always do well to imitate, municipal funds are largely spent on education. From an abstract which I hold in my hand of the report of the Local Government Board in England for 1880, I find that, whereas two millions sterling were expended on highways, nearly four millions were spent on elementary education. I therefore submit that for the limited purpose of elementary and technical education the Calcutta Municipality ought to contribute something.

The Hon. Sir Alfred Croft moved that after clause (11) of section 36 the following new clause be inserted:—

"(12) Maintenance, support and inspection of schools, including technical schools"

He said:—There is an important difference between the amendment which I have the honour to move and that which has just been moved. By my amendment the duty of the municipality is not limited to the provision of technical and primary education. It imposes no limit of that kind so far as schools are concerned, but allows the municipality to apply its funds to education whether primary or secondary, whether technical or general. It allows the municipality, first, to establish schools of its own; secondly to support schools, that is to say, to give grants-in-aid to the support of schools maintained by private individuals or by other public bodies; and lastly to inspect schools, where necessary. I do not propose to dwell on the general principles on which the duty of municipalities to provide for education may be defended, nor will I do more than just glance at the very pronounced view of the duties of municipalities in this respect which prevails in England and on the continent of Europe. I need not go so far afield as that. I shall find quite sufficient material for my remarks within the continent of India. The objections which have been raised to the inclusion of education amongst the objects on which municipal funds can be spent are, as far as I have been able to ascertain them, two. They are, first, that education is no concern of an Indian municipality; that if education is to be provided within a municipality it should be provided by the State or by associations of private persons; and the second ground is that in the particular case of Calcutta, where the sanitary requirements of the people are so urgent, it would be unjust to divert any portion of the municipal funds from the objects for which they are so urgently required, to a purpose of less importance such as education. First, then, as to the general principle. When it is said that a municipality as such has no concern with education, that is to me so novel a view that I hope I may be pardoned if I occupy the time of the Council a little in order to show how exceptional that view is, and how much at variance with the common opinion and almost the universal practice in India This is a point to which the Education Commission which sat in 1882-83 paid a great deal of attention. They took for granted—and in that assumption they were justified by the common practice of municipalities in India—that it is the business of municipalities to take charge of education. They said:—"The obvious advantage of connecting the education of the masses with local popular organisation has long been recognised," and they proceed to state the extent to which municipalities in India have recognised this principle. The figures they give are somewhat surprising. In 1882 the municipalities in the Punjab spent Rs. 1,51,000 on education; Madras spent Rs 88,000; Bombay Rs. 80,000; the North-Western Provinces Rs. 52,000; the Central Provinces Rs. 35,000; while Bengal comes last with Rs. 25,000. Then, again, when we turn to percentages, we find that the Bombay municipalities expended 5·6 per cent. of their total income; Madras 3·8 per cent., and so on until we come down to the municipalities in Bengal, with less than half per cent. As regards Bengal, that proportion is confined to mofussil municipalities, because in Calcutta not one penny is spent on education. On this point the Education Commission remarked:—"In no other province of India do municipal bodies exhibit greater indifference to the claims of education upon the town funds. Even in the city of Calcutta no steps have been taken in this direction, though so far back as 1873 Sir George Campbell expressed a hope that the municipality in Calcutta would move the Legislature to permit the expenditure of some part of its large income upon primary schools for the children of the Calcutta poor." The Commission, I may add, went even further. Reviewing the progress of education in the past, they strongly recommended that the educational sections of the new Municipal Bills, then before the different Legislative Councils, should no longer be permissive, but compulsory. They said that executive orders of clear import and general application issued from 1854 to the present time had failed more or less in all provinces to ensure uniform attention to broad principles prescribed for general guidance; and they added:—"The evidence given before the Commission affords proof of the unanimous conviction entertained in all provinces of India, that the time has come when the exercise of these permissive powers can no longer be left to the discretion of municipal bodies." That view, however, has not generally commended itself to the local Legislatures. In more than one province it is true that under recent legislation the educational clauses of the Municipal Acts are not permissive but compulsory; or else power is taken by the Local Government to decide what proportion of the total municipal income should be devoted to education. But in general the Local Governments have, with one or two exceptions, expressed reluctance to compel these bodies, by executive order, to devote a certain minimum share of their income to education; and while they have not hesitated to express their wishes and expectations in the matter, they have for the most part been content to leave the municipalities concerned to fix the amount of their educational grants, in the full belief that the Boards would of their own motion make adequate provision for the maintenance of schools, and that a policy of compulsion was neither necessary nor desirable. But the general principle was fully accepted both by the Government of India and by the Secretary of State. The Government of India, in reviewing the report of the Education Commission, plainly stated that it was the duty of municipalities to provide for education. They said:—"Under all the Acts for settling the conditions of Local Self-Government in municipalities, provision more or less complete has been made for education;" and they went on to show that the Bengal Government anticipated a contribution of Rs. 1,25,000, for educational purposes from the municipalities of the province, excluding Calcutta.

Such then being the state of current opinion on the subject, it is important to show how far this general opinion, that municipalities should concern themselves with education, has been embodied in legislative enactments. In the District Municipal Act of Bombay I find, amongst the objects to which the municipal fund may be devoted, that adequate provision must be made, not may be made, for middle and primary schools, and that adequate provision may be made for higher schools. And then the Local Government takes power to define what an adequate provision is; and to ensure that the provision shall be adequate by declaring the minimum sum which municipalities are required to spend upon education. Then in Madras, district municipalities are required to provide for all primary and lower secondary schools within the municipal area. These are the provisions for district municipalities. Next I will take the Presidency towns. In Bombay, the Municipal Bill is still under consideration, and it is impossible to say what form the educational sections will take. I understand that they are not likely to depart far from the provisions of the existing Act. The Act of 1872, by which the Bombay Municipality is still governed, is not compulsory but permissive. It allows the municipal fund to be devoted to education of all grades, without any restriction to primary education. So again, in the town of Madras the municipality is required to provide for the elementary education of the poor, and to build school-houses in which such education may be given. In the Punjab, as in Bombay, the provision is not merely permissive, for the Local Government has power to fix the share of the municipal income which must be assigned for educational purposes What I have stated is merely a sample of what is going on throughout India. It is true that in Bengal, and especially in Calcutta, the idea of municipalities taking an active share in education is a little strange to us; but I hope I have shown that throughout the rest of India the duty of municipalities to control education, and not merely primary education, is an accepted principle. I will now go on for four or five years, and show that outside Bengal, and even within Bengal, municipalities have within that period not stood still. I find that from 1881-82 to 1885-86, the municipal expenditure on education throughout India increased from Rs 4,66,000 to Rs. 11,40,000, of which Rs. 4,22,000 were devoted to secondary schools, and Rs. 4,86,000 to primary schools, Rs. 27,000 to special or technical education, Rs. 2,04,000 to inspection, school buildings, and other miscellaneous objects. In the Punjab, which stood at the head of all the provinces of India in 1881-82, the educational grant remained stationary, at about 1½ lakhs of rupees. Bombay advanced from Rs. 80,000 to Rs. 1,71,000, Madras from Rs. 88,000 to Rs. 1,75,000; while the municipal expenditure on education in Burmah advanced from Rs 33,000 to Rs. 2,53,000—the reason being that in Burmah large grants had been made to municipalities to enable them to carry on the whole educational system within the municipal area. It was declared to be the duty of municipalities in Burmah to undertake the management of education within that area, and special sources of income were transferred to them to enable them to do so. Even in the mofussil municipalities of Bengal, the educational expenditure rose from Rs. 25,000 to Rs. 82,000. The remarkable expansion to which I have just referred is due in great measure to action taken about this time by the Government of India. In 1881-82 the Government of India decided to relieve municipalities of all charges on account of the police, and to transfer to them the control of certain services which were held to be more within their province, such as sanitation, education, and public works. The transfer of funds to these objects was accordingly carried out in every province of India, and that accounts in a large measure, though not entirely, for the increase of expenditure on education. In Bengal it was hoped that the municipal expenditure on education would amount to Rs. 1,25,000. It has not yet reached that figure, but in many other provinces it has gone far beyond the requirements imposed on municipalities by the change to which I have referred In Madras, for example, under instructions issued by the Madras Government, municipalities are expected and required to expend one-sixth of their total income on education.

So much for the general question; but I am bound to say that the particular case of Calcutta is in some respects an exceptional one. The sanitary requirements of Calcutta, it is said, are such that they will exhaust and swallow up the whole of the addition of three or four lakhs which is to be made to its revenues by the removal of the cost of the police I do not know whether the terms upon which the Government makes over that grant to the municipality are such as to compel the money to be spent on sanitation alone, or whether, as in the case of every other municipality to which similar relief has been afforded, sanitation is only one of those objects, education being another. But however that may be, on the general question I cannot say that Calcutta stands in any different position from other large towns in India with regard to education. We have here in Calcutta 22,000 boys at schools of all classes, primary and secondary; but according to our estimate 22,000 is only about half the number of boys that should be at school. It follows that there are about 20,000 boys who get no education at all, not even the rudiments of education. To my mind it seems a matter beyond dispute that Calcutta, as a manufacturing and industrial town, would be the gainer by the education of these 20,000 boys—not merely in the way mentioned by the last speaker that they would be more amenable to sanitary influences, but that education will make them more intelligent citizens, and therefore more useful, and profitable to the town in which they live. That is the simple ground on which municipalities have thought it worth while to spend money on education

All this of course refers to primary education. As to technical education, there is in or near Calcutta a School of Art and an Engineering College. The School of Art has, I believe, a great future before it in the development of artistic industries. The engineering college has established such a position and attained such success that the trained apprentices find no difficulty in getting profitable employment all over Bengal. But when boys go to one or other of these institutions they do not even know the rudiments of drawing. They have to learn it from the beginning, and to spend a long time in acquiring that moderate amount of skill which they ought to have already acquired upon entering the school. It appears to me that if drawing classes were established by the municipality, they would do most useful work quite within its province, for the municipality ought not to be indifferent to the development of artistic and industrial skill. Technical schools might in the same way be attached, with great advantage, to the municipal workshops, in order to increase the supply of skilled artisans. This is a crying want, and amply justifies the devotion of municipal funds to technical education. I may mention that in Bombay the municipality contributed Rs. 80,000 to the establishment of a Jubilee Technical Institute, and have made an annual provision of Rs. 5,000 for the same purpose In Poona the municipality gave Rs. 5,000 to a technical school.

As to secondary education, throughout Bengal and India large sums are expended by the municipalities. In different parts of the mofussil it is felt that the municipalities contain members thoroughly qualified to control education of that kind. They have accepted and managed with the greatest success the secondary schools which have been transferred to them in pursuance of the Local Self-Government policy. This has been done to a very large extent in the mofussil municipalities of Madras, Bombay and the North-Western Provinces. In the great Presidency towns like Calcutta the case is no doubt different. Here private enterprise is so strong that it never will be necessary to spend any large sums on secondary education. At the same time it might very well happen that the Government, on retiring from one of its secondary schools, might make an offer to the municipality to take it over with its grant. If so, there seems no reason why the municipality should refuse to undertake the charge—a charge which would generally involve no additional burden on the municipal fund. Then again, suppose the municipality maintains good primary schools, such as those which are the credit and the pride of Bombay—primary schools attended by hundreds of poor children, who thus secure a far better and sounder education of an elementary kind than private effort can give them. If there are such schools, the municipality might perhaps desire to add secondary classes for the further education of advanced scholars, and if so, I do not think it is the business of this Council to refuse it that permission. It may be taken for granted that the permission will not be misused, as it has not been misused in other Presidency towns in India, where, though they spend large sums on primary education, the expenditure on secondary schools is trifling. In view of the position which the municipality of the metropolis of India has a right to claim, we may very well say—It is open to you to establish, without interference from us, a complete system of education according to your view of what is necessary and sufficient, after other and more important requirements have been met. Of that, the municipality must be the best judge. The clause which I propose to introduce is not a compulsory one, as it is in Bombay, Burmah, and the Punjab. All that we propose to say is that, you may, if you see fit, spend a certain sum upon education; primary and technical education in the first instance; secondary education if you think it necessary. I confess that I do not see how the claim can reasonably be refused. We have this simple fact, that in all the rest of India municipalities do undertake the control and support of education, and do not limit it to primary education. If that is right for other municipalities, it is right also for Calcutta. If it is wrong in Calcutta, then you declare that the policy followed in every municipality in India is wrong. It seems to me that the burden of proof lies on those who deny that the municipality of Calcutta is qualified to exercise powers which are conferred on and exercised by every other municipality in India.

The Hon Sir Henry Harrison said:—As regards the amendment of the Hon. Dr. Gooroo Das Banerjee, I dare say the majority of the Council are aware that the original Bill contained a provision for sanctioning expenditure on primary education. The reason was that we found that in the Suburbs such expenditure was actually being incurred, there being a grant of Rs. 3,000 for the purpose. We thought it would be invidious to deprive the Suburbs of what they had hitherto received, the intention being merely that their rights should be preserved to them, while at the same time it was foreseen that the words might be capable of extension to other primary schools. And after the fullest consideration I am constrained to say that so strong a case has been made out on behalf of primary education that I cannot go against this amendment. I myself feel bound, seeing the weight of precedent and reason adduced for it, to vote so far as to put in a provision allowing the municipality to provide for primary education and technical education.

Then I come to my hon. friend Sir Alfred Croft's amendment, and here I find myself in a position of very great difficulty, because on the one hand I look on the amendment with the greatest possible apprehension, on the other hand I am equally bound to say that he has made a very strong case indeed; but the stronger the case the stronger is my apprehension. I feel that the case made out is so strong that it will be very difficult for me to induce the Council to reject the amendment. I am equally bound to admit that, so far as the precedent and practice of Bombay and other municipalities are concerned, they are all against me. In the Bombay draft Bill, which has passed the Select Committee, expenditure upon primary education is made compulsory, while as regards secondary education it is optional. In Bengal under the Municipal Act mofussil municipalities can spend money on education in giving grants-in-aid to schools and in various other ways. So that, except so far as our own Act is concerned, we have to face the contrary practice all round, and my hon. friend Sir Alfred Croft is justified in saying that the onus lies on us to disprove the propriety of adopting his amendment. Nevertheless that is which I am bound to attempt. My hon. friend referred to two arguments which might bear specially against his proposal. One is that the proposal is against the weight of practice or precedent elsewhere. That argument cannot be met because he proved successfully that both practice and precedent are against us. He also referred to the argument that heavy expenditure is required for the sanitation of Calcutta and the Suburbs, and that is the only argument I feel bound to press upon the consideration of the Council. The first point to recollect is that municipalities in India are essentially poor bodies; the municipalities of Calcutta and Bombay are by far the richest in India, but yet their means cannot compare with the means at the disposal of civilised municipalities elsewhere. Calcutta has to levy its taxation almost entirely by rates on property, and the assessable value of property in Calcutta does not exceed £1,200,000 a year. It is considerably less than one-twentieth of the rateable value of London, and the population of that city is only seven times larger. It is less than one-tenth of New York with a population twice as large It is less than one-fourth of Philadelphia with a population only slightly larger: so that the Calcutta Municipality cannot command anything like the funds of other large cities. But when we come to the question of expenditure, then we find that sanitation in Calcutta attains such importance that, so far from the expenditure being less, expenditure quite on the same scale as in English cities becomes obligatory. We are to have a large area in the most insanitary condition added immediately to the town. Nobody would say that the town itself is in anything like a satisfactory sanitary condition. The difficulty in adding the suburban area has been simply and solely this, that no one could suggest the sources from which the funds should come. The Amalgamation Committee was distinctly of opinion that about six lakhs ought to be added to the funds of the municipality from some source. I myself formed a more sanguine estimate, and leaned to the opinion that probably four lakhs may suffice I took a more sanguine estimate than any other member of the Committee. Can any one in this Council doubt that as soon as the suburban area is added to the town we shall have the fullest possible use for all the funds at the disposal of the municipality? I admit that education is a legitimate subject of municipal expenditure, but I also maintain that it is a secondary object. It is not to be put on the same plane as the primary objects, such as the repair of roads, the removal of refuse, cleansing, sewering, supplying water, and in one general word "sanitation." If education is to supplant any of these objects, would it be right? I put it to the Council whether if Rs. 50,000 be taken from the purposes of sanitation and given to education, it would not be a mistake. That is a point on which I am so satisfied that I must press this view on the attention of the Council. I am far from sanguine that the effect of this amendment would be that only a small sum will be expended upon secondary education, but so far from that being likely, I feel it most probable that the expenditure under this head would soon be large. The people of Calcutta have a strong, natural and proper sympathy for high education, and the municipal body being in itself extremely sympathetic with educational institutions, we should have siege laid to our funds by perhaps the most experienced and skilful body that you could find to conduct such a siege succesfully, namely, the large body of educationists in Calcutta who so much deserve and command the appreciation of the public; and the very fact of their appealing for help would go far to secure it. In the first instance some institution of an extremely beneficial character, and which met a recognised want, would probably come forward and would almost certainly succeed in getting a grant. One precedent having broken the ice, others would come in on the same ground, and before long—I appeal to hon. members who can judge of these matters—the educational budget would be a very ample one indeed. While that would be the case on the one hand, is there any reason to suppose that the natural and laudable desire of the rate-payers to keep taxation at its lowest limit would be diminished? While money would be granted freely for educational purposes, the temptation would be almost irresistible to effect economies in other directions in order to balance for the grant given to education It is but fair to admit that my argument goes beyond the case of Calcutta. I admit that it equally applies to other municipalities in India. But strong as is the case which has been made out in other ways, my hon. friend has on this point given me considerable assistance, because he has shown that there is no head of expenditure which has so rapidly increased with municipalities as education. He showed that the educational grant had grown from four lakhs to eleven lakhs in a short time. That is exactly what I should have expected. There is no object of expenditure which is likely to develop more rapidly The one head which would soon grow with the greatest rapidity would be education. But as regards the circumstances of educational expenditure in other countries, there is considerable difference. In England, education is placed under special School boards under the Act of 1870, and these School Boards fix their own expenditure, and they spend it. But it is obvious that Local Sanitary Boards or Municipalities, which are totally distinct bodies, are not deterred from spending money on sanitation because other distinct bodies are spending money on other objects. But in our case we should have the same body which is spending money on education—the body which has to judge of sanitary requirements—and there would be an inevitable tendency to substitute one class of expenditure for the other. Then again the difficulty with regard to each community in Calcutta would be very serious. Calcutta is not composed of one homogeneous community, whereas you have in mofussil municipalities a more or less homogeneous population, where there are Hindus or Mahomedans, or Hindus and Mahomedans. But here we would have classes of expenditure fundamentally different, which would come before the Municipal Commissioners. We have large schools of the European and Eurasian element which would appeal for support, and large schools of the native communities. A great many of these are no doubt self-supporting. Secondary education in Calcutta can be made self-supporting, and that is a strong reason why aid is not necessary for this class of schools But it would be a very serious task for the Corporation to do justice between all the communities which would appeal to it for aid.

Lastly, there is this special difficulty that it is a fundamental principle which has been laid down by the Government of India that, as a rule, money should only be expended by municipalities on objects which are under municipal control; but although the amendment includes cases in which the municipality might have such control, it allows the municipality to make grants to any schools in behalf of which sufficiently strong pressure is brought to bear upon it, without there being any control at all. If a municipality cares to spend money on education, I think it extremely important that they should themselves exercise a control over its expenditure, and I would suggest that we ought to introduce some provisions for constituting Local School Boards and for the imposition of a special educational rate, because the present rates have been certainly fixed with a view to the requirements of the town without taking into account any expenditure on education, and if such expenditure is to be added, I certainly think that power should be given to levy an educational rate.

For these reasons I think it extremely important that the Council should not introduce into Calcutta the principle of applying municipal funds for the purposes of higher education.

The Hon. Dr. Mahendra Lal Sircar said:—After the exhaustive speech of the last hon. speaker, conclusively disposing of the arguments of the hon. mover of the amendment, it would be superfluous for me to say much. I would simply ask the Council from what fund it is contemplated to provide for the maintenance, support and inspection of schools, and the maintenance of free libraries. It must be from what is known as the General Fund; and I would ask if anything of that fund would remain after it had been exhausted by the very comprehensive items of expenditure which had to be provided for out of that fund. Unless, therefore, it is intended to impose a new rate—an education rate—it will be found extremely difficult in practice to divert any portion of the Municipal Fund towards such purposes which, in my humble opinion, has no direct connection with the public health, safety and convenience. Impose an education rate, and then we shall know what portion of the Municipal Fund to appropriate to educational purposes. But unless you do so, to expend any portion of the municipal revenues upon education will simply be a fraud upon the rate-payers. With all my love for education, I have not been able to persuade myself that the provision of education forms a part of municipal duty. The arguments brought forward in favour of it might as well justify the municipality to maintain an army, a body of volunteers, Hindu temples, Mahomedan Masjids, Christian Churches. If you once adopt the principle of providing from the municipal fund for the maintenance, support, and inspection of schools, there would be no limit to the expenditure. Already there are a very large number of schools, and I hope the number will be multiplied a hundredfold. Would your municipal fund suffice for the provision of all these schools? The community of Calcutta is a heterogeneous community, and the question of nationality and race will most unpleasantly spring up. You will have Hindus and Mahomedans and Christians all clamouring for support of their schools from the municipal fund. Would the Commissioners be able to meet all this clamour? If you can impose an education rate, by all means have such a fund and declare the purposes to which it should be applied, but not otherwise.

The Hon. the Advocate-General said:—As I intend to vote against this amendment, I consider it necessary to say a few words lest my silent vote should be supposed to indicate that I do not sufficiently appreciate the arguments which the Hon Sir Alfred Croft has adduced in favour of the advantages of education, or that I am opposed to the general views he has expressed. If I could approach the subject of this discussion with the fact that the municipal funds of this town were unencumbered and in a flourishing condition, and with the assurance that the money which would be raised would be more than sufficient to supply all the wants of the town in respect of its sanitation, I would consider the present a proper time for discussing the question raised. Unless we are satisfied that the requirements of the municipality can be met in this respect, we are not in a position to introduce another subject of expenditure. Therefore, I do not intend to consider or discuss the question whether, strictly speaking, municipal institutions are concerned in education or not, nor even the merits of the smaller proposition put forward by the Hon. Dr. Gooroo Das Banerjee in reference to the larger measure advocated by the Hon. Sir Alfred Croft; I wish to impress upon the Council that the time has not arrived for these amendments. If I were perfectly satisfied that the funds now in hand were not all required for sanitary purposes in particular parts of the town of Calcutta, then, as I said before, the question would arise. So long as the Municipal Funds are urgently required for sanitary and other purposes, I would protest against enlarging the area of the subjects to which they might be applied. I would not enlarge it beyond the purposes stated in section 36 of the Bill.

And here I would point out a little discrepancy between section 36 and the amendments proposed to be introduced into it. Section 36 says—"The purposes expressly authorized by this Act shall be held to include the objects connected with the public safety, health and convenience hereinafter specified," that is to say—expenditure on account of certain purposes detailed in clauses (1) to (11) of the section. To these the Hon. Sir Alfred Croft would add "the maintenance, support and inspection of schools, including technical schools, and the provision of free libraries" as a twelfth subject of expenditure. This clause would be governed, as the whole of the other clauses are, by that which preceded them, viz., by objects connected with public safety, health or convenience. I assert none of these heads comprehends education and free libraries. The Hon. Dr Gooroo Das Banerjee, who is a learned lawyer, perceiving very clearly that unless he could in some way associate this educational purpose with sanitation, or some one of the purposes of the section, ingeniously connected it with sanitation. He said that if you give the people education you purify their hearts, their thoughts and their manners, and you will consequently be able to reduce your expenses of sanitation and your establishments, and in due course of time less expenditure will be required for sanitation. But that is after all an indirect means of aiding sanitation. I think if he is entitled to use the argument to which I have just adverted, I am equally entitled to answer it by saying if you are justified in incurring expenditure in purifying the hearts and minds of the people, why not enable them to purify and cleanse their bodies by the help of soap purchased out of Municipal Funds and distributed gratuitously in large quantities, and thus aid the scheme of sanitation by an indirect means as potent as that advocated by Dr. Gooroo Das. I must not be supposed to complain of the argument used; I would merely point out that, unless ingenuity was brought to bear on the subject and used to afford some support to the position that education must be placed by the side of sanitation, the motion must fail. I think I have said sufficient to expose the fallacy of the argument, and I earnestly ask the Council that unless sufficient provision can be made for the necessary purposes of sanitation, we should not think of opening out new sources of expenditure for which, as the hon. member in charge of the Bill had told the Council, there would be numerous claimants. For a time it may be that this provision will merely be a permissive one. The municipal body is a large body with an experienced Chairman at its head. He may lead them in most cases rightly; but it may happen that members of the Municipality, holding the views of the hon. movers of these amendments, may insist upon education being provided out of Municipal Funds and succeed in over-ruling their opponents: in such a case there would be a grave responsibility incurred if the Municipal Funds be diverted from their legitimate objects of expenditure. Under these circumstances, I shall oppose these amendments.

The Hon. Babu Kali Nath Mitter said:—From the amendment which I moved on this section it will be quite evident that I am seriously alarmed at the prospect of expenditure which the Commissioners will not have the means to meet. I objected to "entertainments" because of its being a source of expenditure, and secondary education is thrown upon the municipality. I certainly think that the expenditure on such an object would be enormous, and that the Commissioners will not be able to resist the temptation of spending money under this head: the cry for help will be so great that it will be impossible to resist it. When this matter was discussed by the Commissioners, though one party was violently opposed to the introduction into the Bill of education as one of the objects of expenditure, because the funds at disposal would not enable them to spend money on education, another party, equally strong, thought that at any rate primary education should be provided for. Ultimately the latter prevailed, and the resolution that was passed was that, so far as primary education was concerned, some provision ought to be made. As has been very justly pointed out by the hon. mover of the first amendment, that at the present time some of the schools which exist in the area going to be added do receive some contribution from the Suburban Commissioners, it was thought proper at one time to provide for them, and no further. To that limited extent I am quite prepared to support the hon. member, because I think it right that the schools which at present enjoy a contribution should continue to enjoy it. But beyond that I am not prepared to go. The prospects of the future municipality seem to me to be gloomy. Powers are being given to them in the exercise of which it will be necessary to have large sums at their disposal; but as far as I have been able to see, those funds are not available. That being so, I regret I cannot agree to the amendment of my hon. friend Sir Alfred Croft.

The Hon. Dr. Gooroo Das Banerjee in reply said:—One of my hon. colleagues has been pleased to observe that the diverting of any portion of the municipal fund to purposes of education will be a fraud upon the rate-payers, unless they are previously told that part of the taxes they are paying will be devoted to that purpose, and unless an education rate is levied. We know that, in the suburban area at any rate, it can by no means be open to such remarks, because we have such provision made in the Act in force there. Therefore I take it that the strong language in which my hon. friend has criticised this amendment is after all a matter of rhetoric and eloquence with a large measure of which Nature has blessed him. But the ground upon which I based the amendment was that it would be a matter of disappointment to expectations and vested interests to deprive the suburban schools, which already enjoy such contributions, from their benefit after the passing of this new law.

Then with reference to the remarks of the hon. the Advocate-General, he observed that the time had not arrived for the appropriation of any part of the municipal fund to purposes of education. I freely confess that I feel the force of his observations and those of the Hon. the Chairman of the Corporation, that for some time to come the municipal fund will be sufficiently taxed by new burden thrown upon it. But still I cannot persuade myself that the provision of a small contribution which the limited scope of my amendment will necessitate will be anything but remunerative. I am sorry I have not been able to place in the hands of the Advocate-General some of those simple sanitary primers in Bengali which ought I think to be scattered among the poor population of Calcutta. I may be a little enthusiastic in my admiration of these little books, and of the importance of primary education in securing free and willing obedience to our municipal regulations on the part of the people. But I am not singular in my expectations, for such expenditure has in other places been regarded as remunerative. The small extent to which the municipal funds will be taxed will be more than returned—if not immediately, certainly in the course of a few years.

His Honour the President said:—I think I ought to make a few remarks before putting this question to the vote. I confess that the turn which the debate has taken on this point has rather disappointed me. I have always been told that the municipality, under the guidance of its admirable Chairman, had really been doing very good and very great work during the last fifteen years. I had been led to suppose that they were capable of expending their funds with something like reason, and that really they might be left to themselves in these matters. Again I have been informed on the best authority that though they loved education, yet they also loved sanitation, and that they were most eager to carry out whatever was reasonable in the recommendations before them. I had certainly gathered also that under the guidance of their able Chairman they had very considerable powers of resistance, but now we are informed that, however hard up they may be, however their funds were pledged to sanitation, however impossible it may be to spend money on schools, yet on the very first onset the cry of the body of educationists would be so strong that both they and their Chairman would be incapable of resisting the appeal, and that their funds would be at the mercy of everybody who came to them I am not disposed to think that the Municipal Commissioners of Calcutta are so weak. I myself believe that, with the advice and assistance they are likely to get, they will be capable of spending money, at all events on primary education, wisely and well. The principle has been accepted in every town in India, and certainly elsewhere. I do not want to discuss the necessity or the propriety of it in Calcutta, but as a matter of principle I am not prepared to tie up the hands of the municipality, and to say that without special legislation they shall not spend a penny on primary and technical education.

The Hon. Sir Alfred Croft's amendment to insert after clause (11) of section 36 the following new clause—"(12). Maintenance, support and inspection of schools, including technical schools," being put, the Council divided:—

The HON. DR. GOOROO DAS BANERJEE's amendment to insert after clause (11) of section 36 the following new clause—"(12) Promotion of primary and technical education," being put, the Council divided:—

His Honour the President.

So the Motion was carried.

The HON. DR. GOOROO DAS BANERJEE moved that the following new clause be inserted after the above:—

"(13). Contribution to any neighbouring municipality for sanitary purposes."

He said that after the amalgamation the new municipality would be brought into immediate contact with poor municipalities on the north, east and south of the town. These poor municipalities not being at any considerable distance from the town, the health of the town might be affected by those subtle agencies by which disease is spread, so that for the health of the town the sanitary improvement of these poor municipalities would continue to be as much necessary as the improvement of the suburban area, now going to be amalgamated, has been felt to be for the improvement of the present town. And if these neighbouring municipalities are really from want of funds unable to carry out such matters, it is certainly necessary that the town should curtail some of its items of expenditure, for certain purposes which may without offence be considered superfluous, for the purpose of applying the money to that which is necessary not only for the health of its poor neighbours, but also for that of the town itself. And here we have very good precedent. In section 70 of the Mofussil Municipal Act, there is a provision for making similar contributions to neighbouring municipalities. If poor and backward municipalities in the mofussil can afford to make these contributions, there is no reason why the richest and most advanced municipality of the metropolis should be unable to make similar contributions to its poorer neighbours, especially when the contribution will be for its own welfare. It should also be borne in mind that the insertion of this clause will not impose any obligation on the Calcutta Corporation, but will only enable it to make grants when it has funds at its disposal and when a fit case is made out, and the Calcutta Corporation itself will be the judge of such fitness. They who will be the judges have themselves in one sense an opposite interest, and there is no likelihood of their mak ng any such contribution unless the necessity is clearly proved and unless the contribution be for their own benefit.

The HON. SIR HENRY HARRISON said:—I entirely agree with the hon. member, and precisely for the reason he has given It might, for instance, be for the benefit of the health of Calcutta to assist in the sanitation of the island of Ooltadanga or of Chitpore or Cossipore. The municipality would be very unlikely to sanction any expenditure unless the Commissioners were satisfied that a sufficient case was made out. I am afraid I shall again incur the criticism which His Honour the President directed against the Commissioners. It is better, however, to be conscious of your own weakness than to pretend to a strength which you do not possess. I am afraid that with their strong sympathy for education, the C mmissioners would be unable to resist skilful pressure; but in the case under consideration they will be very unlikely to vote funds for any other Municipality unless an overwhelming case were made out.

The HON. THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL said he thought that, with the amalgamation of the Suburbs, this amendment becomes an absolute necessity.

The motion was put to the vote and carried.

The HON. SIR ALFRED CROFT moved that the following new clause be added to section 36:—

"Provision of free libraries"

He said—Little argument is needed to show that the establishment of a free library in the town would be a great advantage to an educated population, and it is proposed to allow the municipality to devote a portion of its funds to such a purpose. The provision would be permissive. Such a provision is contained in the District Municipal Act of Bombay, where Municipal Funds may be devoted to the maintenance of libraries and museums. In the particular case of Calcutta, the question derives importance from the fact that two years ago a proposal was actually made that the public library at the Metcalfe Hall should be transferred to the control of the Calcutta Municipality, or else that the Municipality should make a contribution to it. The desirability of having such a library was admitted, but there were two reasons why the Municipality did not then accept the offer. In the first place they doubted whether the project was expedient at the time and in the circumstances that existed; but in the second place they pointed out that the Municipal Act made no provision for the application of Municipal Funds to such an object. The Government of Bengal, in addressing the Municipality on the subject, said that, should the Corporation be inclined to devote its funds to such a purpose, the necessary provision would be introduced into the new Municipal Bill. As it seems to me that the question may arise hereafter as it did before, and that possibly the Calcutta Corporation may then desire to devote a portion of its funds to such a purpose, a clause enabling them to do so should be inserted in the Bill.

The motion being put, the Council divided:—

Ayes 9.	Noes 4.

HIS HONOUR THE PRESIDENT said:—The Council will remember that on the 7th of January the Select Committee laid before the Council the first instalment of their report, and I then took the opinion of the Council as to whether we should proceed to consider that report after its publication, or whether we should wait till the full report of the Committee was before us; and the general opinion seemed to be that we should proceed with the consideration of the preliminary report of the Select Committee. I was under the impression at that time that the full report would have been published before now. In that I have been disappointed. I have no doubt that the Select Committee are very wise and right in not hurrying the matter, but I think it necessary to explain that I should not have asked you to go on with the consideration of the first instalment of the report unless I had reason to suppose that the rest of the report would have been ready by this time. Neither can I tell you now when it will be ready. When it is ready, it will be published, and time will be given for its consideration. I propose to adjourn the Council now, and call you together again for a purely formal meeting to receive the report when it is ready, and then to fix a day for the consideration of the report.

The Council was adjourned sine die.

RESOLUTION.

THE CANAL REVENUE REPORT FOR 1886-87.

READ—

The Canal Revenue Reports for 1886-87, and the Chief Engineer's note on the same.

The total outlay direct and indirect to the close of the year 1886-87, on canals in Bengal, of which capital accounts are kept, has been Rs. 6,97,11,574. Of this sum Rs. 8,66,600 have been contributed by the Imperial Government from Famine Relief and Insurance funds, Rs. 5,91,91,309 have been charged to loan funds, and Rs. 88,78,410 have been provided from Provincial revenues. In addition to the sums abovementioned, Rs. 7,75,855 have been expended on surveys, &c., for irrigation works which have not been carried out.

2. There are now in actual operation in Bengal 837½ miles of canal of which 608 miles are navigable. The total area commanded by irrigation canals is 2,608,846 acres, of which 4,17,821 acres, producing crops of the estimated value of Rs. 93,34,374, were irrigated during the year. The total number of boats plying in the canals was 1,81,173, of which 27,314 were passenger boats. The total value of goods passing the canals in boats and rafts aggregated Rs. 7,78,80,811 approximately.

3. The receipts from, and expenditure on, the canals in operation for the last three years, are given in the statement below, the figures include indirect charges:—

The net income for the year was therefore Rs. 2,36,762. Interest amounting to Rs. 22,91,006 was, however, payable to the Imperial Government, so that there was a deficit of Rs. 19,56,284, to be met from Provincial revenues. This result is unfavourable as compared with that of the previous year, and is owing as much to a decrease in the receipts, the cause of which is explained further on, as to an increase in the expenditure owing to the necessity for special heavy repairs.

4. On the Orissa canals, the occurrence of a large breach in the main weir of the system, that on the Mahanadi river, on the 26th June 1886, necessitated a very large outlay, of which about one and a half lakhs were spent within the year, and the rest in the following year, the work being completed before the rains of 1887. Considerable damage was also caused by the floods of 1886 to nearly all the other weirs, the result being that, with scarcely an exception, the expenditure on them during 1886-87, was in excess of that of the previous year. On the Sone canals the repairs to the centre and Baroon shore sluices of the Sone weir, and the replacing of the old four feet thick piers by piers of six feet thickness caused an increase in the expenditure. On the Midnapore canal the repairs to tidal locks and silt clearance of tidal reaches were heavier than usual. Lastly on the Orissa Coast Canal the repairs on account of the floods and cyclone of 1885, added about Rs. 40,000 to what would otherwise have probably been the cost of maintenance.

5. The revenue collected in the last three years on the works mentioned in the above statement is shown below :—

Head.	Revenue
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Water-rates	10,43,341	12,38,612	9,46,808
Navigation	7,88,685	8,34,780	8,22,187
Miscellaneous	80,170	50,888	1,17,593
Total	19,12,198	21,19,280	18,86,588

6. The assessments or earnings of the same year are as follows :—

Head.	Earnings.
	1886-87.	1885-86.	1884-85.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Water-rates	9,49,260	10,45,339	13,41,655
Navigation	7,88,685	8,34,780	8,21,876
Miscellaneous	80,171	90,481	81,519
Total	18,18,116	19,70,600	22,45,050

The revenue shows a falling off under both heads of water-rates and navigation. As regards the water-rate, the decrease is due partly to the falling off in the area irrigated, and partly to the much smaller amount of arrears to be collected as compared with the balance at the beginning of the previous year. Allusion is made to the falling off in navigation further on.

The excess of revenue over the assessments is due largely to the collections of arrears of water-rates of former years.

7. The arrears of water-rates outstanding at the close of each of the last three years, are shown in the statement following :—

Name of canal.	Arrears.
	1st April 1887.	1st April 1886.	1st April 1885.
	Rs.	Rs	Rs.
Orissa Canals	87,458	64,884	77,869
Midnapore Canal	50,749	69,972	1,11,212
Sone Canals	2,31,582	3,98,321	6,95,208
Sarun Canals	26,437	15,912	40,022
Total ...	3,96,226	5,49,089	9,24,311

The result for the year may be considered favourable, and shows a satisfactory reduction in the total amount of arrears. The remissions made amount to a comparatively small sum, and point to an improved system of working both as regards assessments and collections.

8. To understand more clearly the results of the working of the year, it is necessary to distinguish between the collections of arrears and those of the current demand. Of the former a sum of Rs. 4,10,658 or 77 per cent. of the outstandings of former years was adjusted. Of this amount 86·4 per cent. was collected, 5·5 written off as irrecoverable, and 8·1 per cent. remitted. Of the current year's demands (which include Rs. 43,645 not payable till after the expiry of the year) Rs. 2,37,196 or 25 per cent. only is left for recovery, 0·3 per cent. was remitted and the balance collected. On the Sone canals very good results were obtained, more especially in the Shahabad district. A considerable sum of arrears was, however, written off as irrecoverable. In Gya an improvement in collections is apparent, and the remissions are unimportant. In Patna, although remissions are less than in the other districts, the collections were considerably smaller. In Orissa remissions were merely nominal; but collections of the current demand cannot be considered satisfactory, and resulted in an increase in the arrear balance at the end of the year. The results in Midnapore are satisfactory both as regards collections and remissions. In Sarun the collections of the year, including arrears, amounted to less than one half of the total of the guarantee for the year, a result which must be considered far from satisfactory. On the whole the results of the year, with the exception noted above, show a considerable improvement in the working of the principal systems; and the Lieutenant-Governor notices with approval that the orders of the Local Government have received the careful attention of Civil officers. The arrears still amount, however, to a large proportion of the year's assessments, and Sir Steuart Bayley is hopeful that a continuance of the measures introduced will result in a further reduction of arrears, and allow of greater facilities for the prompt realization of the current demand.

9. The total number of certificates for the recovery of arrears issued during the year was 30,504 against 60,942 in the previous year in all districts. None were issued in the Gya District. The decrease is attributable chiefly to the large numbers previously issued under the stringent orders of Government for the recovery of arrears, but it is confidently expected that less recourse to this procedure will be necessary in future. The immediate effect of the increased exertion in collecting arrears has doubtless had its effects in bringing about the state of friction which subsequently rendered necessary the appointment of a Commission to enquire into the working of the Sone Revenue system.

10. Information regarding complaints is either non-existent or very meagre in the reports from Superintending Engineers and Revenue Authorities so that it is impossible to say whether the canal administration worked smoothly or not. That it was not doing so formerly is clearly shown by the agitations of late years on the Orissa and Sone Canals; but, from what little can be gathered on this point in the reports, there appears to be no doubt that there was a decided improvement in this respect in the year under review. Further information should be afforded in future reports.

11. The areas irrigated (actuals) during the last three years are detailed in the following table.

NOTE.—The figures for the Sone canals for the years 1884-85 and 1885-86 do not agree with those given in last year's Resolution. The reason is that last year the areas "assessed" within the year were given as the areas "irrigated" the figures for 1884-85 not being then available. The figures now given have been obtained from the Superintending Engineer's report, and show the areas actually irrigated within each year.

A still further decrease in the total area under irrigation has taken place, and the reason is not difficult to assign. The decline is entirely in annual leases, and chiefly on the Sone canals. The season was one of favourable rainfall, and the need for irrigation not pressing. On the other hand the steady increase in the area under five-years' leases on the Sone and in the area leased on the Orissa canals which is almost entirely under five-years leases, appears to be a satisfactory indication that the idea is gaining ground that it is advantageous to lease for a long term at a reduced rate as an insurance against failure in a bad year of rainfall; and the result will be probably a gradual extension of irrigation which cannot be expected under a system of short leases, the irrigation under which is subject to fluctuation with the amount and distribution of the rainfall.

12. The tollage collections from the various canals for the last three years are given in the table following :—

YEAR.	Orissa Canals.	Midnapore Canal.	Hidgellee Tidal Canal.	Orissa Coast Canal.	Sone Canals.	Calcutta and Eastern Canals.	Total.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.

1886-87	58,664	1,00,693	51,904	26,587	49,665	4,73,193	7,71,706

(a) In last year's Resolution Rs. 10,023 on account of demurrage was omitted and Rs. 26,286, miscellaneous receipts, wrongly added. The figure has therefore been reduced by the difference, viz., Rs. 16,261.

There is a decrease in tollage collections on all canals except the Sone and Orissa Coast. On the latter the increase is due to a further length of 55 miles having been temporarily opened for traffic. The whole length has been opened out during the current year, and the canal route from Gewankally on the Hooghly through to Cuttack is now established.

13. The causes that have led to a diminution in the receipts are chiefly the depression in the rice and jute trade, and do not point to any permanent decline in the traffic. The receipts on the Calcutta and Eastern Canals were also affected by alterations in tolls. In Orissa the traffic was to some extent impeded by the low level of the water in the Kendrapara and High Level Canals, but is also due to the falling off in the exports of rice from the Central Provinces on account of absence of floods in the Mahanadi.

14. In the Nuddea Rivers the receipts are higher than those of the previous four years, the cause being attributed to the favourable state of the channels and to an increase in trade generally.

15. With the exception of the revenue report of the Superintending Engineer of the South-Western Circle, all the reports were received with fair punctuality. In the case of the South-Western Circle the report was delayed owing to the ill-health of the Superintending Engineer. There was an improvement in the date of receipt of the Examiner's Finance Accounts.

ORDER—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution and of the note and its accompaniments be submitted to the Government of India, in the Public Works Department, for information; also that copies be forwarded to the Appointment, Revenue, and Financial Departments of this Government; the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces; the Commissioners of the Presidency, Burdwan, Patna and Orissa Divisions; the Collectors of the 24-Pergunnahs, Nuddea, Hooghly, Midnapore, Burdwan, Patna, Shahabad, Gya, Sarun, Cuttack and Balasore; the Superintending Engineers of the Orissa, South-Western and Sone Circles; and the Examiner of Public Works Accounts, Bengal, for information.

In comparison with the year 1885-86, the total length of canals for irrigation and navigation remained the same, but a length of 46¾ miles of distributary and village channels was added during the year, providing for an additional area of 11,437 acres.

12. The rainfall of the year 1886-87 and of the previous year is shown in table No. IVE. From this it appears that the average fall throughout the canal area was, both for the kharif and the year, greater than that of the year 1885-86. RAINFALL.

RAINFALL.

The average rainfall in the immediate neighbourhood of the Orissa canals, calculated on the figures at thirteen stations for eighteen years, is 56·28 inches. The fall of the year 1886-87 at the same stations was 60·07 inches, or 3·79 inches above the average.

From statistics of rainfall in the upper districts drained by the Mahanadi, it appears that the average fall for the year was 16·90 inches less than that for the year 1885-86, and 12·97 inches less than the average of the last six years, so that the volume passing down this river was much less than usual.

The following statements are deduced from the subsidiary rainfall returns given by the Superintending Engineer and from previous reports:—

The above show that, as regards the kharif season, the rainfall was everywhere abundant and above the average, more especially in the month of September.

14. The area irrigated is also that assessed during the year, showing an improvement of 5,370 acres chiefly in five-year leases, and there was a considerable decrease in the area illicitly irrigated. The statement below gives a comparison for three years. AREA IRRIGATED.

		Acres.	Acres.	Acres.
Karif ...	Five-year leases	73,699	65,762	54,241

Total, including unauthorized irrigation ...		77,709	72,339	58,942
Total, excluding unauthorized irrigation ...		76,355	67,585	57,372

In the above statement 1,148 acres free irrigation of chaukidar's jagirs is not included, the total area actually irrigated being therefore 78,857 acres. This area ought to have been included in the assessments in order to make the assessed and irrigated areas agree, and then shown as a free grant. It cannot now be included in the returns for the year under review, as the details are wanting, but will be in future. The area leased is given by the Deputy Revenue Superintendent as 87,394 acres, but of this total, 13,627 acres, inclusive of the area of chaukidar's jagirs, were excluded from assessment. The practice in Orissa for three years past has been to delay the issue of the demand statements until it was finally ascertained what areas should be excluded from assessment for such reasons as non-receipt of water, failure of crops, &c. Such areas, more especially in the case of five-year leases, would more properly be shown as remissions, the demand being made at the time laid down in the rules on the area as leased. There does not appear to have been any authority for the procedure adopted in this matter by the Canal Revenue Department, and it is opposed to the spirit of the rules passed under the Irrigation Act.

15. There is a considerable decrease in the unauthorized or surreptitious irrigation, as will be seen from the foregoing statement, which decrease, according to the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, is "an index that there was little or no water to spare, especially when it was most wanted on leased areas." What this means is not very clear; but, apparently, the conclusion to be drawn is that, had there not been a scarcity of water, the area of unauthorised irrigation would have been as large as usual; and, if this be the case, it neither reflects credit on the administration, nor does it give hope that the people are taking more kindly to lawful modes of irrigation. UNAUTHORISED IRRIGATION.

16. The total of the area 87,394 acres, shown as leased by the Deputy Revenue Superintendent, cannot be considered correct; since for some years past 8,465 acres, which were included in five-year leases in 1883, have been regularly excluded from assessment as non-irrigable, instead of revision being made of the original leases. The area excluded from assessment as having suffered loss or on account of non-receipt of water in consequence of the breach in the Mahanadi weir was 4,014 acres. FIVE-YEAR LEASES.

17. The assessments of water-rates during the year under review are compared below with those of the two previous years:— ASSESSMENTS.

	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Water-rates	1,25,676	1,05,019	82,185

These figures do not represent the assessments of the crops irrigated in each year; they show the assessments which are legally due within the year, and include a portion of the assessments of the crop of the year and a portion of the assessments of the crop of the previous year, and some arrears for still earlier years.

Of the amount assessed during 1886-87, the sum of assessments on account of previous years was Rs. 50,530, and that on account of the current year Rs. 75,146.

The increase over the two previous years is due to the steady increase in the kharif irrigation, that is to say, practically, five-years' leases; for a portion of the increase is due to the improvement in the year under review as compared with 1885-86; and a portion to the assessments for 1885-86 falling due in 1886-87 being larger than the assessments for 1884-85 falling due in 1885-86.

COMPLAINTS.

18. No information is afforded regarding the number of complaints, their nature, or how disposed of. It is, however, clear that they exist from the fact that assessment papers are delayed for the correction of mistakes, and that unauthorised irrigation is always a source of complaint and friction. In future detailed information regarding complaints, in connection both with irrigation (authorised and unauthorised) and with miscellaneous matters, should be given. Complaints in connection with unauthorised irrigation should be clearly distinguished from the rest.

COLLECTIONS AND REMISSIONS.

19. The balance of water-rates outstanding on the 1st April 1886 was Rs. 64,884, and the amount falling due during 1886-87, being Rs. 1,25,676, the amount for recovery was Rs. 1,90,560. Of this sum, the cash realisations during the year aggregated Rs. 96,976, and the remissions amounted to Rs. 6,126. The total amount adjusted during the year under review being Rs. 1,03,102, the balance outstanding on the 1st April 1887 was Rs. 87,458. This increase of the unrealised balance of assessments is in a great measure due to the breach in the Mahanadi anicut. The mere fact of the breach, even where damage to crops had not occurred, was considered a sufficient reason for lessees to be unwilling to pay the assessments on unirrigated areas, and even when water had been supplied they made the breach a plea for withholding payment. But for this accident, it is probable that the voluntary payments would have been more numerous, and the revised estimate of Rs. 1,44,000 realised.

The following statement shows the collection operations of the year in a form similar to that given in last year's report:—

	Outstandings of all years up to and including 1885-86.			Demands due in 1886-87 for the irrigation of that year.

The outstandings on account of 1886-87 and previous years on the 1st April 1887 were respectively as below:—

						Rs.
1881-82	...	...	...	...	...	509
1882-83	...	...	...	...	...	1,758
1883-84	...	...	...	...	...	4,168

1886-87	...	...	...	...	...	51,407
				Total arrears	...	87,458

The collection of the older arrears continues satisfactory, and there is again an improvement in the reduction of amounts remitted.

REVENUE SYSTEM.

20. The revenue system of the Orissa canals still remains the same, and the work of assessment of water-rates has not yet been made over to the officers of the Public Works Department. The delay was due in a great measure to the difficulty of re-arranging the old establishments. An enquiry is now being held into the working of the Sone canals system, and until such time as the report of the Commission now sitting has been considered, the introduction of any change does not appear advisable.

DUTY OF WATER.

21. Statement IE gives the duty of water on the different canals. That of 6·97 acres per cubic foot for the High Level Canal, Range II, is evidently incorrect, and is due to the loss on account of navigation, of which apparently no account is kept, and to escape through temporary outlets, the area under irrigation being also very small.

The duty on the remaining canals for the kharif crop on the discharge utilised varies from 182 acres for the Taldundah system to 85 acres for the High Level Canal, Range III.

The absence of distributaries practically vitiates the results from the High Level Canal, Ranges II and III.

The Kendrapara Canal system includes the Pattamoondi and Gobri Canals, for which also no distributaries have been provided, and the Superintending Engineer shows that, taking the Kendrapara Canal separately, the duty is 106 acres.

The under-mentioned canals give, therefore, probably the best results, but even these cannot be considered trustworthy:—

	Duty on discharge at head.	Duty on discharge utilised.
Kendrapara Canal	92	106
Taldundah Canal system ...	112	182
High Level Canal, Range I ...	110	169

The duties calculated on the gross discharge at the head are pretty even, but they cannot be relied upon, for in the High Level Canal no allowance is made for water flowing into the canal through drainage inlets, and the Kendrapara Canal irrigating the largest area, 30,872* acres against 18,576 for the Taldundah, and 12,400 for the High Level, gives the lowest duty. No reason is assigned for the high duty on the Taldundah Canal. Taking the duty on the discharge utilised, the Kendrapara canal still gives the lowest result, but the quantity utilised, 291 cubic feet out of 333 as given by the Superintending Engineer, is proportionately much larger than that utilised on the other two canals.

* Irrespective of the Pattamoondi and Gobri Canals.

The area of rabi under all canals being small, the calculations of duty are valueless.

CROP EXPERIMENTS.

22. During the year 175 experiments on the outturn of crops were made, 91 of which were upon irrigated areas. The outturn in the case of both irrigated and unirrigated land was below the average of the previous five years by 4·05 maunds of paddy and 6·36 maunds of straw per acre for the former, and 2·73 maunds paddy and 3·91 maunds straw for the latter. No explanation is forthcoming as to why the falling off on the irrigated crop was greater than on the unirrigated. The total average outturn for the year was 15·66 maunds of paddy and 23·87 maunds of straw on irrigated, and 12·25 of paddy and 19·20 of straw on unirrigated land. The increased value per acre of produce in favour of irrigation was Rs. 3·86.

REVENUE ESTABLISHMENT.

23. The revenue establishment of the year cost Rs. 37,005. The following statement shows the details, and compares the figures of the year under review with the similar figures of the two previous years:—

24. The receipts under the head "Navigation" amounted to Rs. 67,048, of which Rs. 8,384 were on account of the earnings of the transport service, and Rs. 58,664 from tolls on boats and rafts. The collections for ten years under the above heads are given in the table below:—

There is a falling off from the previous year under all heads, due to the accident to the Mahanuddy weir, which reduced the level of the water in the Mahanuddy and Berupa rivers to such an extent as to seriously interfere with the navigation of the canals during the last four months of the year.

The up traffic on these canals was during the year considerably in excess of the down. This was due entirely to the falling off in the exports of grain, partly on account of the impeded navigation, and in a greater measure to the absence of floods in the Mahanuddy, which prevented grain being brought down as usual from Sumbhalpur; 19,594 tons of grain only were carried against 57,941 tons in the previous year.

PASSENGERS.

26. There was again a considerable increase in the passenger traffic on all, but chiefly on the Taldandah Canal.

TRANSPORT SERVICE.

27. The steamer services between Chandbally and Cuttack by way of the Kendrapara Canal continued to be maintained by the same three companies as worked the traffic in the previous year, in conjunction with the ocean steamers running from Calcutta, though under difficulties on account of the low supply in the upper reaches of the Kendrapara Canal.

The only line of steamer navigation now worked by Government in the Orissa Circle, in fact in Bengal, is that on the High Level Canal between Cuttack and Bhuddruck, a distance of 75 miles by canal and river; and during the year under review the steamers Pioneer and Aurora were employed upon this line. In consequence of the accident to the Mahanuddy weir, the working of the service was seriously interrupted and unsatisfactory.

The working expenses and earnings of the steamers amounted, respectively, to Rs. 12,247 and Rs. 8,384, the result being a loss of Rs. 3,863 against the profit of Rs. 3,379, which was obtained in the year preceding. This was chiefly due to the interrupted service mentioned above, and also to the difficulty in keeping free from silt the navigable channel across the Brahmini river, so that often cargo and passengers had to be taken to their journey's end by tracking; more especially was this the case when, after October, on account of the bad state of her boiler, the Pioneer had to be taken off the service, and only one steamer was available for it.

MISCELLANEOUS RECEIPTS.

28. The miscellaneous receipts for the year under review are compared by sub-heads with those of the previous year in the following table:—

SOURCE OF REVENUE.	YEAR IN WHICH RECEIVED.		DIFFERENCE.
	1886-87.	1885-86.	Increase.	Decrease.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Plantations	1,885	981	904	.....
Rent of lands	5,340	7,337	.....	1,997
Canal produce	676	1,508	.....	832
Rent of buildings	4,936	4,739	197	.....
Sale of old materials	35	4	31	.....
Fisheries	650	493	157	.....
Sale of water	86	190	.....	104
Miscellaneous	1,979	1,244	735	.....
Total ...	15,587	16,496	2,024	2,933

The most serious falling off is under the head "Rent of lands." This appears to be due to the rule having been introduced of giving only annual leases to prevent the acquisition of rights of occupancy. The result has been either a decrease in the area leased out, or in the rents obtained, though it is not very clear which.

REVENUE.

29. The total revenue for the last ten years under the three main heads is shown in the following statement:—

YEARS.	Water-rates.	Navigation.	Miscellaneous.	Total.

A comparison of the figures in the two foregoing statements shows the loss in working the canals during the last six years, which was as follows :—

	Rs.
1881-82	1,05,509
1882 83	21 530
1883-84	54,822
1884-85	1,72.152
1885-86	1,35,227
1886-87	3,22,321

MAINTENANCE.

31. The following statement shows by sub heads the cost of maintenance, exclusive of that of the transport service, during the year under review, with the corresponding figures of the past two years :—

	1886 87.	1885-86.	1884-85.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Head works	2,34,500	61,899	67,581

Drainage works	15,512	16,807	6,125
Total ...	3,46,383	2,12,452	1,89,780

The great increase in the cost of maintenance is entirely under head works, all other main heads of expenditure showing a decrease.

WEIRS.

32. A breach took place in the Mahanuddy anicut on the first rise of the river at the end of June, involving a portion of the north end of the centre sluices and adjoining weir wall. A heavy outlay was incurred in the first instance in constructing a stone dam ; the total expenditure on the repairs of the weir, including maintenance, amounted to Rs. 1,70,778 against Rs. 16,773 for the previous year. The repairs to the breach were not completed within the year, and a portion of the expenditure thereon will therefore fall on the year 1887-88. An accident also occurred to the Naraj weir, the greater number of the piers of the shore sluices being overturned in the month of September; the cost of repairs was Rs. 16,872 against Rs. 8,686 in 1885-86. In this case also the repairs were not completed within the year. There was excess expenditure also on the Beropa, Bhramini, Pattia and Barrah weirs over the outlay of the previous year; due, in the case of the last three weirs, to extensive repairs being required to the aprons; and, in the case of the Beropa, to the necessity for deepening the channel above for navigation, and to increase the flow down the river for the purpose of facilitating the repairs of the Mahanuddy weir. The average cost of repairs per foot run of the seven weirs was increased from Rs. 2·79 in the previous year to Rs. 12·20.

MAIN CANALS.

33. The following statement shows the expenditure for the year 1886-87, and the three previous years, on the maintenance of the canals :—

It is satisfactory to notice that the mileage rates for the maintenance of all canals has diminished, the only exception being the Machgong Canal. The decrease is partly attributed to the saving in work establishment and "miscellaneous." Dredging silt and weed-clearing also were required less on most of the lines, whilst on some the decrease was in a great measure due to the expenditure in 1885-86 having been abnormal on account of the cyclone of September 1885. The canals were closed for silt clearance as below:—

Dredging and silt clearance.

34. No return has been furnished of the silt clearance of Ranges II and III of the High Level Canal. On the remaining canals, 4,411,838 cubic feet of silt was cleared by hand at a cost of Rs. 12,807, or at an average rate of Rs. 2-14-6 per 1,000 cubic feet.

The quantity of silt cleared by dredging on the same canals was 124,066 cubic feet, at a cost of Rs. 2,089, or at an average rate of Rs. 16-13 per 1,000 cubic feet.

Distributaries.

35. The following statement shows the cost of repairs to distributaries for the year 1886-87, and the three previous years:—

The mileage rate for maintenance has decreased on all canals except the Machgong Canal, and in all cases the rate is low.

The total capital outlay (direct charges) up to the end of the year 1886-87 amounted to Rs. 82,61,992. The estimates sanctioned by the Secretary of State being for Rs. 83,16,768, there remained a balance of Rs. 54,776 at the close of the year, but it is expected that the capital account of this canal will be closed at an early date.

The interest charges of this canal up to the end of the year 1885-86 have been revised in accordance with the orders of the Government of India.

37. The revenue account calculated on the "earnings" of the year is given below. Direct charges only are shown:— EARNINGS

The water-rates on lands irrigated during the year are due within the year. The amount of water-rates shown as earned includes arrear assessments for former years.

38. The following table shows the rainfall for the year 1886-87 and the three previous years:— RAINFALL

	Inches.	Inches.	Inches.	Inches.	Inches.

Contai	48·24	76·45	77·30	70·31	70·19

The rainfall during the year under review was considerably less than that of the previous year, and below the average of seventeen years previous to the year 1886-87. It was, however, well and seasonably distributed, so that the demand for canal water was not very pressing, and there was no loss from excessive rainfall anywhere in the irrigable area.

39. The area under lease, which is the same as the area irrigated, was 69,762 acres against 70,604 irrigated in the previous year. No rabi leases were executed, and 256 acres only were under annual leases, leaving 69,506 acres under five-year leases up to the end of the year against 67,399 for the previous year. Of the above leases, 20,285 acres expired on the 31st March 1887, including 256 acres under annual lease. The total area under lease may be thus classified:— AREA LEASED

			Acres.
Leases which expired on 31st March	1887	... ...	20,285
" " will expire "	1888	... ...	32,875
" " " " "	1889	... ...	12,530
" " " " "	1890	... ...	2,276
" " " " "	1891	... ...	1,796
		Total ...	69,762

Two hundred and fifty-six acres were surreptitiously irrigated and assessed, but afterwards admitted as annual leases, being also the total of such leases. Since no five-year leases expired in 1885-86 (see last year's Note), the leases for 1,796 acres shown above as expiring on 31st March 1887 may be taken as new leases executed during the year under review. Of this large area of 20,029 acres under five-year leases which expired on the 31st March 1887, it is stated that leases for 11,483 acres had been renewed up to the end of July 1887.

AREA IRRIGATED.

40. The following table compares the irrigation of the year 1886-87 with that of the two previous years, and gives the proportions between the areas irrigated and commanded:—

Of the total area 88 acres only were irrigated by lift. The entire area irrigated by this canal is rice.

COMPLAINTS.

41. There is no information about complaints against the assessments or under any other head, and the remarks made on this point in paragraph 18, under the Orissa Canals, apply also to this canal. The information should be supplied in future.

DUTY OF WATER.

42. The duty of water for the four months of the kharif season from July to October is given by the Superintending Engineer, for the discharge utilized, as 134 acres per cubic foot for the area under the Midnapore weir, and 231 acres for that under the Panchkoora weir. This represents a total depth of 21 inches over the whole area in the former case, and 12 inches in the latter for four, or may be five, waterings. This difference is probably due to the fact that the area under the Panchkoora weir is low lying as compared with that under the Midnapore weir. In a year of seasonable rainfall, therefore, the former would be more likely to be benefited by drainage supplementing the water received from the canal: this would be the case with the lands under the Midnapore weir.

43 The following comparative statement shows the balances, assessments, and recoveries of water-rates on the Midnapore Canal since the year 1882-83:—

YEAR.	Amount outstanding at commencement of year.	Amount falling due during the year.	Total for recovery.	Cash realisation.	Remitted or written off.	Balance at the end of the year.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.

COLLECTIONS.

The amount of the cash realisations was almost identically the same as that of the previous year, although the total for recovery was considerably less, the percentage of collections being 61·01 of the whole, which may be considered a favourable result. The amount of remissions, which were, practically, entirely arrears of previous years, has sensibly decreased; but this result was to be anticipated, considering the large remissions of arrears in the previous two years. The balance outstanding at the end of the year shows improvement, and the Deputy Revenue Superintendent is hopeful that all arrears will be cleared off in the present year, and the realisations of the current demand thereby facilitated.

REMISSIONS.

CERTIFICATE PROCEDURE.

44. There were 6,965 certificates filed against 17,501 for the previous year, the falling off being attributed to the large number previously issued under the peremptory orders of Government for the recovery of all arrears.

45. There is a slight increase in the cost of revenue establishment under the Collector, the amount being Rs 23,064 against Rs 21,875 for the previous year. The percentage of cost on the total collections, which amounted to Rs. 1,23,769, is 18·63 against 17 89 for the previous year. REVENUE ESTABLISHMENT.

46. The total receipts under the head of Navigation amounted to Rs. 1,09,693 against Rs 1,37,578 for the previous year, showing a considerable decrease. Of the total Rs. 8,639 was on account of tolls from the Calcutta Steam Navigation Company, and Rs. 1,01,054 was the tollage on private boats and rafts. NAVIGATION.

(a) Exclusive of Rs 8,639 tolls from Steam Navigation Company.
(b) Exclusive of 96,413 passengers carried by Company's steamer.
(c) Includes 15,066 passenger boats and 12,287 empty boats.
(d) Includes 81,619 and 41,153 tons passenger and empty boats, respectively.

There was a very considerable falling off in the toll collections. Of the total number of boats plying, the number carrying cargo was 18,466 against 19,892 for the previous year. This decrease is due to the slackness in the export trade of grain on account of its low price in the Calcutta market. The number of boats and the g oss tonnage shows an increase, but this is chiefly under the head of passenger boats, the number being 15,066 against 7,788 for the previous year.

48. The collections of the year under the head "Miscellaneous" aggregated Rs. 15,658 against Rs. 16,197 collected during the year 1885-86. MISCELLANEOUS.

49. The statements below show the receipts on revenue account and working expenses of the Midnapore canal since 1877-78; the figures are for direct charges only :— REVENUE AND WORKING EXPENSES.

MAINTENANCE.

50. On head works the expenditure was Rs. 9,149 against Rs. 12,864 in the previous year. The expenditure on weirs was Rs. 1·60 per foot run of the Midnapore weir, and Rs. 3·92 for the Panchkura weir, against Rs. 3·24 and Rs. 1·13, respectively, the year previous. Repairs to the under sluices of the former were omitted, as there was no closure of the upper reaches, and in the case of the latter weir extensive repairs were carried out to the under sluice shutters.

The following table shows the maintenance charges per mile of main canal and distributaries since the year 1880-81:—

Year.	Main canal.			Distributaries.

1886-87	48	1,20,135	2,503	283	17,617	63

NOTE.—The increase in the length of distributaries is not due to any additional length completed during the year, but to the correct measurement being given.

The expenditure on main canal includes the head works and, as well as the expenditure on distributaries, shows an increase over that of the previous year Exceptional repairs and alterations were carried out on the tidal locks at a cost of Rs. 36,892 against Rs. 13,694 and Rs. 7,184 during the two preceding years. Special repairs were also carried out to the Danian lock at a cost of Rs. 5,967. Under earthwork Rs. 23,043 was expended in the silt clearance of the tidal reaches by hand labour, a quantity of 4,555,514 cubic feet being removed at a cost of Rs. 5-10·9 per 1,000 cubic feet. The silt clearance of the first reach of the canal was again omitted this year. The cost of silt clearance by dredging was Rs. 22,688.

DREDGING.

51. The only silt clearance carried out by dredging was in the lock entrances of the tidal reaches, very little work being done in the reaches themselves which, as stated above, were cleared by hand. The outturn of the hydraulic dredgers Atlas and Ajax averaged 2,775 and 6,200 cubic feet per day respectively, not by any means a favourable result, but one which would be accounted for by the work being carried out in a tide-way and with frequent interruptions. The cost of excavation in the case of the Ajax was Rs. 4·13 per 1,000 cubic feet, and in the case of the Atlas Rs. 18·83. The former rate is an improvement on that of the preceding year, while the latter is exceptionally high, and due to the Atlas requiring thorough repairs. The total quantity of work done by all dredgers was 2,496,525 cubic feet at a cost, including removal of silt in barges, of Rs. 9-1 per 1,000 cubic feet.

RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURE.

52. The subjoined table shows the receipts and expenditure, including indirect charges, for the last five years, and the net revenue:—

Year.	Receipts.	Expenditure.	Net revenue.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1882-83	2,68,010	2,46,502	+21,508
1883-84	2,64,576	2,23,586	+40,990
1884-85	2,57,955	2,31,915	+26,040
1885-86	2,62,484	2,18,127	+44,357
1886-87	2,34,185	2,35,249	— 1,064

The result for the year is most disappointing, and is mainly due to the diminished receipts on account of navigation and the increased expenditure on account of the special repairs to tidal locks.

The works of which this canal consists were completed in 1873. A supplementary estimate for this project, amounting to Rs. 10,39,571, was submitted in March 1886 to the Government of India in connection with the revised estimate for the Orissa Coast Canal. It has been received back for further information regarding its financial prospects, and is being further revised on account of alteration in the works, but is expected to be ready for resubmission on an early date.

The interest charges have been recalculated from the commencement in accordance with the orders of the Government of India The total receipts on revenue account were Rs. 54,404 against Rs. 52,455 for the previous year. The increase is due to miscellaneous receipts entirely, the navigation receipts being Rs. 51,904 against Rs. 52,143 for 1885-86.

The traffic in grain was slightly less than that of the previous year owing, it is believed, to the price of rice and paddy having fallen in the Calcutta market.

It is probable, however, that, but for the silted up state of this canal, the traffic would have shown on the whole an increase.

MISCELLANEOUS RECEIPTS.

55. There was an increase of Rs. 2,188 in miscellaneous receipts, chiefly on account of fisheries.

LENGTHS OF CANALS.

59. The areas commanded and irrigable, and lengths of canals and distributaries open, are shown in the table following:—

DIVISION.	Navigable canals.	Branch canals.	Distributaries.	Gross area under command.	Maximum discharge of canal.	AREA WHICH CAN BE IRRIGATED.
						Kharif.	Rabi.	Total.
	Miles.	Miles.	Miles.	Acres.	Cubic feet per second.	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.

Buxar	68½	77½	33½	704,000
Total ...	218½	148½	1,158½	1,722,509	5,955	476,400	540,000	1,016,400

A length of 4¼ miles, from mile 5 to mile 9¼, has been transferred from the Arrah to the Buxar Division.

A length of five miles of distributary only was added to the total length of channels in the Eastern Sone Division. At the same time there has been a correction of one and-a-half miles less in the channels of the Arrah Canal, and the net result therefore is an increase of three and-a-half miles to the length of distributary channels.

60. The area irrigable is calculated for kharif at 80 acres per cubic foot of maximum discharge, and for rabi at 180 acres per cubic foot, allowing 3,000 cubic feet per second as the available supply. Of the total area commanded 1,728,509 acres, 1,350,396 are said to be cultivable, so that the areas which can be irrigated in the kharif and rabi, respectively, as shown by the above statement, represent about 35 and 40 per cent. of the culturable area. But, as mentioned in last year's report, the kharif irrigation has never yet reached 250,000 acres (exclusive of sugarcane), and it is doubtful whether it will ever be possible, for reasons then stated, to irrigate eventually more than two-thirds of the estimated kharif area, or whether more than one-fifth of the estimated rabi area will ever require canal water. It is probable, therefore, that 24 and 8 per cent. of the culturable area represent more correctly the areas which can be irrigated in the kharif and rabi respectively.

61. The following table shows the progress made with village channels and outlets:— VILLAGE CHANNELS

DIVISION.	Total length of village channels completed.	Total number of temporary and permanent outlets.	Number of permanent outlets.
	Miles.	No.	No.
Eastern Sone Division	245½	1,988	26

Total 1886-87	1 518	5,652	654
Total 1885-86	1,505	5,907	618

Of the total length of 1,518 miles of village channels completed, only 178 miles were constructed by Government agency, and the remaining 1,340 miles by private individuals. The latter figures are merely approximate.

A material reduction has been made in the number of temporary outlets in the Arrah and Eastern Sone Divisions

The rainfall of the year was exceptionally heavy, the average for 22 stations being 59·34 inches against an average yearly quantity for the whole area commanded by the Sone Canals of 40·89 inches. The Superintending Engineer remarks:—"In 1886-87, for the kharif season and the year the fall was much beyond that observed in the previous year, and also greatly in excess of the average. In the rabi season, compared with 1885-86, there was a falling off, but the rainfall in October 1886, 8·92 inches against 0·45 inches in October 1885, was so plentiful, and there was a further fall in January, that the character of the season for that crop was in reality much more favourable also. In point of fact the rainfall of the year was heavier, and as regards the crops better distributed than in any since 1869-70, when the Sone Canal project was taken in hand."

AREAS LEASED AND IRRIGATED.

63. In former year's reports the areas assessed with water-rates within the year have been taken as the standpoint from which the irrigation for the year has been discussed. Exception was taken to this in last year's report, and an attempt made to give the areas actually irrigated within last year for the purposes of comparison. In this year's report this plan has been still further matured, and for preceding years the figures have, as far as practicable, been recast on the above lines, and only such figures used, except when it is otherwise specially stated. They will consequently differ in many cases from those given in preceding Revenue Reports.

64 The following statement shows the area leased and irrigated for three years:—

(a) Includes 68 acres leased after 1st April 1887, with effect from the 25th June 1886.
(b) Of the area actually irrigated in 1884-85 in the Arrah Division, and either not leased at all, or leased under annual leases, 5,729 acres were leased under five-year leases in 1885-86, with effect from 1st April 1884.

The Superintending Engineer remarks that a small proportion of the leased area was not irrigated on account of timely rainfall.

The result of the year's operations shows a falling off of 32,191 acres in the area leased from that of the previous year. The area irrigated was less by 64,366 acres, of which more than two-thirds was the deficiency in the Buxar Division. The deficiency is sufficiently accounted for by the abnormal quantity of rain.

FIVE-YEAR LEASES.

It is satisfactory, however, that in a year of such favourable rainfall the area under five-year leases continued to increase, more especially taking into account that leases for 39,075 acres fell in during the year. New five-year leases, either renewals or fresh leases, were issued for 59,665 acres.

ASSESSMENT

The area of all crops grown in the year, assessed during the year, deducting that cancelled in khationies, was 264,744 acres against 246,812 leased. In addition to the above, 30,886 acres, appertaining to the irrigation of 1885-86, were assessed, making a total of 295,630 acres, on which the earnings of the year should be calculated.

The improvement in the proportion of the area irrigated for which leases had been previously granted continues.

Taking into account five-year leases, the following are the irrigated areas by crops compared with those of the previous year:—

	1886-87.	1885-86.	Difference.
	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.
Kharif	177,510	217,072	—39,562
Rabi	45,361	77,079	—31,718

Hot weather ...	15,278	10,857	+4,421
Total ...	268,204	332,570	—64,366

In dividing the area under five-year leases under kharif, rabi and sugarcane in the Buxar Division, $\frac{6}{13}$ths of the total area is taken as kharif, $\frac{3}{13}$ths rabi, and $\frac{1}{12}$th sugarcane. For the other divisions, $\frac{8}{10}$ths is taken as kharif and $\frac{1}{10}$th each rabi and sugarcane. The Superintending Engineer states that these proportions have been shown to be approximately correct.

The figures used in the corresponding statement of the previous year's report represent the areas assessed; those now given are the areas actually irrigated, except for the two years 1882-83 and 1883-84, for which the latter are not available.

FLOW AND LIFT.

65. The proportion of flow to lift irrigation was 96·5, to 3·5—the figures for the last three years are—1885-86, 95 to 5; 1884-85, 93 to 7; and 1883-84, 90 to 10.

DUTY.

66. The following statement shows the duty obtaining in the year under review and in the previous one:—

		Duty on gross supply .	42·6	128·0	116·1	121·7	99·9

The duty for kharif is calculated on the supply entering the canals during the three months, August to October, and that for rabi on the discharge utilised during the four months, November to February. This method was first adopted in the report for the year 1884-85, and has been continued since.

The increased duty in the kharif season is attributed to the plentiful and seasonable rainfall, so much water not being required for rice irrigation as was necessary in the year preceding. The gross average discharge of the canals in the kharif season fell from 3,059 cubic feet per second in 1885-86 to 2,172 cubic feet in 1886-87. The low duty in the Eastern Sone Division is accounted for by the great percolation in some parts of the division owing to the sandy nature of the soil. The Superintending Engineer states that—"The main reason of the lower duty in the rabi season is that only water escaping from canals is excluded in calculating the duty, the whole of that admitted into distributaries being taken into account. The supply in distributaries has to be kept above what is actually necessary for irrigation to admit of the level of the water therein reaching the height necessary for flow irrigation, and the percentage of water wasted is also higher on a smaller area." For the purposes of comparing with other canal systems the duties on discharge utilised must be taken for the the kharif, and from Form I. E. these appear to be:—

Eastern Main Canal Series	94·2
Western „ „ „	190·6
Sone Canals generally	159·0

But it must be remembered that the figures given in connection with the kharif are taken with reference to the three months, August to October, only.

CROP EXPERIMENTS.

67. Experiments were carried out on crops irrigated by canal water in 263 cases, and in 256 on crops irrigated from other sources The result is in favour of canal irrigation for the rice crop, the average yield being 17 maunds 3 seers of grain and 31 maunds 14 seers of straw, or 2 maunds 12 seers of grain and 1 maund 1 seer of straw in excess of the yield from other irrigation. In the case of rabi crops, on the other hand, the yield is slightly in favour of irrigation from wells and aharas.

DEMANDS

68. The following statement shows the demands, collections, and balance of water-rates for five years :—

The figures in the above statement are taken from those compiled by the Examiner of Accounts. The amount of arrears at the commencement and the outstanding balance at the end of the year under review, together with the amount of remissions, agree with the figures given in the statement furnished by the Commissioner and Collectors. The Examiner's figures for current demand and collections are, however, in excess of those given by the above officers. The chief reason of the discrepancies being that miscellaneous assessments and collections made by the Collector of Shahabad are omitted by the latter. Minor discrepancies exist also, which render a complete comparison of the statements given by different officers impracticable, though the Superintending Engineer explains them as far as is possible. The Examiner's figures have been adopted in the following paragraphs, except where otherwise stated.

COLLECTIONS.

69. All arrears for years previous to 1880-81 were cleared off in 1885-86, and the opening balance of 1886-87 included therefore only outstandings from 1880-81 up to the end of 1885-86, which amounted to Rs. 3,98,321. According to Collector's statements further demands for previous years, amounting to Rs. 68,609, were made during 1886-87, bringing up the total for recovery on account of irrigation effected in previous years to Rs. 4,66,930. Of this amount Rs. 3,46,381 was collected, and Rs. 33,708 remitted and written off as irrecoverable, leaving the balance of Rs. 86,391 outstanding at the end of 1886-87 on account of previous years against a balance of Rs. 1,55,000 as shown in round numbers in arrears in the previous year's report.

Assessments for irrigation of 1886-87 were made according to Collectors' returns to the amount of Rs. 6,21,156, of which Rs 4,74,332 was collected and Rs 1,657 remitted, leaving a balance for collection of Rs. 1,45,168.

The outstanding balance at the end of the year was thus Rs. 2,31,559 according to Collectors' statements against Rs. 2,31,582 as reported by Examiner. Of the above sum, Rs. 43,645 on account of assessment for rabi irrigation, though due, was not legally payable till after the close of the year.

The result of the year's operations shows a very decided improvement in the collections both of arrears and of the current demand in all districts, except in Patna in the case of arrears. Taking the total demand under both heads, the Commissioner writes: —"In Shahabad more than three-fourths, and in Gya "more than half of the total demand was adjusted during the year under report, "while the adjustment in Patna was less than half of the total demand—a result "which is far from satisfactory. In Patna the bad collections of the year under "report were, among other causes, mostly due to the apathy and incompetence "of the former circle officer, whose services were dispensed with in March last. "It is hoped that future reports will show better results. The balances at the "close of the year have been largely reduced in all districts, specially in Shahabad "as compared with the balances with which the year opened."

The system of collection introduced during the previous year worked well, and on this point the Collector of Shahabad remarks:—"In the beginning "I feared that the enforcement of payment of rates in full according to each "receipt might retard collections, but happily my apprehensions have proved "groundless." The most favourable results have again been obtained in the Shahabad district, where by far the greater portion of the work is carried out, the total demand for the year in that district being Rs. 8,70,871 against Rs. 2,17,213 for Patna and Gya combined.

The collections in all districts aggregated Rs. 8,26,461 against Rs. 9,78,323 in the previous year. The decrease is attributable to the seasonable nature of the rainfall, which was unfavourable to leasing, and also to the great reduction in arrears effected in the two previous years.

71. The remissions for the year amounted to comparatively a very small sum, the total amount remitted being— Remissions.

	Rs.
By canal officers	13,279
„ civil „	22,085
Total ...	35 364

against Rs. 1,26,266 remitted in 1885-86. These figures are not, however, strictly comparable as explained below. Rupees 22,083 remitted by civil officers (Rs. 20,808 in the Shahabad district) is the amount of arrears written off as irrecoverable against Rs. 40,486 in 1885-86. The decrease is chiefly on account of the large adjustments of arrears made in the previous two years. As regards remissions by canal officers the amount of Rs. 13,279, which appears in the accounts of the Examiner and Collection Department, does not take into account the sum of cancelled khationies, Rs. 85,780, which the corresponding figures for the previous year included. In the statement given by the Superintending Engineer the remissions plus the refunds are shown as Rs. 21,055; in addition to which khationies for the amount of Rs. 13,585* were cancelled, making a total of Rs. 34,640 against Rs. 87,344 in 1885-86 and Rs. 53,966 in 1884-85.

* Of these Rs. 6,090 were replaced by fresh khationies in the following amounts:—
Rs. 544 Owing to five-year leases being granted.
„ 5,546 Owing to an assessment in a five-year lease extending over four years having been revised and replaced by a new demand statement for Rs. 5,144.
„ 6,090

The remissions by canal officers may be divided thus—

	Percentage of remission and refunds to gross demand.
	1886-87.	1885-86.
Eastern Sone Division	0·68	11·8
Arrah Division	2·43	7·2
Buxar „	1·96	0·8

The result is very favourable, the proportion of remissions and refunds being insignificant.

REVENUE ESTABLISHMENTS.

72. The expenditure on the revenue establishments employed is shown below:—

	1886-87.		1885-86.
	Amount.	Percentage on collections.	Amount.	Percentage on collections.
	Rs.		Rs.

Total ...	1,43,660	17·38	1,46,028	14·92

The charges for establishment during the year 1886-87, as compared with the previous year, show a reduction of Rs. 2,368. The actual realisations of the year were, however, less than those of the previous year by Rs. 1,51,862. Notwithstanding the large reduction in the amount of collections, there is a small increase in the amount paid on account of headmen's and putwaries' fees, and this appears to demand explanation.

The following statement shows the cost of the establishment employed on assessments during the year. The areas assessed, as shown in the statement, are the gross areas assessed in the year less the areas under five-year leases in force at the beginning of the year:—

Division.	Areas measured and assessed.	Cost of measuring crop.		Cost of preparing demand statements.
		Total.	Per acre.	Total.	Per acre.
	Acres.	Rs.	Pies.	Rs.	Pies.
Eastern Sone	25,789	1,207	9·65	634	4·72
Arrah	81,150	4,823	11·64	3,575	14·37

Total 1885-86 ...	159,294	7,369	9·48	5,944	7·16

The foregoing figures are approximate only, as the whole establishment was never exclusively employed on any special crop. Charges for one year's crop are disbursed in another, and there are other disturbing causes. The charge per acre for measuring crop has again increased, it having been 5·91 pies per acre in 1884-85 on an average assessed of 255,255 acres. This appears to be due to the actual expenditure being, more or less, mainly either fixed or fluctuating with the total area, so that the charge per acre is almost entirely dependent on the area leased during the year, and varying inversely with it.

PUTWARIES.

73. As regards the attendance of putwaries at measurements, the Superintending Engineer observes:—"Generally speaking there has been but little improvement, and in some cases the reverse in the percentage of measurements attended by putwaries. It is not easy to give a satisfactory explanation of the falling off, but it is probably partially due to the non-payment of fees in the case of five-year leases. The putwaries invariably receive notice of measurement, but their attendance is voluntary, and there are understood to be reasons against making it compulsory by legislation."

COMPLAINTS.

74. The number of complaints pending at the beginning of the year and received during the year was 6,021, of which 5,420 were disposed of within the year. The corresponding number of complaints in 1885-86 were 13,589, so that the assessments would appear to have given rise to less objections than before. Four hundred and three miscellaneous petitions were received, of which 386 were disposed of. Thirteen cases were tried by Engineers vested with magisterial powers.

UNAUTHORISED IRRIGATION.

75. There is nothing to show how many of the above complaints were in connection with unauthorised or surreptitious irrigation, the remissions even not having been classified by the Superintending Engineer as was done last year. But undoubtedly some were under this head; and it is probable that, with the whole number so largely diminished, there was a decrease under this particular head also, and that this source of irritation, to which the late agitation was in some degree due, was the cause of less friction than formerly. In future detailed information regarding complaints, as has already been pointed out in the case of the Orissa and Midnapore Canals (paragraphs 18 and 41), ought to be given by the officers concerned in their reports.

CERTIFICATE PROCEDURE.

76. There was an increase in the number of certificates filed in the Patna district, 2,542, against 1,794 during the previous year. Of these 1,176 were enforced, realising Rs. 3,334-4. In Gya no certificates were filed. In Shahabad 8,826 cases were instituted against 14,145 for the previous year. There were also 8,089 cases pending from the previous year. Of these 10,223 were disposed of, realising Rs. 47,786, or 5·7 per cent. of the total collections. Six thousand six hundred and ninety-two cases remained pending at the close of the year. On this subject the Commissioner remarks:—

"The number of institutions has diminished considerably. They were generally on account of arrears of old standing which were suffered to accrue under the old system, and which it was found impossible to realise without coercive measures. The number, however, bears a very small proportion to the total number of rate-payers. The old arrears having now been nearly cleared off, there will be less necessity for recourse to coercive measures in future."

GENERAL REMARKS.

77. The Collector of Shahabad in his report remarks on the defects existing in the present system of assessments, preparation of khationies and disposal of complaints, giving an opinion that matters may be improved by the extension of the long-lease system. His remarks are worthy of consideration, but as in consequence of the numerous complaints that have been received, a Commission has been appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor to enquire into the whole question of the working of the system in vogue on the Sone canals, His Honour being of opinion that the matter could not successfully be disposed of otherwise, and the investigations of the Commission are now being carried on, there is every reason to hope that the searching enquiry instituted will result in recommendations which, followed by a revision, if necessary, of the Act and the rules in force under the Act, will enable matters to be settled by the assessing and collecting officers with a much less degree of friction than is at present experienced. It may be observed, however, here that the stringent measures recently introduced to enforce payments of rates has placed matters on a considerably better footing, and that any procedure, which has for its object the early filing of complaints, the dealing with them quickly and finally (so far, at any rate, as the mere fact of irrigation or non-irrigation is concerned) and the prompt realisation of the demands certified as correct, will, in the end, tend to make the cultivator appreciate both the benefits of irrigation and his own responsibilities in connection with it and enable the Government to collect its just dues.

NOTE—The figures in these two statements do not agree, the reason being that the first statement is prepared from the Examiner's returns, while the second has to be based on returns obtained from the Superintending Engineer, and there are some unadjustable discrepancies between them.

A fair increase in the traffic is apparent on all canals.

TRAFFIC. 79. The following statement compares the traffic of the year 1886-87 with that of the four preceding years:—

	1886-87.	1885-86.	1884-85.	1883-84.	1882-83.
Number of miles open at the end of the year ... ... Miles	218½	218½	218½	216½	218½

Estimated value of cargo ... Rs.	64,55,651	36,41,863	41,10,598	52 54,476	37,96,467

The increased value of goods carried is partly owing to the greater traffic and partly to specie carried for opium payments. The principal items of traffic are grain, oilseeds and timber, the down traffic being by far heavier than the up traffic. The most noticeable items on which there was an increase were grain, salt, building materials and miscellaneous. The cost of establishment employed on the collection of tolls and on locks was, according to Superintending Engineer, Rs. 13,379 against Rs. 13,644 in 1885-86. The charge is high, notwithstanding that the number of toll stations have been reduced, and is due to the great length of the canals and the small traffic.

TRANSPORT SERVICE. 80. There is a weekly steamer service maintained on the Patna canal, and a service twice a week on the Arrah and Buxar canals. These are in the hands of a contractor to whom three Government steamers are rented.

MILLS. 81. There are eight mills on the different canals, including a turbine on the Arrah canal at Nasrigunge. Three only of the small mills have afforded some return during the year. The total receipts under this head were Rs. 668 against an expenditure of Rs. 909. The excess expenditure is due chiefly to repairs to the turbine.

82. The miscellaneous receipts for the last five years are given in the following table :— MISCELLANEOUS.

The falling off under "sale of water," the only item calling for remark, was due to a large payment being made in 1885-86 by the East Indian Railway Company on account of arrears of previous years for water supplied to the Dinapore Railway station.

83. PLANTATIONS.—The state of the plantations in each division at the close of the years 1885-86 and 1886-87 is shown in the statement following :—

The receipts for the year amount to Rs. 319 against Rs. 307 credited in the year previous. The expenditure was wholly charged to Revenue, and was as follows :—

In the Arrah Division selected portions of the spoil banks were sown with babool seeds in the rains of 1886 and further extensions are now in hand. In all the divisions progress was made in planting out teak, sissoo, toon, and other valuable trees.

The figures given in paragraph 103 of last year's report were incorrect, those for wrong year's having been given. The correction should be as follows :—

FINANCIAL RESULTS.

84. The receipts on revenue account and working expenses (direct charges) of the Sone canals for the year 1886-87 and the four preceding years are shown in the statement below:—

Net profit, exclusive of indirect charges	3,36,968	5,10,276	2,58,513	89,330	1,54,836

The decrease in the net revenue is due to the falling off in water-rates and increase in expenditure owing to heavy repairs to the weir.

REPAIRS TO HEAD WORKS.

85. The cost of repairs to head works was as follows:—

	1886-87.	1885-86.	1884-85.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Sone weir	68,570	34,908	29,922
Other works	10,419	7,697	9,462
Total ...	78,989	42,605	39,384

The increased expenditure on the head works is almost entirely due to the rebuilding of the Baroon and centre river sluice piers.

MAINTENANCE.

86. The following statement prepared from the Superintending Engineer's returns shows the expenditure on canals and distributaries in the different executive divisions compared with that of the previous year:—

	Arrah Division.		Buxar Division.		Eastern Sone Division.

Total ...	1,06,985	1,32,648	69,130	36,608	58,266	65,528

The total cost of maintenance of canals in all divisions, exclusive of head-works and telegraph and telephone lines, was Rs. 2,24,200 against Rs. 2,34,784 for the year 1885-86. The figures do not quite agree with those given by the Examiner, but the discrepancy is small. The decrease of the cost in the Main Western canal is due to smaller expenditure on silt clearance owing to the lower average discharge of the canal during the flood months—1,461 cubic feet against 2,203 in 1885-86. This reason is also assigned for the lower expenditure in the Eastern Main canal. The increased expenditure in the Buxar Division is chiefly due to the postponement of as much as possible of the work in the previous year owing to want of funds. The average expenditure for the two years is slightly less than that actually incurred in 1884-85.

The expenditure per mile incurred on repairs to the canals and distributaries during the year 1886-87 and the two previous years is shown in the following statement:—

* The expenditure on the Western Main canal from miles 5 to 9 for the years 1884-85 and 1885-86 has been deducted from the Arrah Division, and added to the Buxar Division to which the miles have been transferred.

87. The quantity of silt removed by dredgers in the Eastern Main canal was 1,864,643 cubic feet at a cost Rs. 6,955, or Rs. 3-11-8 per 1,000 cubic feet, which does not include the cost of removal of the silt from the towpath. Of the silt dredged 1,325,757 cubic feet were deposited on the bank and 538,886 discharged into the river. The average rate in the previous year was Rs. 4-4-8 per 1,000 cubic feet. The low rate in the present year is chiefly due to the dredging having been confined to places where the silt deposit was heavy, and consequently full loads were always brought up by the buckets. The total quantity of silt dredged in the river was 3,100,682 cubic feet, the rate being Rs. 1-15-6 per 1,000 cubic feet, and in the Main Western canal 4,176,601 cubic feet at a rate of Rs. 3-8 11 for silt delivered in punts at the side of the canals. Inclusive of the cost of removing the silt, the rates were respectively in the river and canal Rs 2,14-1 and Rs. 7-6-6. A large quantity of silt removed from the canal had to be carried over the spoil bank at a cost of Rs. 6 per 1,000 cubic feet. The Superintending Engineer remarks—"It is not possible, on the information available, to give, on the year's working the cost of silt clearance by the different classes of dredgers employed. This can best be determined by experiments extending over a limited time, which will be carried out." DREDGING

Besides silt clearance by dredging a quantity of 1,105,522 was removed by hand from the Eastern Main canal at a rate of Rs. 4-6-4 for 1,000 cubic feet. In the Main Western canal a trifling amount only was thus removed at a total cost of Rs. 1,065. On the Arrah canal Rs. 1,370 was expended in dredging, and on silt clearance by hand Rs. 1,625. On the Buxar canal Rs. 51 was expended on silt clearance by hand.

88. The following statement shows the cost of weed-clearing during the year 1886-87 and the four preceding years:— WEED-CLEARI

	1886-87.	1885-86.	1884-85.	1883-84.	1882-83.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.

Buxar do.	2,065	77	.....	270	29
Total ...	4,597	4,683	5,565	8,995	14,377

Of the total expenditure of Rs. 4,597, the cost of working the steam weed-rake was Rs. 1,719, and the balance of Rs. 2,878 was expended in clearing by hand. The weeds in the Buxar canal were found to be specially troublesome, and for the first time during the last five years, it was necessary to spend a large sum in removing them. In the Eastern Main canal the expenditure was less than usual.

CLOSURES. 89. The Main Eastern series of canals were closed for silt clearance from the 1st May to the 18th of June 1886, and the Main Western series from the 1st to the 10th of April.

FLOODS. 90. There was no high flood in the river Sone during the year. Owing to the heavy local rainfall there were high floods in all the minor streams. The Poonpoon river was in very high flood on the 8th and 9 h of October 1886. The highest flood on record occurred in the Kao on the 7th October. The level of the water at the syphon aqueduct on the up stream side was R. L. 331·00, or one foot below that of the masonry towpath, and on the down stream side R. L. 328·00.

CALCUTTA AND EASTERN CANALS.

DESCRIPTION. 91. A DESCRIPTION of these canals was given in the Revenue Report for 1885-86. No works have since been added, and the length of the different channels remains the same.

The revenue administration of the canals formerly vested in the Board of Revenue, passed into the hands of the Public Works Department on the 1st April 1886, and the Revenue Report has been submitted by the Superintending Engineer. The management of the Calcutta canals and Tolly's nullah is at present in the hands of the Collector and Supervisor under the immediate orders of the Superintending Engineer. The charge of the works and of the Eastern canals and steamer route is in the hands of the Executive Engineer.

(b) It was mentioned in the foot-note to this statement in last year's Report that the figures are not quite accurate, certain receipts under "Navigation" having been shown as "miscellaneous revenue;" the error has now been corrected by the transfer of Rs. 31,561 from the latter to the former head.

The above statement is exclusive of indirect charges.

There is no interest account, the whole expenditure having been defrayed from Provincial funds.

93. The following statement shows the financial results of these canals for the last ten years. The figures are for direct charges only. The average net revenue has exceeded five and a half per cent. on the capital expenditure:— FINANCIAL RESULTS.

(b) Is Rs. 35,185 smaller than it should be by reason of error of account.

The gross revenue of the year is not directly comparable with that of the two previous years for reasons given in the previous year's Revenue Report. The correct figures are Rs. 4,83,654 against Rs. 5,14,669 for the previous year and Rs. 5,34,541 for 1884-85. The net revenue corresponding is Rs. 3,00,766 against Rs. 3,27,920 for 1885-86 and Rs. 2,56,349 for 1884-85.

COLLECTIONS.

94. The following statement shows the details of the revenue collections:—

The gross revenue, as explained in the preceding paragraph, is Rs. 4,83,654 against Rs. 5,14,609 for the previous year. The decrease is attributable to—

(1) Abolition of return trip tolls.
(2) Transfer of canal lands to the Civil Department.
(3) Abolition of demurrage on dinghees.
(4) At the Dhappa toll station, dulness of jute and rice trade.
(5) At the Chitpore toll station, falling off in salt and coal.

BOATS.

95. The following statement shows the number of the different classes of boats entering the canals:—

	NUMBER OF BOATS OF THE FOLLOWING MEASUREMENT BY CANAL RULES. Up to 100 maunds.	Between 100 and 1,000 maunds.	Between 1,000 and 2,500 maunds.	Between 2,500 and 5,000 maunds.	Over 5,000 maunds.	Total.

* Includes 30,457 not classed.

There is a small increase apparent in the number of boats between 2,500 and 5,000 maunds and over that measurement, and also in the number of those up to 100 maunds over the figures of the previous year, but the total number is very steady.

TRAFFIC.

96. The following statement shows the traffic in the Calcutta and Eastern canals during the year under review and the two previous years:—

	Number of boats.	Tonnage of boats by canal measurement.	Weight of cargo carried.	Value of cargo carried.	Tollage, including demurrage.	Percentage of toll on value of cargo.

The decrease in tollage is entirely in the Calcutta canals, and is attributable to reasons mentioned before. The number of boats, however, shows an increase, the reason of which is that in the previous year all boats plying outside locks used to take monthly tickets; but under new rules dating from 1st April 1886, such tickets are only given for small boats carrying perishable articles to the sooraks or small channels in connection with the canals. The number of monthly tickets issued was 1,090 against 1,300 in the previous year. The decrease in tollage is further accounted for by the general depression in the rice and jute trade, and in the amount of coal and salt carried, considerable quantities of these commodities now being forwarded by rail and up-country steamers.

COLLECTIONS ON STEAMERS AND FLATS.

97. The collections on account of steamers and flats using the Sunderbund route were Rs. 4,365 against Rs. 5 365 in the previous year, the number of vessels being 873 against 1,073. This decrease was due to the vessels of the Bengal Central Flotilla Company having been bought up by the India General Steam Navigation Company.

MISSING TICKETS.

98. The number of missing tickets was still further reduced during the year under review, being 542 against 653 of the previous year, pointing to an improvement in the administration.

REVENUE ESTABLISHMENT.

99. The table below compares the entire cost of the revenue establishment under the Collector and Supervisor with the gross collections made by him:—

	Gross collections made by Supervisor.	Cost of entire revenue establishment.	Percentage.
	Rs.	Rs.
1886-87	4,81,048	42,714	8·84
1885-86	5,13,839	44,751	8·70
1884-85	5,33,694	47,280	8·85

An increase is apparent in the percentage of charge, which is due to a decrease in the traffic. The cost per boat measured shows a slight decrease, being 4·69 annas per boat against nearly 4·87 annas in the previous year, which is satisfactory. The cost of the establishment includes the pay and commission of the Collector and Supervisor.

MAINTENANCE.

100. The total expenditure under this head was Rs. 1,07,572, of which Rs. 5,092 was expended on "extensions and improvements" in the erection of girder bridges at Gurriah and Tolleygunge, and Rs. 1,02,480 was expended on actual repairs against Rs. 67,942 in the previous year.

Only such repairs as were indispensably necessary were carried out.

DREDGING.

101. A small quantity of dredging was carried out chiefly in removing a shoal which had formed below the Dhappa lock. About 311,500 cubic feet of silt was excavated at a cost of Rs. 3,259, or at a rate including disposal of the silt of Rs. 10·46 per 1,000 cubic feet.

ORISSA COAST CANAL.

102. The following statements show the capital and revenue accounts of this canal:—

The expenditure under capital account has been entirely from Provincial Funds with the exception of Rs. 8,66,000 contributed from Imperial Protective Funds, of which Rs. 84,000 was received during the year. There is no interest account. The total expenditure has exceeded the estimate and a revised estimate will very shortly be submitted.

The revenue account of this canal was opened in 1885-86 when Range III, a length of 36 miles, was opened for traffic. The revenue collections were then Rs. 13,718, and maintenance and establishment charges amounted to Rs. 29,881 (the maintenance charges being enhanced by Rs. 20,088 on account of cyclone damages), and a deficit of Rs. 16,183 resulted. During the year under review, Ranges IVA and V were temporarily opened for traffic from 15th July to 31st December 1886, being a further total length of 55 miles. This caused a satisfactory increase in revenue receipts, which amounted to Rs. 29,488, but a deficit of Rs. 30,216 has resulted. The cause of this is the same as operated in the previous year, the bulk of the expenditure being chiefly for repairs to damages caused by the cyclone of 1885 and flood damages, probably nearly Rs. 40,000 of the maintenance charges were due to these. The increase in the revenue receipts is the more satisfactory when it is taken into account that the traffic was entirely local, and good results may be anticipated when through communication, which has already been established, is followed by the remodelling of the Hidgelee Tidal canal and the canal route to Cuttack is thoroughly established.

SARUN CANALS.

103. The Capital and Revenue Accounts of these canals, which have been constructed from provincial funds, are given below:—

Total ...	27,903	1,76,847	Total ...	27,903	1,76,847

The expenditure of the year which is entirely under revenue account is in excess of that for the previous year, being Rs. 27,903 against Rs. 22,751. The extra cost is stated to be on account of river protective works at the head, and heavy expenditure owing to the difficulty in keeping open the head of the Thakraha Sota which is the chief source of the supply for the canals and a new cut having eventually to be made. The revenue receipts are very short, being Rs. 11,072 against Rs. 41,143 in the previous year—when there was a net profit of Rs. 18,392—as against a deficit of Rs. 15,476 in the year under review. The collections on account of water-rates, and guarantee, Rs. 11,072, are about one-half of the yearly guarantee which is Rs. 21,750. The arrears which amounted at the commencement of the year to Rs. 22,035 were at the end of the year Rs. 32,712. The result, as remarked by the Commissioner, is not satisfactory, but no explanation is forthcoming of the reason for the guarantor's withholding payment The Collector states that they have been called upon to pay in their dues without further delay, and the balance is in course of realization.

RAINFALL.

104. The rainfall for the year was excessive, being 60·96 inches, an average of ten stations against 39·27 inches for the previous year, and a yearly average up to 1885-86 inclusive for the area under the influence of the Sarun canals of 37½ inches (observations extending over periods of 3 to 17 years).

IRRIGATION.

105. There was little demand for water for irrigation purposes, or even for indigo manufacture, on which last account the construction of the canals was primarily undertaken. The area irrigated during the year was 2,146 acres against the areas shown below as irrigated in former years:—

	Acres.
1881-82	666
1882-83	1,741
1883-84	21,122
1884-85	7,223

NUDDEA RIVERS.

106. No capital or revenue accounts are kept for these works. The revenue administration is under the direction of the Board of Revenue and civil officers, but proposals have lately been made to transfer the management to the Public Works Department.

REVENUE.

107. The following statement shows the revenue and expenditure on these rivers for the last seven years, including direct charges only:—

Year.	Revenue.			Charges.	Net revenue.
	Tolls.	Miscellaneous.	Gross revenue.
	Rs	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1880-81	2,31,957	676	2,32,633	1,21,846	1,10,787

1885-86	1,83,382	399	1,83,781	77,668	1,06,113
1886-87	2,02,707	543	2,03,250	60,213	1,43,037

The results are undoubtedly satisfactory. The charges are less in the year under review than in 1885-86, and do not amount to one-half what they were in 1883-84. At the same time the gross revenue shows an increase, and is greater than in any of the preceding four years.

TRAFFIC

108. The Administration Report submitted by the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, through the Board of Revenue, gives the following details of the traffic for the year as compared with that of the previous year. The details of former years have been taken from the previous year's revenue report:—

* The figures for tonnage are taken from the monthly traffic returns

The traffic shows a tendency to revive, and an increase in the number of boats of all classes is apparent and is more especially noticeable under the head of steamers and flats which is attributed to steamers passing to the upper provinces during the rains, and to a greater number of vessels passing through to Assam, Serajgunge and Naraingunge for oil-seeds and jute. In the Nuddea portion of the Bhagiruthi the increase in traffic is chiefly due to exports of wheat, rice and gram, which were produced in large quantities in the Burdwan and Moorshedabad districts. On the Jellinghee river the increase was chiefly due to the export of wheat and on the Matabhanga river chiefly to the imports of rice from the Eastern districts. The revival in the traffic and the improvement in the receipts is attributed to the favourable state of all the three rivers. The fact of the gross tonnage for the year being less than that for the previous year is accounted for by the introduction of the new system of measurement for empty boats the depth of which in calculating the maundage is now measured from the water-line instead of from the gunwale.

The total value of cargo carried is estimated at Rs. 3,57,12,518, against a value of Rs. 3,38,41,805 in the previous year.

CHARGES.

109. The charges against revenue for the past seven years are detailed in the following statement:—

YEAR.	CHARGES IN PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.							CHARGES IN CIVIL DEPARTMENT.	GRAND TOTAL.
	Works.	Maintenance and repairs of works.	Working Government steamers.	Petty items.	Establishment.	Tools and plant.	Total.	Charges for collection.

The expenditure in the year 1881-82 was altogether abnormal on account of the heavy charge of Rs. 1,38,198 for tools and plant. This sum was on account of a dredger and set of barges which was charged against these rivers.

The decrease in charges incurred by the Public Works Department under maintenance is considerable, but no explanation is afforded under this head by the Superintending Engineer. The work carried out was of the usual character, the training works on the Bhagiruthi being for the purpose of maintaining navigation throughout the year, and on the other rivers for the purpose of maintaining a supply of drinking water for the villages on their banks.

COLLECTION CHARGES.

110. The total cost of collection is slightly in excess of that of the previous year which is accounted for by the greater commission drawn by the Toll Collector owing to increased collections. The percentage of cost on the gross revenue is, however, less, being 11·1 against 11·8 in the previous year. The cost per boat measured has also fallen from 5·6 to 5·4 annas.

EDEN CANAL.

111. This work has been constructed entirely from Provincial funds, and there is no capital or revenue accounts. Its primary object is the supply of drinking water to the villages on the banks, and it is also the source of supply for the Burdwan water-works.

EXPENDITURE.

112. The expenditure for the year was as follows:—

	Rs.
Works	16,094
Maintenance	22,258
Establishment and tools and plant	10,072
Total ...	48,424

113. The revenue derived was Rs. 810.

IRRIGATION.

114. All irrigation from the canal was prohibited under the orders of Government, as it was found that a guarantee could not be obtained for the extra cost of maintenance that would ensue from keeping up the supply of water. The question of regular irrigation from this canal is under consideration awaiting proposals for a workable scheme under which those benefited will defray the cost of additional works necessary to keep up the level of the water, and also the cost of the yearly maintenance.

MADHUBAN CANAL.

IRRIGATION.

115. This is a small provincial work for which no capital or revenue accounts are kept. No irrigation was carried out from it during the year on account of a breach in the weir.

EXPENDITURE.

116. The expenditure for the year was as below:—

	Rs.
Works	4,380
Maintenance	1,263
Establishment	1,298

GENERAL REMARKS.

NET INCOME.

117. The net income of the year 1886-87 from Major Irrigation works in Bengal amounted to Rs. 54,029 thus:—

	Rs.
Gross direct receipts	13,86,629
„ charges	13,32,600
Net revenue ...	54,029

The budget estimate for net revenue was Rs. 2,05,000, and the revised estimate was (—) Rs. 55,000, thus:—

	Budget.	Revised estimate.
	Rs.	Rs.
Direct receipts	13,30,000	13,30,000
„ charges	11,25,000	13,85,000
Net revenue ...	2,05,000	(—) 55,000

The net revenue of the year, though much below the budget estimate in consequence of heavy charges on account of repairs to the Mahanadi weir, was more favourable than anticipated in the revised estimate, owing to large collections of water-rates on the Sone Canals at the end of the year.

EARNINGS. 118. The following statement shows the principal results of the year calculated by the "Earnings" as compared with similar results of the previous year:—

	1885-86.	1886-87.

NAVIGATION REVENUE. 121. The following table shows the total of toll collections on the canals in Bengal distinguishing between canals solely for navigation and those for irrigation and navigation with percentage of cost of establishment for collection and cost of measuring each boat:—

* Do not include miscellaneous receipts.

In the above statement if Rs. 16,660 miscellaneous receipts included in toll collections of the year 1885-86 were omitted, the gross toll collections from both classes of canals would be Rs. 9,57,902 against Rs. 9,74,413 for the year under review. The toll collections under canals for navigation only would show an excess collection of about Rs. 10,000 over the figures for the previous year and for canals for irrigation and navigation a decrease of about Rs. 13,000 chiefly on account of the falling off in the receipts for the Midnapore canal. Where the percentage of cost of collection and the cost of measurement of each boat is greater than that for the previous year, the cause is owing to the decrease in the traffic. In the Orissa Coast canal the large increase is due to the increase in the number of toll stations, while still the traffic was undeveloped. In this canal and in the Calcutta and Eastern Canals the cost of establishment is not included, being shown under maintenance charges. In future the charges should be made under the proper head. In the case of the Calcutta Canals and Nuddea Rivers, the percentage is heavy on account of the pay and commission of the Collector and Supervisor in the former case, and the large pay and commission received by the Toll Collectors in the latter, the system of administration being different to that in other canals. On the whole the result for the year may be considered very favourable, taking into account the decrease in the traffic in the Orissa and Midnapore canals, which may be considered accidental, the causes being explained under the heads of those canals.

Punctuality of reports.

122. The date for the submission of Revenue Reports to the office of the Chief Engineer is the 15th September. The following statement shows the dates when the different reports were received:—

		In 1886.	In 1887.
Orissa Circle ...	Commissioner's report ...	18th October	21st September.
	Superintending Engineer's report	1st November	26th ditto.
South-Western Circle ...	Commissioner's report ..	14th September	8th ditto.
	Superintending Engineer's report	23rd ditto	26th October.
Sone Circle ...	Commissioner's report ... / Superintending Engineer's report	17th ditto	15th September.

The reports were very punctual with the exception of that of the Superintending Engineer, South-Western Circle. The Finance and Administrative Accounts of the year 1886-87 were not received from the Examiner until the 3rd September. A good deal of time has had again to be wasted in attempting to eliminate the discrepancies between the returns received through the Commissioners and from the Superintending Engineers and Examiner, though there is undoubtedly an improvement in this respect.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park-street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 2·1° lower; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

* Means for six days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last ten years. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as percentage, saturated air being represented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The number of rainy days are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past 10 years. The stations in the districts sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Friday, the 2nd of March 1888.

CALCUTTA, the 6th March 1888.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 2ND MARCH 1888.

THE meteorological conditions which obtained over Bengal during the previous week were those which mark the gradual change from the north-east monsoon to the hot weather season. Similar conditions have obtained throughout the whole of the present week. Westerly and north-westerly winds have prevailed during a considerable portion of the week and over a large part of the province, but at the southern stations winds have been rather variable, and they shew a decided tendency to become southerly. The variations of pressure have been of the usual oscillatory character, though on the whole pressure has been decreasing. Temperature on the other hand has been almost steadily rising, and towards the end of the week some rather high maximum temperatures were reported. Humidity has remained fairly low at most stations, and the sky has been almost free from cloud or very lightly clouded over the whole province; while at no station has any rain been reported. The meteorological conditions for the week in fact again call for no particular remark, except that the hot wether conditions are rapidly establishing themselves.

Pressure—Generally fell on the 25th and was almost stationary on the following day; this was succeeded by a moderate fall lasting two days, and then by a slight rise lasting the same period; but on the 2nd pressure was again falling. Notwithstanding the decrease, the average pressure for the week has been decidedly above the normal, and taking into consideration only those stations from which observations have been received for many years, and which therefore yield reliable averages, the mean pressure for the province has been 0·053 inch in excess of the normal.

Temperature.—As has been already stated, temperature has risen almost steadily throughout the week, and thus, while the average mean temperature of the whole of the province in the previous week was 69·7°, in the present week it has risen to 72·9°, showing an increase of 3·2° in the week. The actual mean temperatures recorded during the week have, however, not been far removed from the normal, and for the whole province the mean temperature has been 0·2° lower than usual. The actual temperatures recorded and their variations from the normal are best seen in the table below, where the average maximum, minimum, and mean temperatures for the week at nine typical stations in the province are compared with the normal values for the same period. Generally speaking it will be seen that the maximum or day temperatures have been rather above the normal, while the minimum or night temperatures have been below it.

Table shewing the excess or defect of the actual mean temperature from the normal for the week ending the 2nd March 1888.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 56, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

MEMORANDUM.

THE following summary of results has been deduced from the annexed table exhibiting the vital statistics of the principal Municipalities in Bengal for the week ending 18th February 1888 :—

1. That births and deaths were registered in these Municipalities in the proportions per 1,000 of population of 21· and 23·2, respectively, as opposed to 18·4 and 21·9 per 1,000, respectively, in the preceding week ending 11th February, indicating an improvement in the registration of both.

2. That those events were recorded in the highest proportions by the following Municipalities :—

Births.	Ratio per mille.	Deaths.	Ratio per mille.
Bali	59·6	Bali	84·2

Ranaghat	29·9	Beauleah	28·9
Monghyr	29·8

3. That in comparison with the results of the preceding week, there was a sensible reduction in the death-rate from fever, no variation in fatality from injury, the fatal results from the other diseases exhibiting only fractional differences, and small-pox presenting no death ; vide subjoined table :—

* A special census of the Europeans in the Darjiling Municipality was recently taken, as the census of this section of the community, taken in February 1881, was not reliable owing to the Europeans being at a minimum in that month. The number of the natives remains as before, as it was not necessary to re-census them. The ratios have consequently been calculated on the revised population under all heads in the above table, except "Ages," the ratios under which have been omitted, inasmuch as the census of the Europeans above alluded to cannot be employed as a basis of calculation owing to the results of the census under this head not having been recorded under the authorized form of age classification.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT,—BENGAL.

DISTRICT ROAD FUND.

NOTIFICATION—No. 98.

The 12th March 1888.

THE subjoined accounts and reports of the Road Cess Committees of the districts of Cuttack, Pooree, and Balasore, for the half-year ending the 31st March 1887, are published for general information.

W. B BESTIC,

Under-Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, P. W Dept.

No. 199, dated Cuttack, the 8th August 1887.

From—E. R. HENRY, ESQ., Chairman, Road Cess Committee, Cuttack,
To—The Commissioner of the Orissa Division.

WITH reference to the Government Circular No. 2384, dated 21st May 1887, and your No. 454C, dated 26th ultimo, I have the honour to submit the accounts and report on the working of the District Road Committee for the half-year, from 1st October 1886 to 31st March 1887, as asked for therein

The actual receipts brought to the credit of the fund during the six months under report were Rs. 49,952-3-3, including the outstanding balance of Rs. 15,106-11-7 on the 30th September 1886.

The total expenditure incurred during the half-year under notice amounted to Rs. 20,788-8-6, including the cost of establishment and minor charges, leaving a balance of Rs 29,163-10-9 on the 31st day of March last, which was transferred to the District Board as directed.

The heavy decrease in the estimated receipts and expenditure is attributable to the fact that the figures shown under the head "Budget Estimate" were for 12 months, that is, from October 1886 to September 1887; but the expenditure shown in the present return was for six months only, exclusive of the total value of work partly executed or in an unfinished state, as payments in full could not be made for them before the close of the half-year under review.

Original works.—It was proposed to open one line of communication from Tanghi to Bhagatpur, but nothing has yet been done, as the land required for the purpose has not yet been made over by the zemindar who promised to give it to the department; however, he has been reminded of his promise and asked to give effect to it without any further delay.

As regards the other original works noted in the margin, provided for in the budget, I beg to state that the works in respect of Nos. 1 to 3 and 5 to 7 are in progress. In respect of work No. 4, 2,300 cubic feet of earthwork done and a large quantity of sandstone has been delivered in site. No. 8 has been completed except the thatch and out-offices. For No. 2, 40,000 bricks have been moulded and the woodwork got ready.

1 Bridging Mundakya nala.
2. For making bricks, &c., for the bridge on 26th mile, Madhab Road.
3. Culvert at 26th mile of ditto.
4. Road with water-way from Soneepur road to Pathpur hât.
5. Two culverts on 41 miles, Machgaon road.
6. Culverts on 39th mile.
7 Bridge over Hava nala
8. Inspection huts and out-offices at Ahlas.
9. Completion of Machgan road to Deb river.

Fifty thousand cubic feet has been executed in respect of No. 9. No payments whatever have been made for the works mentioned in Nos. 8 and 9.

The District Engineer has been requested to see that these works are completed before 31st March next.

Repairs.—All the urgent and necessary repairs have been made to roads and bridges, &c., which are reported to be in fair order during the half-year under review. I think it desirable to give a short outline of the following petty damages caused by the storm of the 25th and 26th May last, though it does not itself refer to the half-year under report.

1 The approach to the Brahmini ferry (right bank) at Gopalpur, 50th mile, Chandbally road, has been washed away. This was an earthwork spur and has to be removed annually after the rains.

2. The earthwork on both sides of the Malpatna sluice, 50th mile, Chandbally road, has been eroded. The District Engineer has promised to report after enquiry whether stone-rubble can be delivered there, and to frame an estimate for pitching this portion of the road, as it suffers from each storm and costs much for repairs.

3. Shutters have also been blown away, but possibly may be recovered afterwards.

4. At the Chandbally ferry over Byturni, 32 feet length of the platform of the range has been carried away; the posts are standing and are reported to be very dangerous. The District Engineer has been directed to replace them at once.

Village roads.—The repairs of the village roads in Sudder sub-division are reported to have been in progress.

New village roads were started during the half-year. One was completed and the rest were in progress. It is satisfactory to note here, as it is the only instance as yet, that the villagers of Fakirparah have contributed Rs. 30 towards the cost of the Fakirparah village road.

Almost all the village roads in the Kendraparah sub-division were in progress during the half-year, and were passable, as reported by the Sub-divisional Officer of that sub-division.

As regards Jajpore, no work whatever appears to have been taken up during the half-year; a small sum was paid to the contractors for the works done prior to 1st October 1886, and not charged before the close of that year. The Sub-divisional Officer has been requested to push on the work vigorously.

Inspection Bungalows.—The annual repairs of all the inspection bungalows on the Chandbally road reported to have been completed, and of the rest to be in progress.

During the late storm of May last, the plastering of the Baruan bungalow and out-offices were damaged; trifling damages to plastering and thatching of the Kendraparah, Pattamundy and Aul bungalows were also reported.

In the Aul bungalow 23 young cocoanut palms have been destroyed; the District Engineer has been requested to replace them.

Tools and Plant.—The few tools required during the half-year were purchased from the local market.

Tree-planting.—The sanctioned establishment to look after the trees were entertained and mallees reported to have done fairly well. Gabions have been provided, where necessary, to protect the young plants.

Ten trees on the 2nd mile of Jajpur-Kuakhya road, and 35 on the Jajpur to Kendraparah road, have been destroyed by the storm of the 25th and 26th May last, and 18 gabions blown away and many damaged. The District Engineer has been asked to replace them.

District and Branch Committees.—There were four meetings of District Committee held during the half-year under report, and one of which had to be adjourned for want of quorum. Four meetings of the Branch Committee at Jajpore were held during the half-year, and none at Kendraparah.

A separate report on the state of collections and arrears of cesses has already been submitted from the Collectorate side—vide No. 107, dated 29th July last.

Dated Pooree, the 5th June 1887.

From—H. SAVAGE, ESQ., C.S., Chairman, District Board, Pooree,
To—The Commissioner of the Orissa Division.

IN submitting herewith the accounts of the District Road Fund for the half-year ending 31st March 1887, I have the honour to append a copy of a report submitted by the District Engineer, showing what work has been carried out on the roads during the half year, and to report that during the half-year special attention was paid to the execution of repairs in order to put the whole of the roads on the District Committee's list in a passable condition, and at the close of the half-year all the roads were in very fair order considering the funds available.

2. Besides looking after the repairs the District Engineer was engaged for a considerable time in measuring up and settling claims for work done in former years, and I am glad to say that he has now settled all the outstanding claims on terms very advantageous to the Road Fund, so that after they are all paid the District Board will find itself with a somewhat arger sum available for new works than was previously anticipated.

3. During the half-year the payments made were mostly on account of the old accounts outstanding. The work done during the half-year was not generally paid for before the close of that period, as in most instances it was not finally completed, and it has been always the custom to make the bulk of the payments in the latter half of the cess year which terminated in September 1886.

4. All the work done during the half-year and which was not paid for is covered by the District Board's budget for 1887-88.

5. Very little was done as regards village roads as no special application for such roads came in during the half-year and consequent on the impending change from District Road Committee to District Board. I think it best to leave the question of village road works to be decided by the District Board.

6. No new trees were planted along the road sides during the half-year, but those already planted were well looked after.

7. The District Engineer, Mr. Beale, has worked very energetically, and has given me complete satisfaction The rest of the staff has also worked satisfactorily.

H. SAVAGE,
Chairman.

Report showing work done and general condition of roads in the Pooree District for the half-year ending 31st March 1887.

Patnaikia and Khordah road.—This road is 22 miles in length. It takes off from the Main Pilgrim road 14¾ miles from Pooree. During the half-year earthwork repairs have been carried out, and metal has been collected which will be consolidated in the rainy season. The estimated expenditure up to date has been Rs. 1,800.

2. Pipli-Khordah Road.—This road is metalled throughout, and is 14 miles in length. The metal required for repair is entirely collected and will be consolidated early in the rainy season. After which the road will be in very fair order. The estimated amount for the road is Rs. 800.

3. Khordah and Kallapather Road.—This road is 18 miles in length, of which the first 10 miles are metalled. During the half-year metal for repairs to these miles has been collected. Besides this, metal has been collected for portions of the 11th, 12th, 14th and 16th miles, which were previously unmetalled and always in very bad order after heavy rain. Metalling at all causeways has also been collected. The road will now be in very fair order at all seasons, and if a small further expenditure is sanctioned later on for metal collection, it can be made as good as could be desired. The estimated cost up to date is Rs. 1,000, besides this the sum of Rs. 1,129, balance from the estimate for 1885-86, after payment of contractor's claims, was utilised on the road.

4. Bagmari and Bolegur Road.—This is an unmetalled road and takes off from Bagmari on the Kallapather road, and runs to Bolegur on the boundary of Nayagurh. The following portions of the road running through rice fields require metalling :—miles 16th, 18th, 19th and 23rd for a length of 3,000 feet in each mile, miles 20th, 21st and 22nd completely. When this is done and a few more culverts constructed, the road will be excellent. At present for an unmetalled road the condition of the road is very fair. A new bungalow is urgently required at Sunakhalla Repairs to earthwork and metal collection at all causeways have been carried out during the half-year at an estimated cost of Rs. 400. Besides this the sum of Rs. 367, balance from the estimate for 1885-86, after payment of contractor's claims, was utilized on the road.

5. Banpore and Baghura Road.—This road is 15 miles in length extending from Banpore to Baghura in the Khordah Mâls. and a considerable portion runs through dense jungle. During the half-year repairs to earthwork and jungle cutting, &c., has been carried out. The road is in very fair order.

6. Balugâon and Banpore Road.—This road is metalled and runs from the west bank of the Chilka Lake to Banpore where it is connected with the Khordah Mâl road. Earthwork repairs have been executed and metal has been collected, which will be consolidated in the rains. After which the road will be in very fair order. The estimated cost of this and of the Mâl road is Rs. 400.

7. Chaudka and Bhubaneswar Road.—This road is 11 miles in length and runs mostly through jungle. During the half-year earthwork has been done and the jungle cut. The road is now in excellent order. The estimated cost of the road is Rs. 500.

8. Bhubaneswar-Ballianta Road.—This is an unmetalled road nearly 7 miles in length running from Bhubaneswar to Ballianta, opposite to 14th mile of the Jagannath road. Earthwork repairs have been carried out at an estimated cost of Rs. 200. The road is in very fair order.

9. Balighai-Madhab Road.—This is an unmetalled road. During the half-year breaches have been filled in, and earthwork repairs generally carried out at a cost of Rs. 1,000. The road will be in very good order during fair weather

10. Burruboody Road.—This road takes off from the eastern bank of the Chilka at Burrubcoody, distant about 14 miles from Pooree. During the half-year earthwork repairs have been carried out at an estimated cost of Rs. 200. The road is in fair order.

11. Armstrong road in the Civil Station of Pooree.—This is a metalled road extending from the flag-staff on the sea beach to near the Atharnallah Bridge. Metal is being collected which will be consolidated during the rains.

The sum of money mentioned on the various roads represent the estimated amount, and were not all paid as contractors were not present.

J. A. BEALE,
District Engineer.

No. 105, dated Balasore, the 1st August 1887.

From—A. C. TUTE, ESQ., Chairman, Balasore Road Cess Committee,
To—The Commissioner of the Orissa Division.

I HAVE the honour to submit the annexed accounts and the following report on the administration of the Road Fund of this district for the period from 1st October 1886 to 31st March 1887. The period from July to September 1886 was comprised in the report for the last year, submitted in this office No. 252, dated the 18th December 1886, and it is needless to repeat here the remarks made in that report.

1. Original Works.—Some works were executed on the Boloramgori road for which Rs. 142-2 was paid.

2. Repairs.—It was only in December last that the estimates for road work were sanctioned by the Committee on receipt of your sanction to the budget estimate No. 492C, dated 6th September 1886, and therefore in the three months from January to March much work could not be done on the fair-weather roads and on the metalled roads: no works, as a rule, are done in the dry season.

3. Village Roads.—The remarks in paragraph 2 in regard to district roads hold good in the case of village roads.

4. Arboriculture.—The three nursery gardens that are in existence in this district are in a satisfactory state, and mallies have been engaged to grow trees on roadsides. Some of the trees that were planted in previous year were partly damaged by the late cyclone.

PART IV.

Bills of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Report of the Select Committee, together with the Bill as amended by them is, by order of the President, published for general information:—

FINAL REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE ON THE BILL TO AMEND THE MUNICIPAL ACT IV (B.C.) OF 1876.

IN submitting our final report we desire to explain that, in order to keep it within reasonable limits, we have abstained as a general rule from making any remarks where we have left the Bill unaltered. We have carefully considered the reports of the public bodies and associations which have been referred to us.

Chapter I.—Preliminary.—We have altered the preamble so as to make it clear that amalgamation of the Town and Suburbs is one of the objects of the Bill.

Section 1 we have altered so as to admit of an election being held under the Act before the rest of the Act comes into force. We have adopted the provision for this purpose in the Bengal Municipalities Act, III (B.C.) of 1884.

We have framed the definitions of "bustee lands," "hut," "house" and "bustee" so as to admit of the separate procedure we have introduced into the Bill for dealing with houses and huts as regards their valuation, the collection of rates, and building regulations.

We have made a slight change in the boundaries of Calcutta. We have introduced from the Bengal Municipalities Act the definitions of sewage and rubbish. We have omitted the definitions of immoveable property, land, and moveable property as being unnecessary.

Chapter II, Part II, contains the section about control. Section 37 enumerates the duties of the Corporation. This section has been enlarged to include all that should be included as the duties of the Commissioners, and section 38 confers ample powers on the Local Government to compel the Corporation to discharge any of these duties, should it neglect to do so. We could not recommend the re-enactment of the cumbrous and unworkable sections of the former law. On the other hand the discretion and forbearance of the Government constitute the best guarantee which can be given to the Corporation against a hasty and injudicious use of this power. We have introduced an appeal as of right to the Government of India.

In compliance with the views expressed by the Government of India, we have altered the position of the Chairman (Section 39). Under the present law he is practically irremoveable unless he simultaneously loses the confidence both of the Local Government and of the Commissioners. Under the revised section he will be removeable if he loses the confidence of either. This will obviously make his position much more insecure, and we have therefore introduced the change with some hesitation. We understand, however, that it is in conformity with the wishes of the Corporation.

In section 41 we have altered the words "shall in all things be under the immediate orders of the Chairman" into "shall be under the orders of the Chairman." The former sentence, if it means anything more than the latter, means more than it ought. The sentence, as it stands, seems to make the relationship quite clear.

In section 45 we have introduced several minor changes, the most important of which is an extension of the power of the Commissioners in meeting in the selection of officers on Rs. 200 to Rs. 500 salary. This concession will, we learn, be much valued by the Commissioners as leaving them a power of choice: at the same time, as the choice is limited to one of three candidates nominated by the Chairman, it will be his own fault if any incompetent person is selected.

The other changes introduced by us, down to section 60 inclusive, are comparatively unimportant and explain themselves.

The old section 52, now section 60, has been divided into two sections, and the latter part of it recast. The important clause in the new section 61 is the last. The section as it stood gave only the Chairman and Vice-Chairman power to represent the Commissioners in their executive functions, and it therefore became necessary in every section in which it was intended that a subordinate officer might act without the formal sanction of the Chairman or Vice-Chairman to put in words to that effect. Eventually this was found cumbersome and unnecessary. The new clause seems to meet all that is wanted; the Chairman under his own responsibility distributes the work to the subordinate officers under section 41 or under his general powers, and each officer within the sphere of the work thus made over to him should be considered to be acting with the Chairman's authority, referring to him, when so ordered, or in all important cases, and acting with his implied sanction where authorized to act without reference.

The changes which we have made in the remaining sections of Chapter II and in Parts I, II and III of Chapter III do not call for any special remark.

Chapter III, Part IV.—The section authorising the imposition of a duty on petroleum has been recast to meet the objections of the Government of India to any duty being levied on petroleum stored in Calcutta for consumption elsewhere. We have been invited by one of our colleagues to omit the section altogether in consequence of the duty recently levied on petroleum by the Supreme Government; but a careful consideration of the circumstances which resulted in the insertion of this section has led us to conclude that it would not be fair to the enlarged municipality to omit it—at any rate until some equivalent has been proposed.

On the 4th August 1884 a Committee was appointed by the Government of Bengal, consisting of the Chairman of the Corporation, Mr. W. Craik, Raja (then Baboo) Doorga Churn Law, Mr. G. H. Morrison, Baboo Jodoo Lal Mullick, Baboo Kally Nath Mitter, Mr. A. H. Wallis, and Mr. C. E. Buckland, to consider whether the revenues of Calcutta could be augmented by an octroi or in any other similar manner. This Committee considered many proposals for new forms of taxation or for enhancing the revenue from existing forms, and eventually the only proposal they were able to recommend with any approach to unanimity was that for the taxation of petroleum. On this point the Committee were unanimous.

Partly owing to the report of this Committee, the Government in June 1885 appointed a Committee to prepare a scheme for the union of the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta, consisting of Mr. Reynolds as President, the Chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta, the Chairman of the Suburban Corporation, Baboo Kally Nath Mitter, and Dr. Guru Das Banerjee.

The views of this Committee regarding the financial aspects of the amalgamation question were contained in paragraphs 13 to 18 of the report, and their character will fully appear in the orders of the Government of Bengal passed on the report in the letter to the Government of India, No. 448 of the 24th January 1886, paragraphs 4, 5, and 6.

"PARA. 4. In paragraphs 13—18 of the Report the Committee discuss the probable financial position of the new Corporation, and record their conclusion that any scheme of amalgamation should be accompanied, first, by a substantial increase in the municipal income which will not involve any alteration of the present legal limits of taxation in Calcutta, and also by an agreement on the part of Government to advance at a reasonable rate of interest such funds as the Corporation may require to raise by way of loan for permanent improvements. They calculate that the municipal income of the new Calcutta would be about 84 lakhs at the rate of taxation now obtaining in the town, and they hold, not without reason, that a considerably larger sum will be required. They do not state the amount, but it is understood to be not less than six lakhs. In order to provide this they suggest that the Government should relieve the new metropolis of all charges on account of police, which would be equivalent to an annual contribution of about three lakhs of rupees; that the system on which railways and canals are rated in the Town and Suburbs should be changed; and that some allotment might be made to municipal funds from canal receipts, from the profits of the Orphangunge and Punchannogram estates, or from the excise revenue now realised from the town.

"4. In the calculations made by the Committee they have assumed 7½ per cent. as the rate of house-tax. But having regard to what has already passed upon the subject, and the definite expression of the Government of India's views upon it, in estimating the resources of the new Corporation, the full legal rate of the house-tax should have been taken as the basis of calculation, and this would give about four lakhs more than the amount estimated in the report. As, however, it will probably be thought necessary in future legislation to provide for the reduction of the weight of the house-tax in the case of the poorer classes of owners, the above sum should be reduced to three lakhs. The Committee appeal to the proceedings of the Octroi Committee and the conclusions of the Municipal Commissioners upon that Committee's, proposals in support of their opinion that the municipal income should be supplemented from without rather than from within. But both the Octroi Committee and the Municipal Commissioners unanimously recommended that a fee of two annas a case should be levied on all petroleum brought into the town, and it was estimated that such a tax would yield about Rs. 94,000 from Calcutta, the Suburbs and Howrah; out of which it may safely be assumed that at least Rs. 75,000 would be derived from Calcutta and the Suburbs. The Lieutenant-Governor considers that the feasibility of imposing this tax may unobjectionably be considered in the course of the legislation required to carry out the proposed amalgamation.

"5. Turning now to the suggestions made to aid the Corporation, the Lieutenant-Governor can only repeat the desire already more than once expressed by him to relieve the metropolis of all charge on account of police. But, as the Government of India is aware, this Government cannot undertake to defray the charge from the resources now at its disposal. The permanent burthen thrown upon the Bengal revenues by the transfer of the Municipal Police Force in the interior amounts to Rs. 5,11,000 a year, while the total improvement in the provincial receipts from all sources, except Public Works, during the last four years is barely seven and a half lakhs. It is only by rigorously cutting out almost every item of optional expenditure that Sir Rivers Thompson has been able in his forecast for the coming year to provide for a small excess on the receipt side of the Provincial estimate, and it would not be in his power by any practicable retrenchments in other departments to meet the charge for the Metropolitan Police. He ventures to hope therefore that the Government of India will be disposed to assist him in the matter by placing means at his disposal to relieve the new Corporation of the charge.

"In this case the Calcutta Municipality in its new constitution would probably start with the following approximate addition to the increase estimated by the Committee:—

	Rs.
Net increase of house-tax	3,00,000
Storage tax on petroleum	75,000
Amount set free by transfer of police charge	3,00,000
Total ...	6,75,000

"The suggestion to change the system of rating railways and canals within the municipality practically amounts to a request for an additional contribution from Government; but the Lieutenant-Governor is distinctly of opinion that such aid, if given at all, should be given directly rather than indirectly, and that under present circumstances no more assistance should be given than that involved in the transfer to Government of the police charges. It is therefore unnecessary to dwell on the objections to making any allotments from any of the various branches of Government revenue suggested by the Committee.

"6. The questi ns connected with borrowing by municipal and other local bodies have been so fully discussed, and the definite decisions of the Government of India and Secretary of State on the subject are so recent, that the Lieutenant-Governor does not feel justified in asking to have the subject re-opened. It is possible that the difficulty now found by public bodies in raising loans in the local market may be merely temporary, and that it may disappear before the new municipality comes into existence. The Lieutenant-Governor is also inclined to hope that the improvements to be made in the constitution and organization of the Corporation may have the effect of bettering its credit. In any case Sir Rivers Thompson is of opinion that it is at present undesirable to attempt to settle finally the questions connected with the loan operations of the municipality, which it is proposed to re-constitute, and he has touched on the subject here, only because it forms a prominent part of the report of the amalgamation question."

The Government of India having approved in general terms of this letter, the Amalgamation Bill was introduced, and in the Statement of Objects and Reasons it was said:—

"In effecting the amalgamation, care has been taken to protect the rate-payers of the town against loss owing to the diversion of their rates and taxes for the benefit of the new area to be added to Calcutta. The rates and taxes levied throughout the enlarged area will be uniform, and it should obviously be the endeavour of the new Corporation to bestow on all parts of the municipality similar advantages, so far as time and circumstances permit. The natural effect of this would be that money would flow, as it does in all similar cases, from the centre to the extremities. To compensate for this the Government proposes to give up the contribution now paid by the Town and Suburbs to the police. This is estimated at about 3 lakhs of rupees per annum, nine-tenths of which is paid by the town. What the present rate-payers of the town will gain by this remission is estimated as approximately equivalent to what they will lose by amalgamation with a more sparsely populated and poorer tract.

"It is proposed to levy a conservancy rate with the same maximum as the police rate and from the same class of rate-payers. By this means the rate-payers of the town will be in a position to contribute annually about Rs. 2,80,000 towards the improvement of the area amalgamated with it, without being any worse off quâ taxation than they are at present

"It is also proposed to allow a storage fee, which may be raised with the consent of Government to a maximum of four annas a case (though two annas is the rate contemplated) on all petroleum brought within municipal limits for storage or consumption. Petroleum passing through Calcutta and not stored in it will not be liable to this tax."

From these proceedings it seems to the Committee that the rate-payers of the Town and Suburbs who are to be amalgamated have been justified in supposing that if it was found feasible to levy a duty on petroleum, at least so far as consumed in Calcutta, that duty would be sanctioned as one of the means of furnishing them with the revenue necessary to enable them to deal adequately with the new responsibilities which will devolve upon the governing body, and this source of income is much more urgently needed now than it was supposed to be at that time. It was found necessary to raise the house-rate to 8 per cent. two years ago to meet the increasing needs of sanitation, and we learn that since then the sanitary requirements of the town have rendered it necessary to estimate for the full 10 per cent. house-rate (the maximum) to meet them during the ensuing year, and to abandon the allotment usually made from revenue for minor town improvements.

The financial prospects of the new Corporation will therefore be seriously injured if this duty, which we believe it would be feasible to collect without hardship or appreciable inconvenience, is abandoned, because petroleum has been subsequently made the subject of imperial taxation. The Bombay Corporation is allowed to levy an import duty on wines and spirits, though equally subjected to imperial taxation, and the revenue they receive from this source amounts to Rs. 1,50,000 a year. The cases seem to be exactly parallel, and we are in hopes that a full exposition of the history of this section may induce the Government to show the same indulgence to one Corporation as has been shown to the other.

Chapter IV—We have thought it expedient to recast Part I—'Of imposing the rates.'

In the report of the Select Committee of the House of Commons which was appointed in 1870 very great importance was attached to making owners and occupiers jointly liable for the rates. The report stated—1. (e) "that in any reform of the existing system of local taxation it is expedient to adjust the system of rating in such a manner that both owners and occupiers may be brought to feel an immediate interest in the increase or decrease of local expenditure and in the administration of local affairs." On this principle we adopted last year a suggestion of our colleague the Hon'ble Kally Nath Mitter to consolidate the various rates and levy half from the owners and half from the occupiers in lieu of levying the whole of one rate from owners and the whole of the other rates from occupiers By this system owners were only interested in keeping down expenditure defrayed from the house-rate, while occupiers were interested in keeping down a different class of expenditure. It was believed that this had worked badly, and the proposal to make each class equally interested in each rate by dividing the consolidated rate had therefore our cordial support.

It has been pointed out, however, in paragraph 18 of the letter of the Trades' Association of the 25th November that this has the effect of transferring a portion of taxation from the owners to the occupiers, as under the existing law the rates are being levied at 9¼ and 7¾ per cent. respectively, and the Association say that the consolidated rate ought to be divided in the same proportions.

There is much force in this objection; but it is very desirable for obvious reasons to make the division equal; and in addition to the three rates payable by the occupiers, aggregating a maximum of 9¼ per cent., they have also to pay fees for the establishment of mehters entertained under section 244 of the present Act. These fees are payable by occupiers, and are levied in accordance with a sliding scale, which is as high as 50 per cent. on houses and huts rented at Rs. 2 a month, about 5 per cent. on houses or huts rented at Rs. 20 a month, about 2 per cent. on houses rented at Rs. 200 a month, and ¼ per cent. on houses rented at Rs. 2,000 a month. It is evident that if a uniform rate of 2 per cent. for this service could be equitably substituted for this sliding scale of fees, and consolidated with the other rates, it would exactly balance the shares payable by the owners and occupiers, who would each be liable to a maximum rate of 11½ per cent. The consolidated rate, including all these rates and fees, might then with perfect equity be equally divided between owners and occupiers. We have therefore considered the question from the financial point of view of the effect of a 2 per cent. rate, and from the equitable point of view of levying a uniform rate instead of a sliding scale of fees. The scale of fees imposed in the town produces at present a little less than two lacs annually. The scale of fees in the suburbs is perforce much higher than in the town, and produces rather more than one lac. The total present income is therefore somewhat in excess of three lacs. The present assessed annual value of the town and of the portion of the suburbs to be added to it, is about 160 lacs. A 2 per cent. rate on this will produce Rs. 3,20,000 annually, or allowing 5 per cent. for bad debts, about the same as the present fees.

As regards the equity of the change, it presents somewhat greater difficulty. The fees are at present collected only from houses whose privies are unconnected. Houses with connected privies pay nothing, as the establishment performs no service.

We are of opinion, however, that when fully considered the change will be found to be an improvement on the existing system. Occupiers are equally benefited by the Corporation, whether night-soil is removed by an establishment of mehters or by underground drains, and for many years past the connection of privies with the underground drains, has been refused in all the more crowded parts of the Town, in consequence of the danger of choking up the connections with fœcal matter. Only the larger and better built houses have been allowed to have connections. Practically, therefore, the poorer members of the community have had to pay very heavy fees indeed for an establishment forced upon them by the danger to the health of the Town, which would have resulted from their being allowed to connect, as the owners of many of the wealthier houses have been allowed.

This prohibition, though based hitherto on the non-completion of the water-supply extension, it will, in the opinion of Dr. Simpson and other eminent sanitary authorities, be necessary to retain in the future as well as in the past. In all but the best built houses, and especially in a climate such as that of Calcutta, the present system is far safer than the connected system, and should in the interests of the health of the Town be maintained. If so, it seems fair that the privileged few should pay as much as those to whom connections are refused. This is how the equity of the case has presented itself to the framers of the Bombay Bill, where the establishment has long been in existence for the whole Town, and the new sewers are recently affording an opportunity of making connections. The Halalkhor rate (section 141) is leviable in respect of premises—

"(a) Situated in any portion of the city in which public notice has been given by the Commissioners that the collection, removal and disposal of all excrementitious and polluted matter from privies, urinals and cess-pools will be undertaken by municipal agency ; or

" (b) in which, wherever situate, there is a privy, water-closet, cess-pool, urinal, bathing-place, and cooking-place connected by a drain with a municipal drain."

In Calcutta also this was the view taken by the Commissioners when the subject was first discussed, though the law (section 244) had been so framed that they could not give effect to their views.

In 1877, a special Committee of 13 Commissioners was appointed " to consider the best arrangements for the removal of night-soil from private houses."

In paragraph 27 of their report, submitted on the 29th December 1877, they wrote—

" In the course of the discussions regarding the schedule of fees to be adopted, the Chairman expressed an opinion that the better plan for realising a sufficient sum to meet the expenditure for the removal of night-soil from private houses would be the imposition of a 3 per cent. drainage rate payable by occupiers of houses and lands in the entire town, and he proposed that the legislature be moved to sanction such a rate, estimating at the same time the gross proceeds of the rate, less remissions, at Rs. 3,55,000. The sense of the majority went with the Chairman (Dr. Rajendralal Mitra, Revd. Dr. K. M. Banerjee, and Hon'ble Kristo Das Pal dissenting), but it was agreed that no immediate action should be taken in the matter at present. "

It will thus be seen that if the proposal as now made is adopted, it will only be endorsing what would have been adopted from the outset had the law permitted it.

The practical benefit which this will confer on the poorer class of rate-payers will be very great. It may be taken as a general rule that the uniformity of rating is almost a first principle for the success of municipal administration. In the present case, the Commissioners supply sewers for the use of the larger and better built houses, a staff of mehters for those which have unconnected privies, and free latrines, maintained at considerable expense, for those which have no privies. They therefore meet the wants of all persons residing in the city ; and though no doubt some receive more than others in proportion to what they pay, there seems no more reason for making this payment differential than there is for making the lighting rate differential. In the Parliamentary Committee, already referred to, great stress was laid on this principle. They reported :—

" (5) That the great variety of rates levied by different authorities even in the same area on different assessments with different deductions, and by different Collectors, has produced great confusion and expense, and that in any change of the law as regards local taxation, uniformity, simplicity of assessment and collection, as well as of economy of management, ought to be secured as far as possible.

" (6) That the consolidation into one rate of all local rates collected within the same area is a matter of great importance, and that your Committee concur in the Resolution of the Select Committee on Poor Rates Assessment, 1865, which recommended one consolidated rate."

The system of Calcutta has never been nearly as confusing as that in England, but nevertheless the present night-soil fees system has been productive of great expense, harassment and inconvenience. About 32,000 premises are served by the establishment of mehters, 32,000 extra bills therefore have to be prepared every quarter, each forming the subject of a separate calculation at a scale different from the ordinary rate-bills. A large establishment has to report constantly the houses in respect to which service is discontinued or newly provided. In very many of these cases, amounting to about 10 per cent. of the whole number of the bills, the report is challenged, and, if adhered to after further enquiry, the amount has to be recovered by the coercive procedure. Thus the time of a large establishment is taken up in preparing the bills, of another establishment in making local enquiries, and of a third establishment in enforcing payment from the poorest rate-payers of the town, of what, even without costs, is a 5 to a 50 per cent rate on their rent. If our proposals in this matter are approved of, we are satisfied that a very great boon will be conferred on the poorer classes in the town.

In section 117 we have made it obligatory on the Commissioners to levy the consolidated rate on bustees from the owners of the land, leaving the latter to recover half the rate of the land and the whole of the rate of the hut from the hut-owners. It is proposed to allow one-eighth of the rate to the land-owners for the costs of collection. This also will lead to economy of management in the valuation of bustees, and therefore the rate assessed upon them will be fixed once a year for the year, instead of constantly fluctuating with every new hut built or removed, and one bill will be made out for each bustee property instead of a large number. We also cannot doubt that it will relieve the hut-owner from harassment, though this result is questioned. It is said that the little finger of the owner will be thicker than the loins of the municipal collecting establishment; but the hut-owner has already to settle with the owner of the land, who naturally asks as much as he can induce the hut-owner to pay. The hut-owner will have no difficulty whatsoever in ascertaining what he is bound to pay in addition as rates, and it is difficult to see why he should let himself be more fleeced for rates and rent combined than for rent only. On the other hand the municipal collecting establishment with its warrant machinery will be altogether kept aloof from the hut owners, and this cannot but be to their benefit.

The principle is not new in Calcutta. Section 100 of the present Act gives the Commissioners the requisite authority to collect the occupiers rates from the landlord in the case of small holdings; but as the section does not refer to the house-rate (which the hut has to pay) or to the night-soil fees, nothing would have been gained under the existing law by using its provisions.

Chapter V.—The valuation section has again received our best consideration. Last year we estimated 6 per cent. on the ordinary cost price, as the fairest standard of the annual value of houses not built for letting purposes or ordinarily let. This has been challenged in the 'remarks' annexed to the letter of the British Indian Association of the 23rd December last, on two main grounds—first, as being "grossly unsound" in principle; secondly, because 6 per cent. "is notoriously more than owners on an average get from houses which are built for letting purposes." Each of these objections should be separately considered; and to enable the objection as to principle to be fairly estimated, the circumstances which led to the change in the section should be stated. Houses in Calcutta might be divided into three categories for assessment purposes—(1) houses built for letting purposes, whether as residences for Europeans, as tenanted houses for the large number of native gentlemen, students, and others who, leaving their families in the mofussil, reside in Calcutta in pursuance of their avocations, or as business premises for offices, godowns, shops, &c.; (2) houses built by the owners for their own use, either as residential houses for their families, or by Government and other large owners as offices and business premises; (3) tiled huts built by one man on another man's land, either for his own occupation, or to let out in rooms to poorer occupants.

Of these three classes, the first has as a rule been fully assessed; the rent actually paid has been usually taken as the best test of the rate at which the premises might reasonably be expected to let from year to year; and as no allowance or deduction has been made for the cost of repairs, these houses have been rated higher than they would have been according to the English system.

Similarly, the third class has been over-assessed; the rate at which such huts let is high, and the cost of repairs heavy; but the full rent without any deduction for repairs is taken as the annual value.

The second class must be divided into two sub-classes—(a) residential family houses; (b) Government or other large buildings.

The latter have been assessed very much on the system proposed in the section, checked by comparison with similar buildings that are constructed for letting purposes. In many cases, the cost price being known, a valuation of 6 per cent. on this price when the building is new has been taken as the annual rent.

But the numerous residential family houses which abound in the north and east of the town have been rated on a very different principle. Not being built for letting purposes and being specially adapted to the family of the owner, it has been argued that the price at which they might reasonably be expected to let from year to year is very small. This principle having been accepted and habitually acted on as the right one by the assessment benches, these houses, amounting to a considerable portion of the assessable property of the town, have been assessed far below their proper value, and have paid far below their fair share of rates. The case quoted by the Association, which is a typical case, clearly illustrates the demoralisation which has resulted from this most inequitable system. In this case a new house with its grounds was known to have cost Rs. 1,80,000, and the assessor, in valuing it at Rs 400 a month, remarked that this was less than 2¼ per cent. on the cost. Evidence of experts was forthcoming that such a house would not command a letting value of more than Rs. 250 a month, or 1 66 per cent. on the cost! We need scarcely say that this is not the correct interpretation of the English law. In the case of such houses in England as are not built to let to tenants from year to year, the rule has been judicially declared to be that "a hypothetical tenant must be assumed, and the terms of such tenancy are not difficult to be conceived; the occupying tenant must be assumed to pay adequate remuneration to a contractor for land and fixed capital vested therein, and the local rateable value would be such a sum as would pay the rent of the land and profit on the fixed capital therein." (Decision of Mr. Justice Wightman quoted in the 7th edition of Lumley's Law of Parochial Assessments, page 19).

This is precisely the principle which we desire to see clearly expressed in the Bill.

It is worthy of remark, too, that it is in regard to residential houses such as these that a house-tax is selected by economists as one of the best and fairest of taxes, while "it is an admitted principle that buildings or portions of buildings occupied exclusively for business, such as shops, warehouses or manufactories, ought to be exempted from house-tax" (Mill, Book V, clause III, section 6). In Calcutta, while some residential houses have borne but a nominal assessment, business premises have been rated at a rack rent.

So far as the general principle is concerned, we feel no manner of doubt that we are advocating a principle of justice and equity, and that the British Indian Association are endeavouring to defend an untenable abuse.

Whether 6 per cent. is or is not too high a rate is obviously a different question. We have made careful enquiries as to the return which investors in house property generally expect to get for their money. The "remarks" of the British Indian Association assert that it is notorious that house property in Calcutta does not fetch more than 4 per cent. on the outlay. The courts of law as a rule only award 16 years' purchase of the annual value, which would point to 6 per cent. as below the fair annual rental. On the other hand the Rating and House-tax Bill introduced into Parliament by Mr. Goschen in 1871, as the immediate result of the Report of the Committee of which he was Chairman, contained the following section :—

"The annual gross value of every hereditament shall be the annual rent which a tenant might reasonably be expected, taking one year with another, to pay for it if the tenant undertook to pay all usual tenants' rates and taxes and the tithe commutation rent charge, if any, and if the landlord undertook to bear the cost of the repairs and insurance and all other expenses necessary to maintain the hereditament in a state to command that rent.

"The annual rateable value shall be estimated by deducting from the gross annual value the probable annual average cost of the repairs, insurance, and other expenses above referred to.

"When it appears to the assessing authority that for special reasons a building cannot be fairly valued according to the annual rent which a tenant might reasonably be expected to pay for it, it shall be valued in the following manner :—

"The gross value of any such building shall be a sum equal to 4 per cent. on the capital sum which a purchaser might justly be expected to give for such a building in its actual state and existing mode of occupation. The rateable value shall be the gross value so calculated after making the same deductions as are made in the case of any building valued in the ordinary manner."

This would cut down the rateable value to about 3½ per cent., and the question is whether 6 per cent. in India is a more liberal return for house property than 3½ per cent in England. We have received assurances that some house-owners do not receive a clear 6 per cent. on their house property after making all deductions ; and, on the whole, we have come to the conclusion that, looking to the present under-assessment of these houses, it is best to err on the safe side and to take 5 per cent. as the fair net return on house property. This obviously involves the consequence that tenanted houses should be assessed on their net and not on their gross rental, and we have therefore allowed, as is done in similar laws elsewhere, a deduction of 10 per cent. on the actual rental for repairs. The 5 per cent. rate will similarly, we think, be a fairer rate on the expenditure incurred by Government in the construction of its buildings.

In accordance with the strong recommendations of the Port Commissioners, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Trades' Association, we have re-inserted the proviso exempting machinery. We observe that this proviso, which had similarly been omitted in the Bombay Bill, has been similarly restored there by the Select Committee.

We have as already indicated, introduced (section 124) a new system of rating bustees, by which the value of the bustee at the beginning of the year shall remain unaltered for assessment purposes throughout the year. The valuation may be continued for a similar period by mutual consent of the Commissioners and of the owner, but either of the two parties has the right to insist on a revaluation at the end of the year.

The register of owners is at present very badly kept up, many owners preferring to leave the names of their ancestors or predecessors in title on the register instead of inserting their own. As we have endeavoured to remedy this, we have thought it necessary (section 128) to facilitate the machinery of registration when a claimant's title, though undisputed, cannot be easily proved.

Chapter VI.—We have made no alterations of any consequence in Chapter VI 'of levying the rates.'

Chapter VII deals with the water-supply. In section 150 we have thought it fair to make it obligatory on the Commissioners to treat the crews of vessels lying at the jetties or in the docks as residents of the jetties or docks, and, looking to the large amount of water-rate paid by the Port Commissioners, to supply them with water free of charge. We have maintained, however, the right to make a reasonable charge for water to be taken away from Calcutta for use on the voyage.

Section 153 indicates the pressure which is to be maintained ; and as nearly every public body and association that has reported on the Bill, has referred to this section, and begged that the obligations of the Corporation may be clearly defined, it has received our most careful consideration.

We append to this report a note by the Chairman of the Corporation explaining the reasons why pressure cannot, under existing arrangements, be maintained. It seems to us that this note conclusively shows that the scale of ferrules which is at present in force under the orders of the Commissioners, is so lavish that it is only possible to maintain an adequate pressure, if the supplyof water and the engine-power is more than doubled, or if the size of the ferrules is reduced. The former alternative would be far the most satisfactory were not the cost altogether prohibitive. That being so, the only remedy which we regard as practicable is to reduce the size of the ferrules.

It must be borne in mind that the supply which the Commissioners are, under the existing law, bound to give to connected houses is only 1,500 gallons for every rupee of water-rate, and they are entitled to affix a meter and to charge for all water consumed in excess of this scale. It is true that this does not apply to houses assessed at less than Rs. 100 a month, but still the section indicates clearly what is the amount of water which is a fair return for the water-rate paid.

The supply has been increased so much since this scale was prescribed that there will now be no difficulty in guaranteeing 3,000 gallons of filtered water for every rupee of rate. We propose therefore to substitute 3,000 gallons for 1,500 gallons in section 153, and having thus secured the rate-payers double the supply which they are at present entitled to, only those who have consumed much more than this quantity can be aggrieved if the ferrules are reduced, and they are precisely the class who have no claim to have their complaint entertained.

The only question is whether we should leave the Commissioners to revise the scale of ferrules or should revise them by law. It seems to us better to insert the change in the law. The effect of this measure must infallibly be misunderstood at first by the rate-payers at large, and it would be imposing a very hard task on the Commissioners to leave it to them to pass so unpopular a proposal. We appear to have enough data before us to enable us, with the experience of the last 18 years, to fix a fair working schedule of ferrules, and we have left a power with the Local Government on the recommendation of the Commissioners in meeting to revise the scale.

As some houses are so disadvantageously situated that they will get an inferior pressure, we have provided that, whenever it is shown that the ferrule will not give the supply to which a householder is entitled, he shall have a right to such an enlarged ferrule as will give him this supply.

In section 160, by which the Commissioners are empowered to lay open and inspect gas-pipes or other works which are thought to be fouling the water-supply, we have adopted a suggestion of the Health Society to make it incumbent upon the Commissioners at once to purify the water if found to be contaminated.

Chapters VIII and IX.—The other alterations made in this Chapter, as well as those made in Chapters VIII and IX, are comparatively unimportant.

Chapter X.—'Of Conservancy and Improvement,' and Chapter XI 'of Sanitation' have, in conformity with suggestions made, been re-arranged and divided into Chapter X 'of Streets and Building Regulations,' Chapter XI 'of Drainage Works, Drains and Privies,' and Chapter XII 'of Sanitation.'

In Part I of Chapter X "of the Streets" we have added a new section taken from the Bombay Act, in order to make it perfectly clear that the Commissioners, when making new streets, may acquire the land outside the line of the street and may re-sell such land. A comparison of sections 111 and 113 of Act VI of 1863 with sections 190, 327, and 329 of the existing law, has left no doubt on our minds that this had always been the intention of the legislature, and we consider it a perfectly fair and equitable proviso. We have, prescribed a limit of 100 feet on each side of the proposed line of the new street for the land to be acquired.

We have also made it clear (section 205) that when a public street is closed the site may be sold, any person injured thereby being compensated, unless he has got an equivalent by the new street which presumably will have been opened in its place.

In consequence of a difficulty experienced in working section 265 in a recent case, we have in the corresponding section (207) made it clear that in exercising the power to set back when a house is pulled down to be rebuilt, the Commissioners are only bound to pay the market value of the land taken, together with severance compensation, and we have given the same power where new streets have been formally projected, as a very important power to be exercised if new suburbs are likely to spring up in the added area.

Parts II and III 'of Building Regulations,' regarding houses and huts, have been almost entirely re-written with reference to the recommendations made from many quarters in favour of conferring more ample building powers on the Commissioners, so as to obviate the serious future evils which must ensue from allowing houses to be constructed on no regular lines, as has been done in Rajah Bagan and elsewhere. We are so satisfied that this was needed that we have framed these parts of the Act expressly to meet this difficulty. It will be best to describe the general object of these sections rather than to refer to them in detail.

We have retained the fundamental difference in these chapters as in the chapters on valuations and in the collection of rates, between houses usually built of masonry which are constructed on land belonging to the builders, and huts usually built of mud, where the hut-owner builds on another man's land.

As regards the construction of houses, we have been invited to pay attention to two main points, (1) their being erected on such sites and in such a manner that they will admit of broad straight streets running through them; (2) their being so constructed as to guarantee proper ventilation, air spaces, open ground round them, and such other sanitary conditions as are found in the English model bye-laws, and are also introduced into the Bombay Act. We have not admitted the equal importance of each of these requirements.

Full and effective control over the site we have regarded as indispensable not only to regulate the new masonry buildings which are being erected in the town, but still more those which may spring up round the docks or elsewhere; but as regards ventilation and air spaces, we are of opinion that the circumstances of Indian and English life are so different, as well as the climatic conditions, that there is not sufficient experience to justify the legislature in imposing hard-and-fast rules such as are prescribed in the English model bye-laws. We have therefore generally indicated that the Commissioners have control over houses with reference to sufficient ventilation and air spaces, and have made it clear in the law that a person is not entitled, if he owns two or three cottahs of land, to cover it all with buildings, causing, if his neighbours choose to do the same with this land, an irremediably insanitary condition; but having laid down this general principle, we have left the application of it to the Health Officer working under the control of the Commissioners, who have power to make bye-laws on the subject.

As regards sites, the Commissioners have power to lay down lines of projected public streets, and private persons may construct streets approved of by the Commissioners; but unless the satisfactory position of the site can be shown with reference to either an existing or a projected public or private street, the Commissioners may refuse sanction to it. The effect of this will be that the lines of streets in building areas must as a general rule be laid down before the buildings can be constructed, being the reverse of what now takes place.

As regards bustees, we have preserved the present power of making improvements after inspection by two medical officers; but we have added a new power which will, we hope, work more widely and systematically. The Commissioners have power to define the limits of each bustee, and, having done so, to call for a standard plan showing how the huts are eventually to be arranged in it, so as to stand in regular lines. Powers are given to enforce the preparation of this plan, and, once prepared, no new hut can be constructed or existing hut reconstructed except in accordance with it.

If these provisions are enforced intelligently for a few years, all the bustees in the municipality will be brought into conformity with the law, and the huts will be so arranged as to afford all the necessary facilities for scavenging and cleansing.

Chapter XI.—The changes introduced into Chapter XI on Drainage are, with one exception, unimportant, though there has been some re-arrangement of sections. The exception is a new section taken from the Bombay Bill to enable the Commissioners in any new drainage works to provide separate sewers for sewage and drainage.

In Chapter XII, Part I, (on Scavenging and Cleansing), we have introduced a provision from the Bombay Bill making it obligatory on owners whose animals die, either to remove the carcass or to report to the Commissioners for its removal. At present this is almost invariably done, but there is no legal obligation.

As Part II of this Chapter we have introduced from the Bombay law sections authorising the inspection and sanitary regulation of premises, and we have made some changes in Part III for the prevention of infectious diseases. In these parts we have introduced a section from the Bombay Bill authorising under certain circumstances the demolition of a hut in order to prevent the spread of disease. In section 324 we have limited the right to force unwilling persons to go to hospital to the case of males. We are informed that the provisions of this section were regarded with dismay in many families, where the contingency was conceived of zenana ladies being forced to go to hospital by a zealous executive, as being 'without proper lodging or accommodation,' or as 'lodged in a manner which makes the spread of such infectious disease imminent.' We have left out the concluding words altogether as being too wide; but as the persons who it will be necessary to move will in nine cases out of ten in Calcutta be males, and it is desirable to allay apprehensions at a very small cost as regards loss of efficiency, we have by a small majority limited the provision to males.

The alterations which we have made in Part V of this Chapter, viz, 'of slaughter-houses and dangerous and offensive trades,' and Part VI 'of markets and the sale of food and drugs' are very slight, though we have re-arranged the sections.

Part VII of Weights and Measures is new, being taken from the Bombay Law. The Calcutta Police Act IV (B.C.) of 1866, sections 55 and 56, gives power to the Commissioner of Police to keep standard weights and measures and to seize false weights. The municipality, having the control of markets, ought, we think, also to keep standard weights and to offer facilities to vendors to have their weights examined and compared with the standards, and, if correct, stamped as such. The new sections provide for this.

In Part VIII of burial grounds and burning ghâts we have provided for requiring the owners of private burial grounds to submit plans of them, if called upon; while the municipality is charged with the same duty as regards public burial grounds. We have also introduced a section (377) from the Bengal Municipalities Act prohibiting new or disused burial grounds from being used without the consent either of the Government or of the Commissioners.

The changes in Part IX of nuisances and in Part I, Chapter XIII, of rights of entry, are only verbal.

Chapter XIII.—In Part II we have altered the heading to 'of the acquisition and disposal of land' and have made the wording more comprehensive.

In Part III 'of Railways' we have, as directed, placed the powers of the Corporation under the direct control of the Government of India.

In Chapter XIV 'of the Municipal Debt' we have also, as directed, transferred the control from the local Government to the Government of India, and have provided for a form of the scrip of the consolidated loan should such a loan be resorted to.

In Chapter XVII 'of prosecutions' we have introduced a section (422) empowering the Commissioners in meeting to apply to Government to appoint special Magistrates for the trial of offences against the Municipal Act. This we regard as of great importance.

In Chapter XIX, Miscellaneous, we have made several alterations. We have introduced a more definite procedure similar to that laid down in sections 175-185 of the Bengal Municipalities Act, defining the rights of persons called upon to execute any work to have their objections duly heard and determined. At present this branch of executive administration works badly, mainly because persons called upon to do any work rarely object till after the work is done and the bill sent in, when they raise every possible objection to payment. If, as is probable, the suggested procedure leads to more objections being made before execution of the work, it will be a much greater gain than the slight delay in execution will prove an inconvenience. These sections also give power to the Commissioners to divide the expenses among the owners or occupiers when more than one are equitably liable.

In section 452 we have introduced a provision from the same Act, protecting the city from strikes of mehters and scavengers. Past experience has shown that this is very much needed in Calcutta.

We have exempted public burial grounds and burning ghâts from being rated.

We have introduced (sections 456 to 459) provisions for enabling the Local Government to alter the boundaries of Calcutta from time to time as necessity for so doing may arise. These sections are taken from the India Act of 1884 (Act XVII), but we have thought it right to except from these provisions, the area under the original jurisdiction of the High Court.

NOTE ON THE WATER-SUPPLY.

1. DIVERGENT and often antagonistic as are the opinions expressed on other provisions of the new Municipal Bill by the public bodies and associations that have been consulted, there is one section in regard to which entire unanimity prevails—section 134.

This section runs thus—

"The Commissioners shall, between the hours of six in the forenoon and eight in the afternoon, so far as may be reasonably practicable, keep and maintain throughout their pipes and mains a sufficient supply of filtered water under a pressure of not less than 10 feet, for the domestic use of the rate-payers, and shall every day, for not less than two hours in the forenoon and one hour in the afternoon, maintain a pressure of water in the service pipes and mains sufficient to raise the water in all houses and places in which the same may be introduced within the area at present supplied to a height of not less than 30 feet."

2. Commenting on this section, the British Indian Association strongly protest against the reduction of the pressure from 50 to 30 feet. The Indian Association close their letter with the hope that a minimum pressure of 30 feet may be fixed. The Health Society consider that the words "so far as may be reasonably practicable" render the section unworkable. The Port Commissioners also recommend by a majority the omission of these words. The Chamber of Commerce attach importance to this. They entirely support the contention of the Hon. G Irving, that as regards the water-supply "the maintenance of a sufficient pressure should be as definitely and as unmistakeably laid down in the Act as the provisions in regard to taxation;" and the Trades' Association consider the proviso a very objectionable one, and "trust that the words to which exception is taken may be omitted from the Bill."

3. These strongly-expressed opinions justify me in hoping that the time has come when the public will be prepared to support the only measure that can successfully effect the improvement in pressure which they all desire, viz., a wholesale reduction in the too liberal size of the ferrules already granted for house connections. It is incumbent on me to show that this is the only remedy short of such an expenditure as would double, if not treble, the cost of the water-supply. If I successfully do so, I am justified in hoping that the Select Committee and the public bodies and associations which attach so much importance to this reform will support me in the necessarily unpopular but very salutary measure which affords the only practicable means of maintaining a proper pressure.

4. In considering how far the Commissioners have hitherto discharged the obligations imposed upon them by the law in the matter of water-supply, it is right to bear in mind that the quantity of water which could be fairly taken for domestic consumption was indicated as clearly as the pressure at which it was to be supplied. Section 133 of the present Act contains a provision that "the occupier of every house connected with the water-supply shall be entitled to have free of further charge 1,500 gallons of filtered water for every rupee paid to the Commissioners as water-rate on account of such house."

5. At the present moment 10½ million gallons are being supplied to the Town daily, and the amount being collected as water-rate is considerably less than 7 lakhs of rupees. This gives about 5,500 gallons of water instead of 1,500 supplied for every rupee; and as it will be shown hereafter that all but the very largest houses and properties get more than their share of the supply, it may safely be said that moderately-sized connected houses as a rule are getting 7,000, 10,000 and even 15,000 gallons for every rupee of water-rate paid. The Commissioners have not in the least failed as regards the quantity of water which they have to deliver, and it is well known also that the excellence of the quality is fully maintained. It is merely as regards the pressure at which the supply is delivered and by consequence as regards the distribution that they fail for the reasons which I proceed to indicate.

6. After a house is once connected with the water-supply, the size of the ferrule is the only check which can practically be exercised over the quantity of water which that house will consume at a given pressure, if the supply is continuous. In Calcutta, for reasons which were probably sufficient, it was arranged to deliver water under the continuous and not the intermittent supply system. The intermittent system requires the use of cisterns which are very liable to contamination, and also increases the probability of gas finding its way into the pipes. In Calcutta the supply was at first continuous both by day and night, but after a short time night supply was found impossible. Since, then, the supply has been a continuous day supply, and this the Act indicates that it should remain.

7. If continuous, there is nothing to prevent the ferrule working all day long if the inmates of the house choose to keep their taps running. Hence it must be clearly recognised that under our present system, as soon as we have sanctioned a certain size of ferrule, we have sanctioned implicitly as large a consumption of water as that ferrule will pass during the day. The water may be wasted, or it may be consumed legitimately though extravagantly, but the legal standard of 1,500 gallons for a rupee of water-rate obviously becomes a dead letter if we sanction a ferrule that will give 15,000 gallons for every rupee paid and if the inmates of the house choose to take 15,000 gallons. So far therefore as command over the water to the individual is involved, and loss of command to the Commissioners, this depends on the size of the ferrules, and it is the simple fact that the scale of ferrules sanctioned has been such that it has entailed entire loss of command over the water-supply, and if the Commissioners are to be responsible for the pressure of the future supply, they can only fulfil this duty if they recover their command by a wholesale reduction in the size of the ferrules. This I proceed to show.

8. The following scale of ferrules was sanctioned in the first year of the water-supply, 1870, and has remained in force ever since:—

Monthly assessment of house.	Size of ferrule.
Under 5 rupees	½ inch.

In a few special cases of very large buildings ferrules of 1¾ and 1½ inches have been sanctioned.

9. An accepted formula for water-supply through a ferrule is $G = 13\sqrt{P} \times d^2$ where

P represents the pressure in height of feet, d the diameter of the orifice of the ferrule in inches,
G the number of gallons per minute:

hus if the pressure is represented by a column of water 25 feet in height, and the diameter of the ferrule is ½ inch, the discharge per minute will be—

$$G = 13\sqrt{25} \times (\tfrac{1}{2})^2 = 16\tfrac{1}{4} \text{ gallons}$$ and in an hour, with the same pressure maintained throughout, the ferrule, if working continuously, would deliver $16\frac{1}{4} \times 60 = 975$ gallons.

10. The number of connections sanctioned in the town up to the 31st December 1887, and the amount of water which they can consume per minute, according to this formula, is shown in the following table:—

11. This statement, when examined, conclusively explains the causes of the unsatisfactory pressure. The original water-supply of the town was 6 million gallons per diem. This was after a time raised to 7 and then to 8 millions. At the present moment it is 10½ millions, and before the amalgamation takes effect it will be 16 millions, which is the maximum supply intended for the town proper. The engines and mains were originally calculated for the delivery of a little over 6 million gallons. As the supply has been enlarged, the engine-power has been increased, larger mains have been put down, and the general outline of the extension scheme may be said to be that the filters will pass about 850,000 gallons an hour; that the mains from Pultah to Calcutta will send down about 850,000 gallons an hour; that of the aggregate of 20 million gallons for the town and suburbs, 4 million gallons will be reserved for distribution in the suburbs, and 16 million gallons stored each night in three Town reservoirs for distribution throughout the town during the day from three centres of distribution. The town engines will be capable of distributing 2,604,784 gallons in a single hour, in which case the whole supply would be exhausted in 6 hours; or if 3 hours' full supply is maintained, as the Bill supposes, there would remain nearly a million gallons per hour to be distributed at low pressure. But the figures of the statement given above show that, according to the recognized formula, the houses valued at between Rs. 10 and Rs. 50 a month that are already connected are capable alone of consuming nearly double the maximum supply which the engines can deliver at 30 feet pressure. So that if it is obligatory to maintain a pressure of 30 feet for three hours daily, those houses could take off the whole day's supply in those 3 hours! If all the houses in the town which are already connected were similarly to use their power of taking water, they could take off the whole day's supply in less than one and a half hours!!

12. It need scarcely be said that with the engines and distributing pipes as they now are, this is not what can ever actually happen. All the houses in the town are not drawing water simultaneously, but so widespread is the habit of leaving taps open (and a single tap open in each house causes the ferrule to work at full discharge if a small one, with part of its full discharge if a large one) that it is calculated that at the hours when the water is most in request at least 60 per cent of the ferrules are working. Taking the capacity of the ferrules in round numbers at 12 million gallons an hour, at a pressure of 30 feet, it is easy to see what is the average pressure which each house will actually get if 60 per cent. of the ferrules are simultaneously working. If 2½ million gallons are being delivered to ferrules capable of taking 7½ million gallons at 30 feet pressure, the equation for determining the average pressure will be $3\sqrt{P} = \sqrt{30}$ or $P = \frac{10}{9} = 3{\cdot}3$ feet! Of course what actually happens is that the houses which are a fair distance apart and well situated as regards mains get a moderate pressure of 10 to 15 feet, and before the demand begins, or after it falls off, sometimes 30 feet, and thus take the whole of the supply; while the houses which are crowded together and situated unfavourably as regards the mains will get no supply at all, unless they take it at ground level. But if this must happen even with existing connections, what will it be if still more houses are connected at the same scale of ferrules? The following figures show the number of houses in the town of the different valuations, corresponding with the different ferrules, as compared with the number already connected.

Valuation.	No. of pucca houses or lands.	No. of tiled huts.	Total.	Already connected.

13. It will be seen from these figures that while 3,340 out of 3,667 pucca houses, valued at above Rs. 50 a month, have been connected, nearly 9,000 pucca houses, mostly valued at less than Rs. 50 a month, remain to be connected. Many of these are impatient for connections as soon as permission can be obtained, and if this permission is given, the difficulty will be still greater than it already is.

14. If the assumption is made—which is not far from correct—that the several classes of houses which have command over water make approximately the same use of their command, we have the materials for comparing the relative consumption of water and payment made for it in each of these classes, as it is easy to determine the approximate average assessment of the houses in each class. This has been done in the statement below, and the further check applied of the known aggregate assessment of the entire town. Thus computed, the percentage of payment and of consumption of water in each class is approximately as follows:—

15. The assumption made is if anything too favourable to the connected houses with low assessments; being relatively more thickly populated and having smaller ferrules, their inmates are probably more continuous in the use of them than are large buildings only inhabited for a part of the day; but allowing the assumption to stand, the result is still very instructive. Connected houses assessed at Rs. 100 to Rs. 300 a month get fully as much water as they pay for. The Port Commissioners and the large public buildings and other houses with high assessments pay for about twice as much water as they get. A large profit is made out of the water sold, especially that sold to the shipping, and the unconnected houses if they get their supply entirely from the standposts (an assumption which is only approximately correct) pay for five times as much as they consume. To make up for this, the connected houses, valued at less than Rs. 100 a month, consume from two to four times as much water as they pay for.

16. As the classes which occupy these houses are approximately the middle class of Calcutta, the figures given show that they have got enormously the best of the water-supply, not at the cost of the upper class who get a very fair supply also, but at the cost of the poorer classes who live in huts or unconnected houses, and at the cost of the offices, business houses, and public buildings. If this result did not lead to the ruin of the pressure, it would be comparatively a minor matter. Some class gets the best of all joint-arrangements in large towns, and indeed it has been claimed as a merit in the new Bill that in the removal of sewage the poor classes will benefit by the proposed uniform rate. In this instance unfortunately it is the poorest class which goes to the wall, and the class which has a very influential—probably the dominant—voice in the administration of Calcutta which derives the advantage, but even this would not be so intolerable if the arrangement would work; but as these figures conclusively show, it will not.

17. When the water-supply to the town was projected, the scheme was violently opposed by the Hindu community on the ground of religion. A distinguished member of this Council, the Hon'ble Kristo Das Pal wrote in 1865, a pamphlet strenuously opposing the project:—"I am willing to admit," he wrote, "that there may be a few educated and enlightened natives who may, without any objection, drink high pressure water, but how small is their number? and even they must continue to draw the usual supplies from the river for the females of their houses and for household purposes. But in taxing a community it is the duty of the authorities to look to the habits, wants, and wishes of the masses, and not to the convenience of a few; and in the interest of the mass of the native population of the town, I beg to declare that the imposition of a tax on them for a system of water-supply, of which they will not avail themselves, is the most intolerant measure that could be proposed by a civilised Government in Asia."

18. With such language before them, which was habitually re-echoed by the late Rajah Degumbur Mitter, and other distinguished leaders of Hindu society, it is natural that those who calculated the water-supply and fixed the size of the ferrules should not have foreseen the great run upon the water which subsequently set in. In the first year the connections were few, the draught of water accordingly was small, and a high pressure was easily maintained. By 1873 the connections had increased according to the annual report to 7,160,* and the impossibility of maintaining the pressure was admitted. From that year commenced the discussion which has continued up to the present time, of the relative merits of a continuous and of an intermittent supply, and of the feasibility of reducing the drain of water by the wholesale application of meters, or by close surveillance of the house consumption and rigorous prosecutions for waste. Briefly, it may be said that Dr. Macnamara and other experts condemned the intermittent system as unsuited to a tropical climate; that the expense no less than the harassment entailed by the wholesale use of meters has been regarded as fatal to that suggestion; while rigorous prosecutions for waste of water have been equally condemned. Moreover, it would be useless to prosecute for waste when the water which might be taken for use, though superabundant use, would equally ruin the pressure.

* Mr. Kimber, who has been examining the records, considers this an error, and reduces the number by about 20 per cent.

19. The history of the last 15 years is the history of an unavailing effort on the part of the Commissioners and their Engineers to overtake the increasing drain upon the supply by the increasing number of the connections through unduly liberal ferrules. The figures given convince me and will, I hope, convince the Committee and the intelligent public that with the ferrules we now have, all such efforts must be unavailing unless another hundred lakhs are to be spent on doubling the head works, the engine-power, and the size of the piping, and unless the maximum rate is raised from 6 to 12 per cent The other remedy is to deprive the occupiers of connected houses of the command which they now have over the water, which they are shown to have exercised in such a manner as not only to take five or ten times as much water as they are paying for, but also to prevent others getting their legal supply. Many persons who know that they themselves get a very poor supply, will receive the statement with some scepticism, and will imagine that what is proposed is tantamount to still further reducing the driblet which they now get; but they should understand that the effect will be just the opposite. We are now delivering 25 gallons of filtered water per head every day to the people of Calcutta; many of them have the greatest difficulty in obtaining a quarter of that quantity, but the reason is that, say, 5,000 to 6,000 houses are in a position to take more than 100 gallons per head and do so, and the measures which will take away this power from them, will preserve the water for those who now get too little.

20. It seems to me that the new Act should contain two provisions if the water-supply is to be improved—first, as the best possible proof that the Commissioners are in no way resiling from the obligations which they have undertaken, to double the supply which they guarantee to give for every rupee of water-rate. We are only now obliged to give 1,500 gallons per rupee. If in future we undertake to give 3,000 gallons, it will effectually cut the ground from under the feet of all who claim to be aggrieved. They will be guaranteed double what they have hitherto been entitled to: if therefore they are losers it can only be because they have hitherto been taking more than double what was their due.

21. The second step needful is to insist on such a revision of the ferrules as will admit of the pressure being maintained. Mr. Kimber estimates the cost of changing the ferrules at Rs. 50,000. Even if it comes up to a lac, it will be nothing compared with the outlay necessary to meet the difficulty in any other way. I suggest the following scale of ferrules based on the existing system: it shows the maximum drain per hour as compared with the present maximum, and also the number of minutes at which the ferrule will have to be working at a 10 feet pressure in order to yield the supply which the occupiers of the house are entitled to:—

Annual valuation of premises.	Existing connections.	Size of ferrule now allowed.	Discharge in gallons per minute, all working simultaneously.		Proposed size of ferrules.	Discharge in gallons, per minute, all working simultaneously.		Amount of gallons per diem which a house at the maximum valuation in column 1 will be entitled to.	Number of minutes at 10 feet pressure which it will take for the ferrule to deliver this.	Number of minutes which it will take to deliver the supply to which the average house of the class is entitled.

22. It will be seen that, omitting the houses valued at above Rs. 20,000, the most unfavourably valued house in the town, viz, one valued monthly at Rs 99-12, will be able in less than four hours of low pressure to get the full supply to which it is entitled, and if it takes water at high pressure, in much less than that time. The maximum draught per minute at high pressure with the existing connections will be reduced from 203,643 gallons to 75,930 or by nearly two-thirds. With every ferrule working simultaneously, the draught per hour would be 4,555,800 against an engine-power of 2,604,784 gallons only, and nearly 20 per cent. increase must be allowed for new connections. Still it may reasonably be expected that with the improvement of the pressure the habit of keeping taps open will somewhat decline, and if so, there is a fair probability of maintaining the stipulated pressure, if this reduction is carried out.

23. It may be that some houses will still be so disadvantageously situated that their ferrules according to this scale will not give them the 3,000 gallons per rupee to which they are entitled, and I would therefore add a clause that any house which is so situated that a ferrule, according to the prescribed scale, will not give it the supply to which it is entitled in 1½ hours of high and 5½ hours of low pressure, shall be entitled to a ferrule of such size as will give it its supply within this period.

H. L. HARRISON.

The 6th March 1888.

Minute of Dissent by the HON G. IRVING.

THE following are the main points on which I am, I regret, unable to concur with the majority of my colleagues:—

Section 38.—The right of appeal to the Government of India under this section against the Local Government appears to me to be unnecessary and ill-advised. The Local Government is, I think, the proper controlling authority of municipal administration. In the Select Committee's Report it is said that "the discretion and forbearance of the Government constitute the best guarantee which can be given to the Corporation against a hasty and injudicious use of this power." I fully agree with that view. But there will always remain the general power of appeal to the Imperial Government on any point of sufficient importance to warrant that extreme course.

Chapter IV, Section 106, Consolidated Rate.

I desire to enter my protest against the apportionment of the consolidated rate. Under the present Act, the maximum which the tenant can be called upon to pay is 9½ per cent. as against 11½ per cent. payable by the landlord, and I hold that that ratio should be maintained, the tenant always paying 2 per cent. less than the landlord. Rentals in Calcutta have been adjusted to that scale, and executive convenience is not a sufficient reason for destroying the proportion. The halalkhor rate at 2 per cent. imposed by section 141 payable by tenants makes no proper adjustment of the difference; for while admitting that the halalkhor service should be paid for whether it is rendered by a staff of municipal mehters or by the use of the city sewers, it should be borne in mind that connected houses pay a better rental than unconnected ones; therefore, the tenants of connected houses already pay the landlords for the convenience enjoyed by the use of the sewers. Hence the new rate, instead of adjusting the inequality in the division of the rate, enhances the evil and further burdens the tenants of connected houses.

While I do not oppose the halalkhor rate, I submit that the imposition of that rate is not a legitimate means of arriving at an equal apportionment of the consolidated rate. With the maximum rate at 23 per cent. the proper proportion would be—tenants 10½ per cent. and landholders 12½ per cent.

Chapter VII.—Water-supply—Section 153.

In regard to the pressure that should be kept up in the water-supply, I am constrained to adhere to the position I took up in my minute of dissent on the Bill when it was last published. The saving clause in the section "so far as may be reasonably practicable," when applied to the moderate pressure prescribed of 30 feet only, and that for the very limited period of two hours in the forenoon and one hour in the afternoon, seems to be unwarranted, and I think it should be struck out. Sir Henry Harrison's note on the water-supply, which accompanies the report of the Select Committee, demonstrates that the pressure can easily be maintained provided that the supply is properly controlled and distributed. It is, therefore, I think, imperative that the very moderate requirements as to pressure should be of an unmistakeably definite character.

Chapter X, Part 1—Of Streets.

It is, in my opinion, a grave omission in this chapter that a minimum width for new streets and lanes is not laid down. A provision of this vital character should surely not be relegated to a bye-law. With regard to the condition of some portions of the northern town, Mr. Cotton, late Officiating Chairman of the Corporation, says: "The superabundance of narrow lanes in the respectable inhabited portion of the city is an intolerrable nuisance." With this state of things before the authorities, it is to be hoped that a similar condition will not be allowed to arise in the southern part of the town, though nothing is more likely, especially in the localities adjacent to the new docks, if immediate measures are not taken to prevent it.

Chapter XII, Section 324.

Confining the powers of the Commissioners to removing male persons only to hospital who may be suffering from a dangerous disease, and who are without proper lodging or accommodation, is, I think, a mistake. The removal of any but the poor and badly-housed is not contemplated, and it cannot for a moment be supposed that there is any danger of interference with zenana ladies in the action of a Corporation largely composed of native representatives. It should not, however, be forgotten that there is a lare femaled labouring class in Calcutta, and for the welfare and comfort of these in dangerous sickness, as well as for the safety of the town, the section should apply irrespective of sex.

GEO. IRVING.

Note of Dissent by the HON. GOOROO DASS BANERJEE.

I HAVE signed the final report of the Select Committee on the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Bill subject to reservations. I regret I cannot agree with my colleagues on many points. I shall here briefly note the most important of these with the reasons for my dissent.

Section 2. Definition of Calcutta.—My amendment to the effect that there be no amalgamation of the Town with the Suburbs of Calcutta, and that the present boundaries of Calcutta be retained, having been rejected by the Council, the only question now open to us for consideration is whether we should adopt the comprehensive boundary given in the Bill, or fix a more restricted one. I am strongly in favour of the latter alternative, and for this simple reason: considering the limited resources of the proposed new Municipality, the larger the area of the Suburbs we can conveniently leave out, the better will it be for the improvement of the area we take in And I would recommend that out of the Suburban area proposed to be incorporated with the Town, at least a portion on the south-east be excluded, namely, the portion bounded on the north by the Tiljullah Road, the Ballygunj Circular Road, the Puddopukur Road, the Pakurtola Road, and the Chaulputty Road, and on the west by Tolly's Nullah. We may conveniently leave out this area, as the greater portion of it is scarcely of an urban character.

Section 38.—The provisions of this section are, I think, open to objection. There can be no question as to the necessity of the Government having control, but such control should, I submit, be exercised only in extreme cases, that is, only in cases of gross and serious neglect by the Corporation of their duties relating to public safety and public health The scope of the section should, I think, be limited to cases of neglect of duties relating to public safety and health. There should also be express provision for giving the Corporation an opportunity of defending themselves. It is quite true, as the Select Committee observe, that "the discretion and forbearance of the Government constitute the best guarantee which can be given to the Corporation against a hasty and injudicious use of this power," but it is equally true, I venture to think, that for an important public body like the Calcutta Corporation, their own good sense and the control exercised by public opinion are ordinarily sufficient to keep them up to their duty. And if it is necessary to provide against neglect of duty by the Corporation in exceptional cases, I would respectfully submit that it is desirable also to provide against injudicious or hasty interference in any case.

It may not be out of place here to observe that with the enlarged scheme of duties prescribed by section 37 of the Bill, and with the heavy burden thrown upon the Corporation by the amalgamation of a large additional area, without any adequate funds being placed at their disposal, the Corporation would remain constantly and unavoidably liable to be proceeded against under this section, unless its provisions are qualified at least in the way indicated above.

Section 122.—The provisions of this section relating to the valuation of houses not built for letting purposes, and not ordinarily let, are objectionable on the following amongst other grounds:—

In the first place the difficulty of ascertaining the cost of building and the amount to be deducted on account of depreciation in the case of an old house will be much greater than that of ascertaining the rent at which it may be reasonably expected to let.

In the second place the proposed rule will be productive of great hardship, as it would lead to taxing owners of dwelling-houses according to an arbitrary standard which is very often greatly in excess of their expected possible income derivable from those houses, and which often gives an exaggerated idea of the extent of their means. A native dwelling-house, it is well known, would seldom let for anything like five per cent. on the cost price (see the case of Nundlall Bose versus the Corporation of Calcutta, reported in Indian Law Reports, XI, Calcutta Series, page 275). Nor is the cost price of a native dwelling-house (with deduction for depreciation) any criterion as to the extent of the owner's means. It may have come to him (as is often the case) by inheritance, and may be a burden rather than a benefit And if he does not part with it readily, it is out of deference to a prevailing sentiment which we cannot ignore. Again, a Hindu may own a larger and more expensive house, not because he has greater means, but because he has a larger family. And though the great English economist cited in the report of the Select Committee may say that 'having a larger family is at a person's choice,' no one possessing the slightest knowledge of our society can say the same thing for a Hindu.

Section 204 —Clauses (b) and (c) of this section are open to grave objection. The Commissioners may, no doubt, acquire land for any public purpose. But it is more than doubtful whether they should be allowed to acquire land for the sole purpose of selling it at a profit. If the raising of their funds in this way be a public purpose, carried to its legitimate consequences, the doctrine would be subversive of the institution of private property.

It may be said that land in the immediate neighbourhood of a new road is greatly benefited by such road, and if the former owners are allowed to retain the same they would derive benefit at the expense of the public, and without paying for it. But it should be borne in mind that they do pay for the improvement by contributing as rate-payers to the funds of the Corporation; and they are entitled to these incidental advantages as persons composing the public for whose benefit professedly new roads are opened.

Sections 208 and 235.—The provisions of these sections, so far as they relate to refusal of sanction to build on a site falling within the regular lines of a projected street, are, I think, open to objection. A projected street may not become a reality in fifty years, and it would be unjust to make the site useless to the owner for building purposes, it may be, for a long time before he gets compensation for it. I think there ought, at least, to be some provision entitling the owner of such site to some compensation if the projected street is not opened within a reasonable time (to be fixed by law) from the date of refusal of sanction to build.

Section 320.—This section will operate as a great hardship on the poor. I think its operation ought at least to be limited to the case of houses let out to tenants.

Section 324 —The provisions of this section may, I fear, lead to interference with the religious sentiments of the people. With every regard for health, I think the consent of the patient should, in all cases in which he is able to give it, be taken before his removal to a hospital.

There are many other provisions of the Bill which appear to me to be objectionable. I shall refer to them when the Bill comes on for discussion before the Council.

GOOROODASS BANERJEE.

The 12th March 1888.

MINUTE OF DISSENT.

I REGRET that I cannot concur in the views of the majority of my colleagues in regard to—

(1) The provision in section 38 of a right of appeal to the Government of India against the controlling action of the Local Government.

(2) The provisions in sections 99 and 100 regarding the prohibition of the introduction of petroleum into Calcutta for the purpose of storage, if it is intended for consumption elsewhere, and the levy of a tax on petroleum introduced for local consumption.

I object to the first provision on the ground that it is unusual and unnecessary. I conceive that for the purpose of controlling and regulating Municipal administration the "Government" is the Local Government, and that it is not the province of the local Legislature to prescribe the method in which that Government shall be controlled by the Imperial Government in the discharge of its administrative functions. This is a matter of internal discipline on which, it seems to me, the Council cannot pronounce, and should not be called upon to pronounce. Nor is such a provision necessary to protect the Corporation, should it feel aggrieved at any action of the Local Government. The Local Government is just as much bound to obey an executive order of the Governor-General in Council as it would be bound to obey a legal order, or as the Imperial Government is bound to accept the decision of the Secretary of State. I can conceive no good purpose which this provision can serve, while I see many objections to it.

The provisions regarding petroleum involve the imposition of an Octroi duty on this article. I will briefly state my objections to them, leaving the wider discussion to the debate which will be held in Council.

In the various declarations on the subject of Octroi, which have been made by the Government of India, two points have always been insisted upon. The first is that no goods which have already paid sea customs duty shall be taxed. The second is that the general course of trade shall not be interfered with.

As regards the first point, I am aware that the orders of 1868 were subsequently modified so as to admit of the levy of a limited tax on piece-goods and metals. It will of course be in the power of the Government to exempt petroleum now as they exempted piece-goods then. But, as the case stands, we are asked, by the majority of my colleagues, to approve a provision which is opposed to the declared policy of Government, and which may lead to the Governor-General's sanction to the Act being withheld.

As regards the second point, the particular evil which was apprehended, and which Sir John Strachey's Bill of 1879 was designed to prevent, was that the Octroi tax would be so administered as to operate as a transit duty, and that important general interests would be sacrificed to local improvements. Now I admit that the proposed section 99 guards very effectually against interference with trade in this respect; but it guards against interference in one form only by necessitating interference in another form. Before the tax can be levied, the Local Government must prohibit the introduction into Calcutta, except in transit, of any petroleum not intended for local consumption. Petroleum intended for consumption elsewhere must not be stored in Calcutta. Here we have petroleum for the interior exempted from the Calcutta Octroi by being excluded from Calcutta altogether. I grant that the establishment of the Petroleum depôt at Budge-Budge, and the construction of a line connecting it with the general railway system, will render it possible to send consignments into the interior direct from the wharf. But the trade in mineral oil is making very rapid strides, and it seems to me an unwarrantable interference with trade to prohibit the storage of petroleum anywhere within the large area which will now be included in Calcutta, and thus prevent Calcutta from becoming a distributing centre for this important article of commerce, in order that the Municipality may be able to claim that all oil breaking bulk within the limits of the town must be intended for local consumption, and therefore be liable to tax.

But my chief ground of dissent is to the levy of an Octroi duty in Calcutta at all. In the first place, even if the prohibition against storage before export were justifiable, I can see no argument that can be used in favour of an Octroi on petroleum that could not be used in favour of an Octroi on other articles. I am not here discussing the propriety of levying minute town dues on all articles introduced, for sale or storage, into large trading centres, on the principle on which dues are levied for the use of a market or a hât. The arguments for and against such a proposal are of a different nature from those which affect this question. I am dealing only with an Octroi on articles locally consumed. Take salt. It pays duty and is discharged under supervision. An Octroi could be levied as easily on it as on petroleum. It would be as easy and as convenient to enforce a prohibition against its storage, except for local consumption, as it would be to enforce such a prohibition in regard to petroleum. Take coal. It is bulky; it comes by rail or by sea; it could easily be made the subject of an Octroi tax. And so on with other articles.

My first objection, then, under this part of my argument, is that, if the levy of an Octroi on petroleum is allowed, a refusal to extend it to other articles could not well be justified. It cannot be restricted to one article. My second objection is that, if it is allowed in Calcutta, it cannot fairly be refused elsewhere. It cannot be restricted to one place.

If an Octroi is allowed in Calcutta, why should it not be allowed in Howrah? If in Howrah, why not in Patna, Dacca and Chittagong? If in these towns, why not in every Municipality in the Province? Now, when the question was discussed in 1868, every Commissioner in Bengal, with one single exception, reported strongly against the establishment of an Octroi system as entirely unsuited to the circumstances of Bengal. The introduction of such a system has been denounced by Sir Cecil Beadon, by Sir William Grey, by Sir Ashley Eden, by Mr. Mackenzie, and by others who have taken part in the government of this Province, and have been qualified to judge of its requirements. Even in the North-Western Provinces and in Bombay, where the towns are differently constructed from the congeries of villages which form our Bengal Municipalities, objections to the system were strongly urged by Sir John Strachey and the Bombay Chamber of Commerce. To admit an Octroi in the open straggling towns of Bengal would be a calamity to their inhabitants, and would, I am convinced, seriously discredit Municipal Self-Government. It could only be administered by an army of agents whose first thought would be to enrich themselves, and whose last thought would be the interests of their employers or the convenience of the people.

I regret to have to dissent from any proposal which has the object of increasing the resources of the new Corporation in dealing with the heavy task before it. But I cannot accept a provision which I believe to be opposed to one of the wisest principles of our administration.

COLMAN MACAULAY.

The 10th March 1888.

I EXPRESS my dissent as regards (1) the right of appeal to the Government of India, and (2) the imposition of an Octroi duty on petroleum which I consider totally unsuitable in Calcutta.

These four rates, after having been determined annually as above in accordance with the procedure laid down in Chapter II, Part V, shall be levied as one consolidated rate, and the collections made on account of this rate shall be divided between the General Fund, the Water-supply Fund, the Lighting Fund and the Halalkhor Fund in the proportions at which the rates are being levied for the time being without reference to the year on account of which each payment is made.

Such deduction shall, however, be made from the proportion to be credited to the Water-supply Fund as may seem to the Commissioners in meeting to be approximately equivalent to the diminished productiveness of that rate, owing to the partial exemption of certain premises under clause (b) of section one hundred and one.

Rate by whom and when payable.

107. The consolidated rate shall be payable half by the owners of the houses and lands, and half by the occupiers thereof. It shall be payable on the first day of April, first day of July, first day of October and first day of January for the quarters, respectively, commencing on those dates.

If the annual value of any house or land as determined under Chapter V shall in any case exceed the amount of rent payable by the occupier to the owner, the owner may in such case recover from the occupier the difference between the sum assessed upon him as the owner's share of the consolidated rate and the sum at which he would have been assessed had the house been valued only at the amount of rent actually payable to him, and such difference shall be added to the rent payable by the occupier, and shall be recoverable by the owner from him.

Remission of house-rate when house vacant.

109. When any house or land whereon the consolidated rate is assessed under Chapter V has been vacant for sixty consecutive days during any year, the person liable to pay the owner's share of the consolidated rate shall, if notice in writing be given to the Commissioners of such house or land being vacant, be liable to pay only one-fourth of the consolidated rate due on account of the period of vacancy—the period of vacancy being calculated from the date on which the notice is delivered; if more than one-fourth of the consolidated rate has been paid in advance, the surplus shall, on demand, be refunded.

No remission unless application be made within six months from vacancy.

110. No refund shall be made under the last preceding section unless the same shall be applied for within six months from the date of vacancy of the house or land on account of which the remission is applied for.

111. When any house or land whereon the consolidated rate is assessed under Chapter V is vacant, the person liable to pay the occupier's share of the rate up to the period of such vacancy shall, if he has paid for the whole quarter, be entitled to a refund of all the rate paid by him for the period during which the house is vacant, or for the period during which it may have been occupied by a new occupier, if notice shall have been given in writing to the Commissioners of such house or land being vacant; and the date of vacancy shall be calculated from the date of delivery of such notice at the office of the Commissioners.

No refund of rates unless application made within six months from vacancy.

112. No refund of rates shall be made under the last preceding section unless the same is applied for within six months from the date of cessation of occupation of the house or land on account of which the refund is applied for.

Person sub-letting to different persons to be deemed occupier.

114. Whenever any person holding any house or land at a rent from the person liable to pay the owner's share of the consolidated rate in respect of such house or land has or may sub-let the same to different persons holding in severalty, the person so holding shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be the occupier of such house or land.

Power to assess owners in certain cases.

115. If any house is occupied by more than one person holding in severalty, or is valued at less than Rs. 200, the Commissioners may impose the entire consolidated rate upon the owner of such house.

Owner to recover from occupier rate paid by owner.

116. If the entire rate is paid by the owner of any house under the last preceding section, such owner may, if there be but one occupier of the house, recover from such occupier half of the rate so paid by such owner; and if there be more than one occupier, he may recover from each occupier half of such sum as shall bear to the entire amount of rate so paid by him the same proportion as the value of the portion of the house in the occupation of such person bears to the entire value of such house.

Imposition of consolidated rate in the case of Bustee lands.

117. In the case of bustee land the Commissioners shall impose the entire consolidated rate in respect of the land and the huts thereon upon the owner of the land, making a deduction of one-eighth to cover the cost of collection and as a commutation of all refunds due for huts which are vacant or which may be removed or destroyed:

Provided that no additional rates shall be imposed on account of any new huts built or of any huts enlarged during the year for which the valuation remains in force, under the provisions of section one hundred and twenty-four.

Owner to recover from occupier rates paid by owner.

118. In such cases, the Commissioners shall cause the land and the huts standing on it to be separately valued, and the owner of the land may recover from the owner of each hut half the consolidated rate paid by him for the land on which the hut stands, and the entire consolidated rate payable on account of the hut.

Owner to have same power for recovering rates as for recovering rent.

119. Every owner who, under the provisions of sections one hundred and sixteen and one hundred and eighteen, may be entitled to recover any sum from the occupier of any house or of any portion thereof, or from the owner of any hut shall have for the recovery of such sum all such and the same remedies, powers, rights, and authorities as if such sum were rent payable to him.

Occupier of house or land may be required to furnish name of owner.

120. The Commissioners may by a notice in writing require the occupier of any house or land to furnish them, within fifteen days, with the name and address of the owner of such house or land, and such name and address, when so received, shall be duly entered in the assessment book kept under section one hundred and twenty-eight.

On failure occupier liable to owner's rates.

121. If the occupier of any house or land shall refuse or neglect to furnish the information so required of him under the last preceding section, he shall be liable to pay the rates payable by the owner on account of such house or land, and on non-payment thereof, the Commissioners may recover the same by distress and sale of any moveable property found in the house or on the land:

Provided that no arrear of rate which has remained due from the owner of any house or land, for more than one year, shall be so recovered from the occupier thereof

CHAPTER V.

OF THE ASSESSMENT OF HOUSES AND LAND.

Annual value of house or land how to be ascertained.

122. For the purpose of assessment under this Act, the annual value of land and the annual value of any house built for letting purposes or ordinarily let shall be the gross annual rent at which such land or house might reasonably be expected to let from year to year, less, in the case of a house, an allowance of 10 per cent. for the cost of repairs, and for all other expenses necessary to maintain the house in a state to command such gross rent. The annual value of any house not built for letting purposes and not ordinarily let shall be 5 per cent. on the sum obtained by adding the estimated cost of building, less a reasonable amount to be deducted on account of depreciation, if any, to the estimated value of the land valued with the house as part of the same premises.

The value of land so estimated shall not include the value of any machinery thereon.

Annual value to be assessed by the Commissioners; valuation to remain in force for six years.

123. All valuations of houses made by the Commissioners prior to the commencement of this Act shall remain in force during the period for which they were so made, and on the expiration of such period, the annual value at which any house is to be assessed shall be fixed by the Commissioners for a period of six years, and thereafter for successive periods of six years.

Bustee lands may be valued annually.

124. Bustee lands with the huts upon them, or lands that are waste or used for agricultural purposes, may be valued annually at the discretion of the Commissioners, and shall be so valued on the application of the owner. When not revalued, the former valuation shall remain in force from year to year until a revaluation is made.

Intermediate valuation in certain cases.

125. Any house, the valuation of which may have been cancelled on the ground of irregularity, or which for any other reason may have no annual value legally assigned to it, may be valued at any time under section one hundred and twenty-two for such period as remains unexpired in the district in which it is included under section one hundred and twenty-nine.

When substantial improvement made, Commissioners may re-assess.

126. If during the currency of any period mentioned in section one hundred and twenty-three any substantial alteration and improvement is made to any such house, the Commissioners may cause such house to be again valued, even though such period has not expired, and such last-mentioned valuation shall be in force, and the rate shall be imposed according to it, until the expiration of the said period of valuation.

When substantial injury done, Commissioners may re-assess.

127. If during the currency of any period mentioned in section one hundred and twenty-three the value of such house shall suffer depreciation from any cause proved to the satisfaction of the Commissioners to have been beyond the control of the owner or occupier thereof, the Commissioners shall as soon as practicable, on application being made to them in writing by the owner or occupier of such house, cause it to be again valued, even though the current period of valuation has not expired, and such lastmentioned valuation shall be in force, and the rate shall be imposed according to it, until the expiration of the said period of valuation:

Provided that if any substantial alteration and improvement shall be made, prior to the expiration of the said period of valuation, to the house which shall have been again valued as aforesaid, the Commissioners may cause such house to be again valued as under the last preceding section.

Annual value fixed to be entered in a book.

128. The annual value fixed by the Commissioners as hereinbefore provided shall be entered in a book to be kept at the office of the Commissioners, wherein shall also be written—

(a) number of premises;
(b) description of premises;
(c) name of person primarily liable to pay the rate;
(d) amount of valuation;
(e) amount of rate payable quarterly;
(f) if exempted, the ground of exemption.

This information may be contained in as many books as the Commissioners may, from time to time, determine which shall together constitute a book to be called the "assessment book."

When the name of the owner or occupier is not known, it shall be sufficient to designate him in the assessment book as the "owner" or "occupier":

Provided that any owner or occupier may at any time apply to the Commissioners to have his name entered as owner or occupier in the assessment book, and the Commissioners shall, unless there is sufficient reason to refuse such application, (which refusal shall be in writing) cause such name to be entered in the assessment book.

No owner or occupier whose name is not entered in the assessment book shall be entitled to object that any bill, notice of demand, warrant or other notice of any kind required by this Act to be served on the owner or occupier of any house or land, has not been made out in his own name:

Provided that any person who has paid the owner's share of the consolidated rate for the last preceding quarter may, if there is no opposition to his application to be registered as owner, but such application is rejected or postponed for want of evidence, claim to have his name provisionally registered as owner, and when his name is so provisionally registered he shall enjoy all the privileges and incur all the liabilities attaching to the owner of any house or land under this Act so long as no other person claims to be registered as owner.

A list shall be published annually, in such manner as the Commissioners may determine, stating the names of all persons who are provisionally registered and the premises in respect of which they are so registered.

Such fee shall be added to the amount of the rate in respect of which the notice is given, and, if not duly paid, may be levied in the same manner as such rate may be levied.

Supply for business.

154. The Commissioners may supply water through a meter, for other than domestic purposes, if the person requiring such supply make application to the Commissioners in writing, specifying the purpose for which such supply is required and the quantity likely to be consumed.

The Commissioners may thereupon, subject to such charges or rates as may have been fixed by the Commissioners in meeting, lay down, or allow to be laid down, the necessary communication-pipes and works of such dimensions and character as may be fixed by the Commissioners.

No meter shall be necessary in any case in which the applicant agrees to pay such sum per mensem for the use of the water as may be fixed by the Commissioners.

Provided also that the Commissioners may at their own expense replace any ferrule, used for the supply of water to any house at the time when this Act comes into force which is of larger size than the occupier of such house under such scale is entitled to use, by a ferrule of the size prescribed under such scale for the use of such house.

Provided that nothing hereinbefore contained shall authorize an entry into any room appropriated for the zenana or residence of women, which by the custom of the country is considered private, unless a notice in writing of not less than four hours be given.

When pipes are out of repair, Commissioners may cut off, or turn off water.

161. (c) The width and level of the street, if any, in front, and of the street, if any, at the rear of such building, the levels of the foundations and lowest floor of such building, and of any yard or ground belonging thereto.

(d) A plan showing the intended line of drainage of such building, and of the intended size, depth and inclination of such drain, and of the details of the arrangements proposed for the ventilation of the drains.

If such requisition be not complied with, the notice given under section two hundred and thirty-six shall be deemed to have been cancelled.

The Commissioners may decline to accept any plan, section, or description as sufficient for the purposes of this section, which does not bear the signature of a competent surveyor in token of its having been prepared by such surveyor.

Within thirty days from receipt of details Commissioners to pass orders.

238. Within thirty days after the receipt of the details, required to be given under the last preceding section, the Commissioners shall pass orders in writing either approving of the proposed building or disapproving thereof for any of the following reasons—

(a) that it will be unsafe; or

(b) that it encroaches upon or over municipal land; or

(c) that its construction contravenes some specified provision of this Act; or some specified bye-law made under this Act.

If the Commissioners disapprove of the building for any of the above reasons it shall not be proceeded with till such modifications have been made as to satisfy the requirements of the Commissioners.

239. Nothing in sections two hundred and thirty-five and two hundred and thirty-six shall be deemed to preclude any person intending to build a new house from sending in simultaneously the ground plan required by section two hundred and thirty-five and the notice required by section two hundred and thirty-six as also at his discretion all or any of the plans and details specified in section two hundred and thirty-seven.

Ground plan and notice may be submitted together.

Provided that the period of thirty days after the receipt of the notice shall not commence to run till the site has been approved of. If the proposed work be not commenced within one year after the date of approval, it shall not be commenced without a fresh notice being submitted under the provisions of section two hundred and thirty-six.

240. If any building such as is referred to in section two hundred and thirty-five be commenced without sending in the ground plan required by that section, or after such ground plan has been sent in, before the site has been approved of by the Commissioners, the Commissioners may cause such house, or so much of it as has been constructed, to be demolished.

Power to demolish a building commenced without submission of a ground plan or without the site being approved.

241. If any building or alteration such as is referred to in section two hundred and thirty-six be commenced without the notice required by that section being sent to the Commissioners, or before the expiration of the thirty days or of any subsequent period of thirty days prescribed by section two hundred and thirty-seven, or otherwise than in accordance with the information furnished in the notice or in the further details and plans subsequently called for, or in contravention of any lawful orders issued by the Commissioners under section two hundred and thirty-eight, the Commissioners may cause such work as has been done to be demolished or altered in such manner as they may think fit, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person failing to comply with the requirements of the Act.

Power to demolish or alter a building for failure to comply with sections two hundred and thirty-six or two hundred and thirty-seven.

242. The Commissioners may, in addition to, or in lieu of, exercising the powers conferred on them by sections two hundred and forty and two hundred and forty-one, prosecute any person who shall build a new house without sending in the ground plan required by section two hundred and thirty-five, or who shall build or re-build or materially alter the structure of any house without giving the notice required by section two hundred and thirty-six, and such person shall, on conviction, be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 100 and to a further fine not exceeding Rs. 20 for every day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Penalty.

243. The following provisions shall apply to buildings which it is proposed to construct under section two hundred and thirty-six :—

Provisions applicable to buildings constructed under section two hundred and thirty-six.

(a). The levels and width of foundation shall be such as the Commissioners consider satisfactory.

(b). No house shall be built upon a lower level than will allow of the drainage of such house or building being led into some public sewer then existing or projected, or into some tidal river into which the Commissioners are empowered to empty their sewers.

(c). The plinth of such building shall be at least two feet above the centre of the nearest street.

(d). The building shall not be erected over any sewer or drain belonging to the Commissioners without their written consent.

(e). Every privy shall be so situated and so constructed as not to be a nuisance to the neighbours or dangerous to the health of the inmates.

(f). Every building shall be provided with adequate ventilation.

(g). No building shall cover a greater portion of the ground belonging to the owner of it and forming part of the same or adjacent premises, than is consistent with the free circulation of air, supposing the owners of contiguous lands to cover their land with buildings to the same extent.

244. If the Commissioners fail to pass orders within thirty days as required by section two hundred and thirty-five, two hundred and thirty-seven, or two hundred and thirty-eight, they shall pay to the person intending to build, compensation for such delay at the rate of Re. 1 per diem for every day in excess of thirty days :

Compensation payable if Commissioners fail to pass orders.

Provided that the rate shall be increased to Rs. 2, Rs. 5, Rs. 10 or Rs. 20 per diem respectively if the person, in sending in the plan required by section two hundred and thirty-five or the notice required by section two hundred and thirty-six, or the further details required by section two hundred and thirty-seven, certifies that the building will cost more than Rs. 10,000, Rs. 25,000, Rs. 50,000 or Rs. 1,00,000, as the case may be.

If the thirtieth day is a close holiday, it shall suffice if orders are passed on the first open day after the expiration of the thirtieth day, and the excess period shall commence to run from the day following such open day.

245. Every person intending to build or take down any house, or to alter or repair the outward part of any house, where any public street will be obstructed or rendered inconvenient by means of such work shall, before beginning the same, cause sufficient hoards or fences to be put up, in order to separate the house where such works are being carried on from the street, and shall keep such hoard or fence standing and in good condition, to the satisfaction of the Commissioners, during such time as the public safety or convenience requires, and shall cause the same to be sufficiently lighted :

Hoards to be set up during repairs.

Provided that no person shall put up a hoard or fence without the written permission of the Commissioners, and shall not keep up such hoard or fence for a time longer than that specified in such written permission.

246. Every person who begins to build, or to take down, or alter, or repair any house contrary to the provisions of the last preceding section, or who, without a license, erects or sets up any hoard, scaffolding, or fence whatsoever, or who, having obtained permission, fails to put up such fence or hoard, or to maintain the same standing and in good condition, or who does not, while such heard or fence is standing, keep the same sufficiently lighted, or who does not remove the same when the time specified in the permission has elapsed, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 50 for every such offence, and to a further fine not exceeding Rs. 20 for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

PART III.—Of Building Regulations regarding Huts and Bustees.

Notice in prescribed form to be given before building a hut.

247. Before beginning to build, re-build or add to any hut, the person intending so to do shall give to the Commissioners notice thereof in a form to be provided by them (for which no charge shall be made). Such form shall require a ground plan of the hut drawn to the scale of eight feet to the inch and such other details as the Commissioners may prescribe. On receipt of such notice, the Commissioners shall, within thirty days, express their approval of the proposed work, or their disapproval on any one or more of the following grounds:—

(a) That the site is ill-chosen with reference to adjacent huts or with reference to any present or proposed roads.

(b) That the ventilation will be defective.

(c) That the arrangements for scavenging or drainage are defective.

(d) That the hut will be within thirty feet of a tank.

(e) That the hut will be on the site of a tank which has been so recently filled up as to be prejudicial to the health of a person dwelling in it.

(f) That the plinth is not two feet above the level of the centre of the nearest street.

(g) That the erection of the proposed hut will infringe some specified bye-law made under this Act.

If the proposal is approved of, the hut may be built, re-built, or added to at any time within six months after the date of sanction. If it is disapproved of on any of the grounds above stated, the work shall not be commenced till such modifications have been made in the plan of the proposed hut as the Commissioners may deem necessary.

Power to demolish hut built without sanction.

248. If any hut be built, re-built, or added to without giving the Commissioners such notice as is required by the last preceding section, or before the approval of the Commissioners has been obtained under that section, the Commissioners may cause such hut or so much of it as has been constructed to be demolished or altered in such manner as they may prescribe; and the expenses of such demolition or alteration shall be paid by the person failing to comply with the provisions of this Act.

Penalty.

249. The Commissioners may, in addition to, or in lieu of, exercising the powers conferred on them by section two hundred and forty-eight, prosecute any person who builds, re-builds, or adds to any hut in contravention of the provisions of section two hundred and forty-seven, and such person shall be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 100 for any such offence, and to a further fine not exceeding Rs. 20 for every day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Compensation payable if Commissioners fail to pass orders.

250. If the Commissioners fail to pass orders within thirty days as required by section two hundred and forty-seven, the provisions of section two hundred and forty-four regarding the payment of compensation for delay shall apply:

Provided that the sum payable in respect of compensation shall not exceed Re. 1 per diem.

Powers of the Commissioners with respect to bustees.

251. The Commissioners may define the external limits of any bustee, and may from time to time modify such limits; and for the purposes of this Act, land comprised within such limits shall be deemed to be a bustee:

Provided that every bustee shall consist of one or more complete plots of bustee land, separately numbered as such in the assessment book, and no plot bearing only one number shall be divided so as to fall within the limits of separate bustees. The existence of one or more houses with the land attached thereto, within the limits defined as above, shall be no bar to the bustee lands within such limits being deemed to be a bustee: Provided that the Commissioners shall have no power under this Part of exercising any control over such houses and land attached, except by acquiring the whole or any portion of them by purchase or under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1870, or any similar Act for the time being in force for the acquisition of land for public purposes.

Commissioners may call upon bustee owners to furnish a standard plan.

252. The Commissioners may at any time serve a notice upon the owners of a bustee, calling on them to prepare a joint plan thereof to the scale of forty feet to the inch showing the manner in which such bustee should be laid out with the huts standing in regular lines and with a free passage in front of and behind each line of such width as may be necessary for ventilation and for scavenging. The plan shall also show the proposed drains of the bustee, the water-supply, bathing arrangements (if any) and the privy accommodation to be provided for the use of the tenants, the roads which are to be maintained for their benefit, the land, if any, which is to be kept as common land, the tanks which are to be filled up or conserved, and any other proposed improvements.

Such plan, when prepared as above, shall be considered by the Commissioners, and such modifications shall be made therein as the Commissioners shall require. After any plan has been finally approved of by the Commissioners, it shall be taken as the standard plan of the bustee. If any land within the limits of a bustee is not bustee land, the standard plan shall be so prepared as clearly to distinguish it from the bustee land.

When a call has been made on the owners of the bustee to prepare a joint plan under this section, no hut shall be built, re-built, or added to within the bustee till a standard plan has been prepared.

Commissioners, under certain circumstances, may prepare a standard plan.

253. If the owners of a bustee cannot agree among themselves in the preparation of a joint plan, or if they for any reason prefer to have a joint plan prepared for them by the Commissioners, or if they fail to comply with the notice to submit a joint plan within the space of sixty days, the Commissioners shall, within a further period of sixty days, themselves prepare a plan to the scale and in the manner prescribed above, for which they may charge the owners at such rate not exceeding Rs. 8 per bigah as the Commissioners in meeting may fix. The cost of preparing such plan may be recovered as a rate under this Act.

Objections to Commissioners plan to be entertained.

254. When a plan has been prepared by the Commissioners under the last preceding section, they shall fix a day for the hearing of objections on the part of the owners; and may at their discretion modify the plan in accordance with any objections made. When the objections have been disallowed, or when the plan has been modified in conformity with any objections raised, it shall be approved of by the Commissioners, and shall thereafter be taken as the standard plan of the bustee.

Commissioners may require huts to be built in conformity with the standard plan.

255. When a standard plan has been prepared for any bustee under sections two hundred and fifty-two or two hundred and fifty-four, no hut shall be built, re-built, or added to in such bustee, unless the hut or the portion to be added occupies a site, or portion of a site marked as the site for a hut in the standard plan. The Commissioners may, at any time by paying compensation to the owner of any hut not in conformity with the standard plan, require him to take down his hut and re-build it in conformity with such plan. Such compensation shall, in the event of dispute, be determined in the manner provided in this Act for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses.

The Commissioners may at any time serve notice upon the owners of any bustee, calling upon them to construct the roads, privies, drains, and other details shown in the standard plan of any bustee, so far as may be practicable in the existing arrangement of the huts, and if any tank is shown as to be filled up or improved, may call upon the owner to improve or fill up such tank. Till such notice is complied with, the Commissioners may refuse to sanction the building or re-building of any hut in the bustee, or any addition to any existing hut.

Remodelled bustees.

256. When a bustee has been brought into conformity with a standard plan which has been prepared for it, it shall be deemed to be a remodelled bustee.

Report by medical officers on insanitary bustees.

257. When it appears to the Commissioners in meeting that any bustee is, by reason of the manner in which the huts are crowded together, or for any other reason, in such an insanitary condition that the procedure provided by sections two hundred and fifty-two to two hundred and fifty-six will be too dilatory for improving such bustee, they may cause it to be inspected by two medical officers who shall make a report in writing on the sanitary condition of the said bustee.

Such report shall be accompanied by a plan which shall be approved of by the medical officers as a proper standard plan of the bustee, and they shall certify which of the changes necessary to bring the bustee into conformity with the proposed standard plan shall be taken in hand forthwith, in consequence of the insanitary condition of the bustee, and which can await the procedure prescribed in sections two hundred and fifty-two to two hundred and fifty-six. The former changes shall be shown in a Schedule attached to the report to be called Schedule A; and this Schedule shall clearly indicate the huts which should wholly or in part be removed, the roads and drains which should be constructed, the tanks or low lands which should be filled up, and any other works necessary to remove or abate the insanitary condition of the bustee. If for the purpose of making such roads or effecting any other improvement, it is necessary to purchase or acquire any land within the bustee which is not bustee land, the schedule shall specify the land which should be purchased or acquired.

On receipt of report Commissioners may cause notice to be served.

258. On receipt of the report of the medical officers, the Commissioners in meeting may cause a notice to be served upon the owners or occupiers of the huts, or at the option of the Commissioners, the owner of the land on which such huts are built, requiring them to carry out and execute within a reasonable time, to be fixed by the Commissioners for such purpose, all or any of the works specified in the aforesaid Schedule A annexed to the report, or any portion thereof respectively.

The Commissioners in meeting shall also approve of the standard plan prepared by the medical officers with such modifications as they may deem proper.

Commissioners may carry out works if owners or occupiers refuse.

259. If, after the service of the notice referred to in the last preceding section, such owners or occupiers, or the owners of the land, shall refuse or neglect to carry out and execute the said works within the time appointed, the Commissioners may cause all or any of the said works, or any portion thereof respectively, to be executed; and the expenses thereby incurred, including such reasonable compensation as the Commissioners think fit to pay to the owners or occupiers of huts destroyed or removed, shall be paid by the owners of the land:

Expenses may be recovered by instalments or remitted in case of poverty.

Provided that the Commissioners in meeting may order the expenses so incurred to be recovered by instalments from the said owners, or, if it should appear to them that any owner is unable by reason of poverty to pay the same, may order the same or any portion thereof to be paid out of the General Fund.

Sale of huts.

260. If any of the said huts be pulled down, the Commissioners shall cause the materials of each hut to be given to the owner of the hut; or if the owner be unknown, or the title disputed, the materials shall be sold and the proceeds shall be held in deposit by the Commissioners until the person interested therein shall obtain an order from a competent court for the payment of the same.

A Court of Small Causes shall be deemed a competent court for the purpose.

Commissioners on the report of medical officers may acquire land.

261. The Commissioners may, at any time, after the receipt of the report of the medical officers acquire any land other than bustee land shown in that report as land which should be acquired.

When an insanitary bustee to be deemed remodelled bustee.

262. After the works specified in Schedule A, or so much of such works as are approved by the Commissioners in meeting, have been completed, the provisions of section two hundred and fifty-five shall apply to such bustee until it is brought into complete conformity with the standard plan approved in accordance with the provisions of section two hundred and fifty-eight, after which the bustee shall be deemed to be a remodelled bustee.

Provisions as to standard plan.

263. No standard plan, prepared under sections two hundred and fifty-two, two hundred and fifty-three, two hundred and fifty-seven, or two hundred and sixty-eight shall, without the consent of the owners, show more than one-fifth of the area of the bustee as roads or more than two-thirds as open lands not to be built upon, whether such open land be common ground, roads, or spaces behind a line of huts; but no tank that is not filled up shall be taken into account in calculating the above proportion. The proposed standard plan shall also, as far as possible, provide for one or more huts being completely contained in each separate plot of bustee land within the bustee and for a due proportion of roadway and open ground in each plot; and if a greater portion of any one plot is taken for roads or open ground than the proportion allowed by this section, the compensation which should be paid to the owner of this plot and the persons who should pay such compensation by reason of their benefiting thereby shall be specified; if no other owner can be equitably called upon to pay such compensation, it shall be paid by the Commissioners. The compensation thus fixed shall not be payable till the plot belonging to the owner entitled to it has been brought into complete conformity with the standard plan.

Effect of notice of intention to change character of bustee land.

264. Any owner of bustee land included within the limits of a bustee may at any time give notice to the Commissioners that he intends to change the character of the whole or of any portion of the land belonging to him, so that it will cease to be bustee land. If his notice refers only to a part of his land, a separate number shall be forthwith assigned in the assessment book to the part to which the notice applies. From the date of such notice no application shall be received for building, re-building, or adding to any hut in the land to which the notice applies, and the owner shall be bound to remove all existing huts within six months after giving such notice. When all the huts have been removed, the land shall cease to be liable to the incidents of bustee land, and, according to its situation, shall either be altogether excluded from the limits of the bustee, or shall be shown in the standard plan of the bustee as land within the said limits which is not bustee land.

Roads in standard plan if not public streets remain private.

265. The roads shown in the standard plan of a bustee which are not already public streets shall, unless the Commissioners and the owners concerned otherwise agree, remain private streets; and the portion which falls on the land of each owner shall belong to such owner. Any portion which falls on land acquired or purchased by the Commissioners under section two hundred and sixty-one shall remain the property of the Commissioners.

Every such private street shall at all times be kept open to the conservancy carts of the Commissioners for the purpose of scavenging in the bustee, and shall also be kept open for the use of all the tenants of the bustee, but no such use, whether by the conservancy carts or by the tenants, shall be held by any lapse of time to confer a right of way on the public, so as to bring such street within the definition of a "public street."

Roads in a bustee not affected by change of character of bustee land.

266. If any portion of the land which it is sought to remove from the incidents of bustee land is shown in the standard plan of the bustee as a road or part of a road, the notice shall be held not to apply to such road without the express consent of the Commissioners, but such road shall continue part of a private street open to the use of conservancy carts and of the tenants of the bustee.

Owners of a bustee, when standard plan is prepared, deemed occupiers of the open spaces.

267. When a standard plan has been prepared for a bustee, the several owners of the bustee lands shall be respectively deemed to be the occupiers of the roads, common ground, and of such drains of the bustee as serve more than one hut, so far as constructed in accordance with such standard plan, and the owner of each hut shall be deemed to be the occupier of the land occupied by his hut, of that portion of the open space behind his hut which appertains to it, and of any drain which is for the sole use of his hut.

Power to purchase, improve, and re-sell or lease unhealthy areas.

268. Notwithstanding anything contained in sections two hundred and fifty-seven to two hundred and sixty-two, the Commissioners in meeting may, upon receipt of the report prescribed under section two hundred and fifty-seven, pass a resolution to the effect that any bustee is an unhealthy area, and that, in the opinion of the Commissioners, the acquisition of the bustee, or any part thereof, by purchase lease, or otherwise, is necessary for the purpose of making the requisite improvements thereon, and shall proceed to make a standard plan for the improvement of such land, and shall forward such plan, accompanied by such estimates as shall be necessary for a due understanding of the same, together with a copy of such resolution, for the consideration and sanction of the Local Government.

On receipt of such sanction, the Commissioners in meeting may acquire such land or any part thereof in the manner provided by Chapter XIII, Part II.

When the sanction of the Local Government has been accorded to any standard plan for the improvement of any land acquired by the Commissioners as above provided, the Commissioners in meeting may sell or let any part of the acquired land to any person for the purpose and under the condition that he will, as respects the land so purchased by, or leased to, him, carry out such standard plan.

The Commissioners may, instead of selling or letting the land acquired by them as aforesaid, themselves bring the bustee into conformity with such standard plan.

The Commissioners shall be bound to sell or lease such land in the manner aforesaid, or themselves to carry out such sanctioned improvement as is above described within the term of four years from the date of their acquiring such land, unless the Local Government shall specially extend such term.

When a bustee has been improved under this section, it shall be deemed to be a remodelled bustee.

Commissioners may levy a rate for cleansing bustees.

269. The Commissioners in meeting may sanction the employment of a special establishment for the cleansing of bustees, and when such establishment has been sanctioned, they may impose a rate to defray the cost of such establishment, on the owners of such bustees:

Provided that, without the consent of the owners, no such rate shall be levied upon any remodelled bustee.

Commissioners may require bustees in a filthy condition to be cleansed.

270. If any bustee for which no such establishment as is referred to in the last preceding section is maintained, appears to the Commissioners to be in a filthy condition, the Commissioners may serve notices upon the occupiers as defined in section two hundred and sixty-seven, requiring them within three days to cleanse the same, and if the occupiers do not comply with the terms of such notices to the satisfaction of the Commissioners, the Commissioners may cleanse the whole or any portion of the bustee which requires cleansing, and may recover the cost incurred by them from the occupiers of such portions of the bustee as they have cleansed.

CHAPTER XI.

OF DRAINAGE WORKS, DRAINS AND PRIVIES.

Commissioners to drain Calcutta.

271. The Commissioners may carry out such a complete system or systems of sewerage and drainage as they may think fit, subject to the approval of the Local Government, and such alterations as may from time to time be ordered by it.

Public sewers, drains, tunnels and culverts vested in the Commissioners.

272. All public sewers and drains, and all sewers, drains, tunnels, and culverts in, alongside, or under any public street, whether made at the cost of the Commissioners or otherwise, and all works, materials, and things appertaining thereto, shall vest in, and belong to, the Commissioners.

Powers of Commissioners in making public sewers.

273. The Commissioners shall have power to construct within Calcutta, and when necessary for the purposes of outfall or distribution of sewage without Calcutta, such sewers as they may think necessary for keeping the town properly cleansed and drained, and may carry such sewers through, across or under any road, street or place, and after reasonable notice in writing into, through or under any premises or lands whatsoever, and may from time to time enlarge, lessen, alter, arch over or otherwise improve, modify or change, or close up or destroy all sewers, vested in them, provided no nuisance is created by such operations; and if any person is thereby deprived of the lawful use of any drain or sewer, the Commissioners shall provide another as effectual for his use within one hundred feet from some part of his premises. The Commissioners shall cause their sewers to be so constructed, kept and cleansed as not to be a nuisance or injurious to health, and for the purpose of cleansing, flushing and emptying them may construct and place either above or under ground, such reservoirs, sluices, engines or other works as may be necessary, and may cause such sewers to communicate with, and be emptied into, such places as may be fit and necessary within Calcutta, and if necessary for the purpose of outfall or distribution of sewage without Calcutta, and may cause the sewage and refuse therefrom and from the town to be collected for sale, or for the improvement of land, or for incineration, or for any purpose whatsoever, but not so as to create a nuisance.

If a sewer is carried into, through or under any lands not belonging to the Corporation, the Commissioners shall make compensation to the owner thereof for any damage sustained by him by reason of such sewer being so carried into, through or under his land. In case of dispute, the amount of compensation payable by the Commissioners shall be determined in the manner hereinafter provided for the settlement of disputes respecting damages and expenses.

Bed of stream receiving sewage to be cleared.

274. When the contents of any sewer or drain, or any other flow of filth or refuse, are discharged into any river or stream in the bed or channel of which the quantity of water at any season of the year is so much diminished, by natural or artificial causes, as to be insufficient to keep such channel clean or clear, the Commissioners, with the sanction of the Local Government, may make such alteration in the bed of such river or stream as may prevent such sewer and drain-water from spreading over the surface of such bed, or from accumulating and stagnating in parts thereof to the injury of health or the annoyance of the surrounding population.

Unauthorized drains leading into public sewers may be demolished.

275. If any person, without the written consent of the Commissioners first obtained, makes or alters any drain leading into any of the sewers or drains vested in the Commissioners, or makes such drain, or carries out such alterations, with materials not approved of by the Commissioners, the Commissioners may cause such branch drain to be demolished, altered, re-made, or otherwise dealt with as they shall think fit; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the person making or altering such branch drain.

Penalty for altering or making unauthorized drains leading into public sewers.

276. Whoever, without the written consent of the Commissioners first obtained, makes or alters any drain leading into any of the sewers or drains vested in the Commissioners by this Act, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs 200.

277. If any house or land within one hundred feet of a public sewer or surface drain fit for use, or of some tidal river or other place at which the Commissioners are empowered to empty their sewers, be at any time not drained to the satisfaction of the Commissioners by sufficient surface drains or pipes communicating with some sewer, surface drain, tidal river, or other place as aforesaid, the Commissioners may, if the owner neglects to do so within fifteen days after notice, construct or lay through or from such house or land, suitable drains of such materials, of such size and with such fall, as they shall think necessary for the complete draining of such house or land;

278. The Commissioners themselves may construct and lay down such portions of the drains mentioned in sections two hundred and seventy-seven, two hundred and eighty-two and two hundred and eighty-three, as may be carried through or under any public drain, aqueduct, or street, and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owner.

Commissioners may construct certain portions of drains under public drains and streets.

279. Whenever it is provided in this Chapter that steps shall or may be taken for the effectual drainage of any premises, it shall be competent to the Commissioners to require that there shall be one drain for sewage and polluted water, and another and an entirely distinct drain for rain-water or unpolluted subsoil water or for both, each emptying into separate municipal drains or other suitable places.

Sewage and rain-water drains to be distinct.

280. It shall not be lawful for any person to make any underground drains in connection with the public sewers unless he shall hold a license from the Commissioners under such rules and regulations as the Commissioners may, from time to time, lay down, and which shall be printed on the back of the license.

Underground drains connected with the sewers to be made under a license.

Any person holding such license who shall infringe or break any such rule or regulation shall be liable to have his license cancelled, and he or any person making any underground drain in connection with the public sewers without a license shall be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 20.

Penalty.

281. The Commissioners may cause the work of laying underground drains to be supervised while in progress, and from time to time during their execution may order such reasonable alterations therein, additions thereto, and abandonment of part or parts thereof, as may to the Commissioners appear, on the fuller knowledge afforded by the opening of the ground, requisite to secure the complete and satisfactory execution of such works as aforesaid.

Supervision of certain works.

282 If it appear to the Commissioners that a group or block of houses may be drained more economically or advantageously in combination than separately, and a sewer of sufficient size already exists, or is about to be constructed, within one hundred feet of any part of such group or block of houses, the Commissioners may cause such group or block of houses to be drained by a combined operation; and the expenses thereby incurred shall be paid by the owners of such houses, or, in the case of bustee lands, by the owners of the land in such proportions as shall to the Commissioners seem fit.

Group or block of houses may be drained by a combined operation.

Not less than fifteen days before any work under this section is commenced, the Commissioners shall give notice to the owners of all the land or houses to be drained of the nature of the proposed work and an estimate of the expenses about to be incurred in respect thereof and the proportion payable by each owner.

283. Whenever a drain belonging to one or more persons has been laid in any street or passage common to more than one house, and it is deemed desirable to drain any other premises into such drain, the Commissioners may require the owners of such drain to allow a connection therewith to be made on such terms as may seem to them equitable, and the owner or owners of the drain shall be entitled to refuse to allow the connection to be made until the terms prescribed have been accepted and any order for payment made by the Commissioners has been complied with.

Commissioners may require the owner of a drain to allow another to use it.

284. All underground drains in streets (public or otherwise) shall be provided by the Commissioners or by the persons to whom they severally belong with proper traps or other coverings and means of ventilation, so as to prevent stench.

Sewers in streets to be covered with traps.

404. For the construction of works of a permanent nature under this Act, the Commissioners in special meeting may, with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council, from time to time borrow by way of debenture, on the security of the rates, taxes, and dues imposed and levied on account of the Municipal Fund, or of a portion of them, and at such rate of interest and upon such terms as to the time of repayment and otherwise as the Governor-General in Council may approve, any sums of money the Commissioners may require for the objects aforesaid.

Form of security.

All the debentures aforesaid issued under the authority of this Act shall be in the form contained in the twelfth Schedule, or in such other form as the Commissioners in meeting, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, may determine, and shall be transferable by endorsement, and the right to sue in respect of the moneys secured by any of such debentures shall be vested in the holders thereof for the time being without any preference by reason of some of such debentures being prior in date to others.

406. The Commissioners in meeting may at any time, with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council, raise, by the issue of new debentures, any money that may be required to pay any moneys for the time being due on any debentures issued under the authority of this Act, or of any enactment hereby expressly repealed.

such sum as may be required for the payment of the interest and instalments payable to the reserve funds which may fall due within the quarter on any debentures issued under the authority of this Act, or of any enactment hereby expressly repealed.

The instalments payable to the reserve funds shall be at the rate of one per cent. per annum on the aggregate unpaid sum borrowed by the Commissioners after the first day of April 1881, and at the rate of two per cent. per annum on the unpaid balance of all debenture loans contracted before that date.

408. The Commissioners shall apply the reserve set aside under the last preceding section so far as it is required or so far as it extends to repay such debenture loans issued by them as shall fall due in the course of the year and shall invest the surplus (if any) of the said sum, after repayment as aforesaid, or in case there has not been any amount due or paid in respect of such loans or debentures during the year, then they shall invest the whole of the said sum in Government securities, or in any securities guaranteed by Government, or in Calcutta municipal debentures, in the names of the Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Financial Department and the Accountant-General of Bengal respectively for the time being, to be by them held as Trustees for the purpose of repaying at due date from time to time the several loans contracted or debentures issued by the Commissioners. And all moneys and securities now held by any Trustees for the Commissioners, for the purpose of paying off any sums borrowed by them, not being sums borrowed from the Secretary of State for India in Council, shall be held by them upon the trusts hereinbefore declared.

Surplus to be invested.

All interest accruing due to the Trustees shall also from time to time be invested by them in like manner and held upon the like trust:

Provided always that the accounts of the fund formed by the payments made at the rate of two per cent. per annum and the fund formed by the payments made at the rate of one per cent. per annum shall be kept separate and distinct, and each reserve fund shall only be applied to paying off the debentures on account of which the instalments are payable.

409. The Trustees shall from time to time, whenever any loans or debentures shall fall due by the Commissioners, realize the whole or a sufficient portion of the securities held by them as aforesaid on account of the reserve fund applicable to liquidate such loans or debentures and apply the sale proceeds thereof, so far as the same will extend, to satisfy such loans or debentures. The Trustees shall, at the end of every year, submit a statement to the Commissioners showing the amount which has been invested during the year under section four hundred and eight, and setting forth the date of the last investment made previous thereto, and also the aggregate amount of the securities then in their hands, and the aggregate amount which has up to the date thereof been paid off in respect of the said debentures and loans.

410. Limit imposed on debenture loans.

411. Nothing in this Chapter shall be construed to prevent the Commissioners in meeting from inviting tenders at any time for a new loan to be called the "Municipal Consolidated Loan" on such terms as may be approved by the Governor-General in Council, and also inviting holders of municipal debentures to exchange their debentures for such Municipal Consolidated Loan stock at such rates as the Commissioners may consider fair and the Governor-General in Council may approve. The scrip of such stock shall be in such form as the Commissioners in meeting, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, may prescribe. The Commissioners shall repay such Consolidated Loan by annual payments at a rate of not less than one-sixtieth of the unpaid balance in each year in lieu of contributing to a reserve fund under section four hundred and seven, and the stock to be paid off shall be purchased in the open market; and the provisions of section four hundred and seven shall apply to the sums necessary to make such annual payment.

Commissioners may consolidate their loans.

Provided that, if during any year no stock is obtainable in the open market at, or below, its par value, it shall not be obligatory on the Commissioners to make repayment until such stock is obtainable in the open market at, or below, its par value.

418. Every prosecution under this Act may be instituted before any Magistrate having jurisdiction who may summon the person charged to appear at a time and place to be mentioned in the summons; and if such person do not appear, the Magistrate may, upon proof of service of the summons, if no sufficient cause shall be shown for the non-appearance of the person charged, proceed to hear and determine the case in his absence.

and the amount of such damage shall, in case of dispute, be determined by the Magistrate by whom such person has been fined; and on default of payment of the amount of such damage on demand, the same may be levied in the same manner as a fine.

Magistrate may award compensation for groundless prosecution.

421. In any case in which a Magistrate is satisfied that the Commissioners had no reasonable ground for instituting a prosecution, it shall be lawful for such Magistrate to direct the Commissioners to pay to the accused such compensation, not exceeding Rs. 50, as he thinks fit, and the sum so awarded shall be recoverable as if it were a fine.

Magistrates appointed to try municipal cases to be paid out of General Fund.

422. Such Magistrate or Magistrates shall be paid such salary out of the General Fund as the Local Government may, from time to time, prescribe.

CHAPTER XVII.

OF THE RECOVERY OF DAMAGES AND EXPENSES.

Damages and expenses how to be determined.

423. Where any damages, costs, or expenses are by this Act directed to be paid, the amount, and, if necessary, the apportionment of the same in case of dispute, shall be ascertained and determined by a Court of Small Causes.

424. In any case which is to be determined by a Court of Small Causes under this Act, the said Court may, on the application of either party, summon the other party to appear at a time and place to be named in such summons.

Upon the appearance of the parties, or, in the absence of any of them, upon proof of due service of the summons, the said Court may hear and determine such question, and for that purpose may examine such parties, or any of them, and their witnesses on oath; and the costs of every such enquiry shall be in the discretion of the said Court, which shall determine the amount thereof.

Recovery of damages by distress.

425. If the amount of damages, costs, or expenses ascertained in the manner above described be not paid by the party liable to pay the same within seven days after demand, such amount may be recovered, under a warrant of the said Court, by distress and sale of the moveable property of such party; and the surplus arising from the sale thereof, after satisfying such amount and the costs of the distress and sale, shall be returned on demand to the party whose property shall have been distrained.

Commissioners may sue in any competent Court instead of realising by, or on failure of, distress.

426. Instead of proceeding by distress and sale, and in case of failure to realize by distress the whole or any part of any expenses, charges, or damages awarded under the provisions of this Act, the Commissioners may sue the person liable to pay the same in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

CHAPTER XVIII.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Limitation of three months to suit against Commissioners or their officers.

427. No suit shall be brought against the Commissioners, or any of their officers, or any person acting under their direction, for anything done, or purporting to be done, under this Act until the expiration of one month next after notice in writing has been delivered or left at the office of the Commissioners, or at the place of abode of such person, stating the cause of suit and the name and place of abode of the intending plaintiff.

Unless such notice be proved, the Court shall find for the defendant.

Every such suit shall be commenced within three months next after accrual of the right to sue, and not afterwards.

If any person to whom any such notice of suit is given shall, before the suit is brought, tender sufficient amends to the plaintiff, such plaintiff shall not recover in any such action when brought; and if no such tender shall have been made, it shall be lawful for the defendant in such action to pay into Court such sum of money as he shall think fit, and thereupon such proceedings shall be had as in other cases where defendants are allowed to pay money into Court.

428. The Commissioners may make compensation to all persons sustaining any damage by reason of the exercise of any of the powers vested in the Commissioners, their officers or servants under this Act.

Penalty.

432. Whoever fails to produce his license when required so to do as aforesaid shall be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 50, and to a further fine, not exceeding Rs. 10, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Preparation of Forms.

433. The Commissioners may from time to time prepare or sanction forms of the various notices required by this Act, and may, from time to time, make such alterations therein as they deem requisite, and they shall cause every such form to be sealed with the seal of the Corporation, and any notice made on a form sanctioned by the Commissioners shall in all proceedings be held sufficient in law.

How notice may be served.

434. Every notice, bill, form, summons, or notice of demand under this Act may be served personally on, or presented to, the person to whom the same is addressed or be left at his usual place of abode with some adult male member or servant of his family, or at his place of business with some clerk of the office, or if it cannot be so served or presented, may be put on some conspicuous part of his place of abode, or of his place of business, or of the house or land in respect of which the notice, bill form, summons, or notice of demand is intended to be served.

Service of notice on owners and occupiers of houses and land.

435. Where any notice is required to be given to the owner or occupier of any house or land, such notice, addressed to the owner or occupier, as the case may require, may be served on the occupier of such house or land, or otherwise in the manner in the last preceding section mentioned:

Provided that, when the owner and his place of abode are known to the Commissioners, they shall, if such place of abode be in Calcutta, cause every notice required to be given to the owner of any house or land to be served on such owner or left with some adult male member or servant of his family, and if the place of abode of the owner be not in Calcutta, they shall send every such notice by post in a registered cover addressed to his place of abode, and the same shall be deemed to be good service of the notice.

When the name of the owner or occupier is not known, it shall be sufficient to designate him as "the owner" or "the occupier" of the house or land in respect of which the notice is served.

When there are several owners or occupiers of any premises, the Commissioners may, at any time, call upon such owners or occupiers to appoint, within thirty days, one of their number to receive notices on behalf of the rest; otherwise the Commissioners shall serve a separate notice on each owner or occupier who has registered, or who has applied to register, his name under section one hundred and twenty-eight.

Notice to state a time within which it is to be complied with.

436. Whenever it is provided by this Act that the Commissioners may require the owner or occupier of any house or land to execute any work or take order with any property under his control, such requisition shall, unless otherwise provided by this Act, be made by a notice to be served in the manner provided by the last preceding section. Such notice shall specify a period within which the requisition is to be complied with, and if no period is provided by this Act, the period specified shall be a reasonable period having regard to the circumstances under which it is issued.

Every such notice shall state that, if the person to whom it is addressed fails to comply therewith or to satisfy the Commissioners within the specified period that it should be withdrawn or modified, the Commissioners will enter upon the premises and execute the work or take the necessary order with the property, and that the expense thereby incurred will be recovered from the person to whom it is addressed.

If any objection is preferred further time to be granted.

437. Any person upon whom such notice as is referred to in the last preceding section is served may prefer an objection in writing addressed to the Commissioners stating the grounds upon which such notice should be withdrawn or modified, and if preferred in time to admit of orders being passed upon the objection before the period specified in the notice expires, the execution of the work may be postponed until the Commissioners have passed orders upon the objection. If the objection is disallowed, a second notice shall be served upon the person who preferred the objection specifying a reasonable period within which the requisition is to be complied with.

Estimate of cost of work to be given on application.

438. Instead of preferring an objection, or at the time of preferring an objection any person upon whom such notice as is referred to in section four hundred and thirty-six is served may apply to the Commissioners for an estimate of the cost of the work if executed by the Commissioners, and upon such application the Commissioners shall supply such estimate.

Failure to supply an estimate limits cost of work to Rs. 5.

439. If the Commissioners fail to supply an estimate as required by the provisions of the last preceding section, not more than Rs. 5 shall be charged by the Commissioners for any work executed by them on default by the person served with a notice to execute such work.

If the estimate exceeds Rs 300, the work shall not be undertaken by the Commissioners on default until the expiry of ten days from the date on which the estimate was supplied, and within seven days from such date the person to whom such estimate was supplied may apply in writing to have his objections to execute the work, or to the estimated cost of such work determined by a Committee of the Commissioners, or by the Commissioners in meeting. If such application is made within the time specified, the Commissioners shall not undertake the work until the decision of the Committee of the Commissioners, or the Commissioners shall have been given.

Commissioners, in default of owner or occupier, may execute works and recover expenses.

440. Subject to the above provisions, whenever any work is required by this Act or by any orders of the Commissioners lawfully issued to be executed by the owner or occupier of any house or land, and default is made in the execution of such work, the Commissioners, whether any penalty is or is not provided for such default, may cause such work to be executed; and the expenses thereby incurred or incurred in any case in which the Commissioners are empowered to execute any work on behalf of an owner or occupier, shall be paid by the person by whom such work ought to have been executed, or on whose behalf it is done, and in default of payment thereof the same may be recovered as a rate under Chapter VI.

Power to levy charges on occupier, who may deduct the same from his rent.

441. If the defaulter, as mentioned in the last preceding section, be the owner of any house or land, the Commissioners may, by way of additional remedy, whether any suit or proceeding has been brought or taken against any such owner or not, require the payment of all or any part of the expenses payable by the owner for the time being from the person who then, or at any time thereafter, occupies the house or land under such owner, and in default of payment thereof by such occupier on demand, the same may be recovered as a rate under Chapter VI; and every such occupier shall be entitled to deduct from the rent payable by him to the owner so much as is so paid by, or recovered from him, in respect of any such expenses.

Occupier not to be liable for more than the amount of rent due.

442. No occupier of any house or land shall be liable to pay more money in respect of any expenses charged by this Act on the owner thereof than the amount of rent due from him for the house or land in respect of which such expenses are payable at the time of the demand made upon him, or which, at any time after such demand, has accrued and become payable by him, unless he neglect or refuse, upon a requisition made to him for that purpose by the Commissioners, truly to disclose the amount of his rent, and the name and address of the person to whom such rent is payable;

but nothing in this section shall affect any special contract made between any such owner or occupier respecting the payment of the expenses of any such works as aforesaid.

Commissioners may apportion expenses incurred on behalf of owners or occupiers amongst them.

443. Whenever any expenses incurred by the Commissioners are to be paid by the owners of any land as provided in section four hundred and forty, the Commissioners may, if there be more than one owner, apportion the said expenses among such of the owners as are known in such manner as to the Commissioners may seem fit. And whenever any such expenses are to be paid by the occupiers of any land as provided in section four hundred and forty, the Commissioners may, if there be more than one occupier, apportion the said expenses among such of the occupiers as are known in such manner as to the Commissioners may seem fit.

On certificate of the Commissioners occupier may recover expenses from owner.

444. Whenever any works or any alterations or improvements, of which the Commissioners are authorized to require the execution, are executed by the occupier on the requisition of the Commissioners or are executed by the Commissioners and the cost thereof is recovered from the occupier, the cost thereof may, if the Commissioners certify that such cost ought to be borne by the owner, be deducted by such occupier from the rent payable to such owner or may be recovered by such occupier from the owner in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Right of Commissioners to recover expenses under section four hundred and forty not barred by suit.

445. Any owner or occupier of land may contest his liability to pay any expenses with which he may be charged under section four hundred and forty, or may contest the correctness of the amount which he has been called upon to pay in any court of competent jurisdiction:

Provided that the institution of a suit shall in no way interfere with the right of the Commissioners to recover the amount demanded by them in the manner provided by section four hundred and forty.

Occupier, in default of owner, may execute works and deduct expenses from his rent.

446. Whenever default is made by the owner of any house or land in the execution of any work required to be executed by him, the occupier of such house or land may, with the approval of the Commissioners, cause such work to be executed, and the expense thereof shall be paid to him by the owner, or the amount may be deducted out of the rent from time to time becoming due from him to such owner.

Proceedings in case of tenants opposing the execution of this Act.

447. If the occupier of any house or land prevent the owner thereof from carrying into effect, in respect of any house or land, any of the provisions of this Act, after notice of his intention so to do has been given by the owner to such occupier, any Magistrate may, in writing, require such occupier to permit the owner to execute all such works with respect to such house or land as may be necessary for carrying this Act into effect, and if, after the expiration of eight days from the date of the order, such occupier continue to refuse to permit such owner to execute such works, every such owner, during the continuance of the refusal, shall be discharged from liability to any fines to which he might otherwise have become liable by reason of default in executing such works.

Penalty.

448. Whoever, being the occupier of any house or land, fails to comply with any requisition made by a Magistrate under the last preceding section, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 50, and to a further fine, not exceeding Rs. 20, for each day during which the offence is continued after he has been convicted of such offence.

Formal defects not to invalidate tax or assessment.

449. No tax or rate on property made under this Act shall be invalid for defect of form, and it shall be enough in any such tax or rate, or any assessment of value for the purpose of making such tax or rate, if the property rated or assessed is so described as to be generally known, and it shall not be necessary to name the owner or occupier thereof.

Recovery of expenses on account of improvements to private property.

450. Whenever the Commissioners shall have incurred any expenses in the execution of any of the works which under sections two hundred and fifteen, two hundred and fifty-nine, two hundred and twenty-seven and two hundred and eighty-two, the owners of any houses or lands are required to execute, the Commissioners may either recover the amount of such expenses in the manner hereinbefore provided, or, if they think fit, may take engagements from the said owners for the quarterly payment of such sums as will be sufficient to defray the whole amount of the said expenses, with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent. per annum, within a period not exceeding five years, and such sums, when due, may be recovered as rates under Chapter VI.

Police officers to report offences to Commissioners and to arrest unknown offenders.

451. All police officers shall give immediate information to the Commissioners of any offence committed against this Act.

Any police officer may arrest any person committing in his view any offence against this Act if the name and the address of such person be unknown to him, or if such person decline to give his name and address, or if the police officer shall have reason to doubt the accuracy of such name and address if given.

And such person may be detained at the station-house until his name and address shall be correctly ascertained, or may be brought up at once before a Magistrate.

Penalty for mehter withdrawing from work without notice.

452. Any mehter or other servant of the Commissioners employed to remove or otherwise deal with sewage, offensive matter or rubbish, who shall, without the permission of the Commissioners, withdraw from his duties unless he has given notice in writing, not less than one month previously, of his intention so to withdraw shall be punished with rigorous imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months' and shall forfeit any salary which may be due to him.

Certain provisions of Act may be extended.

453. If the Local Government shall have determined that any portion of the environs of Calcutta shall be included in the water-supply authorized by this Act, and if the Local Government shall have declared the boundaries thereof by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, then in respect of such extension of such water-supply, Chapter VII shall have effect within the boundaries so declared;

(b)—Any person who, in consequence of any change in his profession, trade, or calling, or place of business, or for any other reason, considers himself entitled to take out a license in a lower class than before, or to be altogether exempted, may present an application to that effect to the Commissioners at any time before the first day of July. If no application is made by that date he will be liable to take out a license as prescribed in clause (a).

(7). The Commissioners shall pass orders on such application, and the license shall be taken out in accordance with such orders, unless appealed against under clause (e).

(c)—If the Commissioners consider that any person who has not taken out a license in the preceding year ought to take out a license, or that any person who has taken out a license for the preceding year but has not taken out a license for the current year ought to take out a license in a higher class or more than one license, they may serve him with a notice directing him to take out a license for the current year in such class as may seem to them proper.

(d)—If the Commissioners consider that any person who has taken out a license for the current year ought to have taken out a license in a higher class, they may serve him with a notice directing him to take out a license in such higher class the following year, and such person shall thereupon, unless such order is modified, be bound to take out a license in such higher class, clause (a) notwithstanding.

(e)—Any person dissatisfied with the orders of the Commissioners under clause (b) or on whom a notice is served under clause (c) or clause (d) may appeal against the orders contained in it—

(g)—The order of the Bench or Court, or, if no appeal is made, the order contained in the notice, shall be final.

(9). The Commissioners may at any time grant a license for any previous year for which no license has been taken out on payment of the amount of such license, but the production of such license shall not afford a valid defence if the licensee is prosecuted for failing to take out a license within the time required by this Act.

This is a humourous work directed against the innovations introduced in the manners and customs of Muhammadans by the Wahabis. The Wahabis forbid the use of tobacco, and so the writer says that tobacco was first produced from the tomb of Bakul and Tan, man and wife, who were buried in the same grave, and that it is a sort of pledge for love and friendship among men. The Wahabis forbid the use of tobacco because it has a bad smell, but they do not scruple to deal in hides the bad smell of which is absolutely intolerable.	508
